Deaths In Floods Increase

In Oklahoma Scores Driven From Homes by Swollen Streams

By the Associated Press

The flood death toll rose to 26 today.

One man and one woman drowned and scores of families were forced from their homes in Southern Oklahoma.

The count of the dead reached 22 in Southeastern Nebraska and stood at two in Manitoba, Canada.

Hazel Dalen, 29, and Jock King, 25, were swept to their deaths from an automobile on a flooded bridge near Shawnee, Okla.

Waters of two creeks hit Waurika, Okla., and 500 residents left their inundated homes. Two creeks spilled into Pauls Valley, an Oklahoma City of 7,000 population. The water reached into business houses and cut off all highways.

But the two day heavy rains in Oklahoma stopped at 5 a. m.

Search went on in Nebraska for the bodies of nine persons reported missing and presumed dead. Thirteen bodies have been recovered.

Most of the 25,000 persons flooded out of their homes in southern Manitoba were crowding into Winnipeg, although flood waters were rising in the greater Winnipeg area.

A Canadian National Railways train carrying 550 evacuees from the Red river valley was stalled by a track washout eight miles south of Winnipeg. A navy ferry service began carrying the refugees to safety.

One eighth of Winnipeg, a city of 350,000 population, was under water. Muddy water from the Red River and other streams poured over more than 500 square miles of southern Manitoba.

Two Thousand Depart

More than 2,000 persons left Winnipeg in response to an official appeal for the city's 200,000 women and children to voluntarily move to less crowded points of safety. Officials were making plans for compulsory mass evacuation, if necessary. There were no casualties.

The Red River rose only .23 feet in 24 hours at Grand Forks, N. D., and city engineer A. F. Hulteng said he "hopes this is the crest." Four National Guard planes flew over the flood area seeking isolated cases of disaster.

Mississippi Overflows

In northeastern Minnesota, the community of Floodwood was 75 per cent flooded by the St. Louis river. At Minneapolis city engineer Hugo Erickson said the Mississippi river was at its highest level since 1881. However, he said the only concern immediately was for Riverside utility installations.

After two days of torrential rains, creeks and streams in eastern and south central Oklahoma spilled into at least seven communities and forced residents to flee their homes. The floodwaters blocked highways in 40 places. There were evacuations in the residential areas of Hayesville Duncan and Lexington. Other towns in the flood area included Okmulgee, Haskell, Wagoner and Muskogee.

There were more showers and thunderstorms in Oklahoma and western Texas and light rain from Eastern Kansas eastward across Missouri to southern Indiana. Heavy falls were reported in west central Texas.

The rest of the country had fair weather. It was warm in the southeastern and Gulf states and temperatures were mostly normal in other areas.

Forced to Flee

BRANSON, Mo., May 11—(AP)—Floodwaters of the White River watershed poured into Lake Taneycomo today forcing lowland dwellers to flee to higher ground.

More than seven inches of rain in the past 48 hours put the lake on the rise. At damsite 12.75 feet of water was going over the dam. It was reported rising at the rate of two inches an hour.

The record high was 20.30 feet set in 1945.

At Rockaway Beach one resort hotel was forced to close its first floor accomodations. Boat lines ceased to operate.

Members of the Civil Air Patrol, Boy Scouts, Chamber of Commerce and Branson businessmen worked until 2 a.m. moving the possessions of residents on lowland farms and along the lake.

Crest of the flood is not expected here until tomorrow.

John F. Zander Tells Kiwanians How Service Can Attain It

John F. Zander, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce spoke today before the Kiwanis Club on the subject, "What Price Progress." He paid tribute to the Club, part of a world-wide organization devoted to public service, "all for the noble purpose of making Sedalia a better and happier place in which to live. By taking membership in the Kiwanis Club, its members have pledged themselves to unselfish service and have taken their place as leaders in community development."

Cooperation Essential

"No community can develop on a broad and wholesome basis through the personality of one man, or of two men, or of a dozen men, and a few fine women. It takes the wholesome cooperation of all of these who are interested in developing a healthy community," he said.

"If there ever was a time communities needed leadership, it is today. Men, unfortunately, are oftime criticized because they give leadership. For the progress of Sedalia and any community, we must have leadership of quality, of capacity, of faith, of vision. Leadership must be unselfish and willing to pay the price; and what a price that sometimes is."

Zander said that he did not believe any community could grow and prosper unless it thought in terms of its children. "We must provide proper and adequate educational facilities for the children of our community who will make Sedalia tomorrow. If we turn a deaf ear to the educators who give of themselves and with their vision can develop an enlarged and sound educational program, we shall turn a deaf ear on the children of our community, the leaders of tomorrow."

Comments on Capital Visit

Zander commented on the recent trip to Washington, D. C. by three Sedalians to attend the 38th Annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which had a theme throughout the whole session, "Perform Something Worthy to be Remembered", words spoken by Daniel Webster many years ago. The trend was

Jury Recessed to Milk Juror's Cows

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., May 11—(AP)—The judge recessed the trial and told the jurors they would have to remain together overnight. Up spoke juror Clifford Carter:

"If your honor, please, my cows have to be milked."

Judge Lewis H. Miller solved that one in a hurry.

He sent the whole jury out to Carter's farm, where the cows got milked under the supervision of Sheriff F. H. Morrison, a deputy and two state troopers.

Startled by Snake In Washing Machine

LOS ANGELES, May 11—(AP)—If you ever find a boa constrictor in your automatic washing machine you'll know the problem that Mrs. Alberta Lehman faced.

Her son John is 16. He collects snakes.

The latest addition to his collection arrived in a box from Texas on Tuesday. When the box was opened a 4-foot-long boa constrictor slithered out and proceeded into the washing machine on the back porch.

Boa wound itself up in the mechanism and refused to come out. Mrs. Lehman yesterday called some repairmen. They warily dismantled the machine and the snake came out. Johnny had a cage ready.

Kills Two And Then Ends Life

Marital Rift is Attributed Cause Of Triple Tragedy

CHARLESTON, Mo., May 11—(AP)—Eskell F. Banks, 36, unemployed St. Louisian, shot and killed his estranged wife, Virginia, aged 28, his brother-in-law, Dan Watson, 47, wounded Watson's wife, Zelma, 22, and then sent a bullet into his own heart at the Watson home here last night, Sheriff J. E. Scott said.

Mrs. Watson was taken to a hospital at Cairo, Ill., where doctors said her chances for recovery are fair. She suffered a bullet wound in the lower abdomen.

The shooting, the sheriff said, occurred in the presence of Bank's two children, Edward 8, and Estell 6, Mr. and Mrs. Watson's two children, Betty 17 and Kenneth 6, and Watson's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Watson.

The sheriff said he learned Banks, who resides at 2313 South Third, St. Louis, came here late yesterday and went to the Watson home after being served in St. Louis with notice that his wife had sued him for a divorce. She and the children came to Charleston about a week ago.

When he stepped up on the porch one of his children exclaimed "There's Daddy," and ran to him. He walked into the house and when his wife approached and demanded that he "Put away that gun and get out," he shot her.

The sheriff said Banks' son, Edward, told him that "Daddy shot Mommie, and she fell. I kissed her and she died."

Banks then went into another room where Mrs. Watson was trying to telephone relatives, and shot her. He then turned his gun on Watson, shooting him twice.

The sheriff said Banks then left and walked down the street toward the home of another relative but retraced his steps suddenly. When he reached the Watson home again, the sheriff and two other officers, who had been notified, drove up just as Banks turned his gun on himself.

Banks and Watson were married to sisters. Watson owned a saw mill in Charleston.

Mrs. Banks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Marney, reside at Delia, Kans., while Banks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Banks live in St. Louis.

Girl Hit by Bat While Playing Ball Dies

AKRON, O., May 11 — (AP) — Playing catcher in a neighborhood baseball game, Lynda Faye Brewer, 6, stepped too close to the plate.

Robert (Bucky) Boswell, 12, swung at a pitch. The bat struck Lynda at the base of the neck. She died.

Lynda's mother, Mrs. Elsie Brewer, 29, and two brothers, Maxin 9, and Leslie 5, saw it happen.

"It could have been me that swung the bat," said Mrs. Brewer.

Determined On Low Cost Public Power

Truman Asserts Opposition to Program be Met

By Ernest B. Vaccaro

GRAND COULEE DAM, Wash., May 11—(AP)—President Truman declared today his determination to develop low-cost public power on all the country's great rivers and fight against its use "for private profit."

"We have embarked, all over the country, on the task of fully developing our resources for all the people," he said.

"And we shall have to continue to overcome the opposition to those who do not understand the greatness of our goal, or who fear the impairment of their selfish interests.

"We will meet opposition from the private power groups. Many of them—there are honorable exceptions, of course—do not want the energy of our rivers put to use as power and sold to the people at cost."

The president spoke out sharply against the opposition of private power companies to rural electrification and other local public agencies constructing transmission lines for the delivery and sale of power purchased at dam sites at cost. He said their opposition "is wrong."

The president laid down his public power development program in an address for dedication ceremonies at the site of Grand Coulee dam, where the last turbine has been cut in.

He predicted ultimate congressional approval of the proposed Columbia Valley Administration to take over the operation of Grand Coulee and other power and reclamation projects in the valley.

CVA "Necessary Step"

"I believe the Columbia Valley Administration is a necessary next step in the sensible, Democratic development of the resources of the northwest," Mr. Truman said. "I believe the people of this area think, so, too.

"And when they make their voices heard, I am sure the Columbia Valley Administration will be established."

The president said the private power companies "would deny the people the benefits of low-cost power they themselves have brought about through public investment.

"We shall not be stopped by those who are timid, or short-sighted or selfish," he want on. "We shall not be stopped by discredited claims or by tattered slogans."

The president added:

"I am sure we will continue to overcome this opposition, just as we already have done in building Grand Coulee—just as the people already have done in Nebraska, in large parts of Wash-

The reddish-brown pooch, which appears to be part dachsund, has resisted efforts by humane society officers and others to capture it.

Attendants at the hospital have been putting out food for the dog.

Report $157,596,000 Sum From Finance Center

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—A sixth investigation of the army finance center at St. Louis was ordered today after a congressional sub-committee reported over payments there of $157,596,000 in allotments to military dependents.

Most of these overpayments in the confusion of wartime. The army claims the total of unrecovered or unadjusted payments has been reduced to $35,000,000.

The new inquiry will be made by a House armed services group. Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) named a seven-man sub-committee, headed by Rep. Kilday (D-Tex), to launch the investigation.

Vinson acted shortly after a House civil service sub-committee had filed a preliminary report with the full civil service group.

By Ruth Cowan

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—A congressional subcommittee reported today that the army finance center at St. Louis has overpaid $157,596,000 in allotments to military dependents.

Most of the payments were described as wartime allotments.

Furthermore, the preliminary report filed with the House Civil Service committee says that the general accounting office has 130,000 cases of overpayment yet to review. And it estimates that more than 125,000 cases have been lost in the "inactive files."

Reports of communist infiltration at the center also figure in the case.

Chairman Karst (D-Mo) of the subcommittee, one of five agencies checking into the center, said he has recommended that the up-to-now secret hearings be open to the public.

The report says that these hearings, during which more than 100 witnesses were questioned, turned up evidence of "bad security risks," erroneous expense accounts, shuffled files, army laxity and efforts to discredit FBI investigations.

Would Bar Company

In fact, one of 14 recommendations by the Karst subcommittee was that:

"The representatives of the International Business Machine Co., who participated in a conspiracy to discredit the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Counter Intelligence Corps investigations, be barred from further official contact with all government agencies."

France And Germany in Exchange of Peace Gestures

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Only a great threat like the cold war could have brought about such amazing gestures of peace as are being exchanged between bitter enemies like France and Germany.

France has proposed the pooling of Europe's vital coal and steel industries under a common authority as a move toward peace and prosperity. This project—approved by the cabinet and announced by Foreign Minister Schuman—would include the joining of France's output in the rich Saar and Lorraine regions with that of Germany's industrially famous Ruhr valley.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of west Germany has greeted this astonishing proposition as "a magnanimous step of the greatest possible significance," adding:

"It appears to me that this creates the pre-conditions for making any future conflict between France and Germany impossible."

It is with surprise and near awe that one witnesses such an exchange of apparent amity. To realize what a change may be in the making you really must have a Frenchman spit out the characterization of "Boche" for the German. That expressive word sums up all the hatreds engendered by the Franco-German war of 1870 and the subsequent two-world conflicts which were launched across the peaceful countryside of France.

Well, there has been a lot of talk about another world war being whelped in Europe. What about the possibility of world peace coming out of the continent?

Now of course we mustn't rush to conclusions. A sweeping proposal has been made by Paris, and a quick and favorable reply has been received from Germany. That's the egg on which the dove of peace must sit, and we should be foolish to rush to conclusions before the hatching—if any.

However, it's obvious that the French proposal could have far reaching results if it develops favorably. The features of Franco-German amity are the most surprising element, but this is only one aspect of a general economic development involving the whole of western Europe.

Success of the project is calculated to mean great things for the economic rehabilitation of Europe. And the economic rehabilitation is essential to military preparedness for defense.

Confession on Plane to Bring No Surprise

More Revealed on One Lost April 8 In Baltic Sea

By C. Yates McDaniel

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—The United States won't be surprised if Moscow eventually produces an alleged confession from a crew member of the American navy plane lost in the Baltic April 8.

A government official in a position to know said this today on the basis of what he asserted to be American "knowledge" that Russia made prompt efforts to salvage remnants of the plane and to pick up its 10 occupants, dead or alive.

He said also that the U. S. "knows" the following facts, entirely apart from diplomatic interpretations of Moscow's version of the incident:

(1) Four Russian fighters opened fire from the rear of the slower moving American patrol plane;

(2) Attack took place over the Baltic sea "more than 30 miles" from the coast of Russian occupied territory;

(3) The plane was on fire before it hit the water.

This official said the government would not reveal how it got this information because it would give vital information to Russia. He said he did not know whether the Russians had any success in finding the plane or its occupants.

He agreed with navy officers who said yesterday that the chance of survival for any of the crew members was "very remote."

He recalled, however, that Communist authorities customarily wring confessions from political prisoners and foreigners involved in incidents.

Freeing Two Flyers

Only this week, the Chinese Reds announced that they were freeing two American flyers, missing or nearly 19 months in North China, after they had "confessed" to "spying" on Red military installations.

American searchers, assisted by the Scandinavians, have found no trace of the navy crewmen in the Baltic and have picked up only secondary pieces of equipment of types the plane is known to have carried.

Although the official spokesmen have remained steadfastly silent about how the government got the information about the Russian incident, experienced professionals suggest the following summation:

(1) A second radar-equipped plane could have been in the air over the Baltic beyond the sight or easy pursuit range of the Russian fighters. Its radar could have picked up a reasonably accurate picture of what happened.

The U. S. protest to Russia said that the lost plane was the "only American military aircrat" over the Baltic on April 8. There has been no mention of any plane of some other country being in the area.

(2) The attack could have been plotted by radar on a surface vessel. No American ship is known to have been in the Baltic on the day of the incident. But this narrow sea is open to commercial ships, some of which carry radar, plying between Great Britain and ports of Sweden and

Railway Strike Given at Glance

By the Associated Press

This was the situation in brief today in the strike of locomotive firemen on four key rail lines.

Peace Efforts: The National (railway) Mediation Board was standing by in Chicago, available for constultation by either side, but no peace steps were being taken or announced in the deadlocked dispute.

Unemployment: Nearly 200,000 rail workers may be out by this week end. The Pennsylvania railroad said it will furlough 85,000 workers by tomorrow morning. The New York Central said 25,000 now are idle and the number may jump to 50,000. The Southern railway system says the majority of its 38,000 workers will be idle by week-end. Santa Fe issued an order closing all its shops but gave no figures immediately.

In addition nearly 5,000 Pennsylvania miners are idle and a few auto parts workers in Cleveland have been laid off.

The Disputants: Spokesmen for the carriers in Chicago reiterated their determination to oppose the employment of extra firemen on big diesel engines. The striking Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen made no comment.

Road Contract To Sedalians

Bids Approved By Highway Body For 164.5 Miles

The Missouri State Highway Commission approved bids for highway improvements covering 164.5 miles in 49 counties and and 132.8 miles of bituminous mat resurfacing for maintenance purposes in 13 counties, according to an announcement by C. W. Brown, chief engineer, today.

The bid prices by contractors for all the work totaled approximately $3,765,000.

One hundred ten and nine-tenths miles of the improvements are a part of the supplementary (farm-to-market) system of state highways.

Projects on the major system include the relocation and replacement of 8.0 miles of the old 18 foot slab with a new modern 24 foot portland cement concrete pavement in Cooper County, from Route 41 west, except a short section at Lamine River, and a relocation and reconstruction of 4.9 miles, including an underpass with the Wabash Railroad and a grade separation with Route Z, of the present 18 foot pavement to a 24 foot portland cement concrete surface, from a point approximately one mile west of Wentzville, east to Gilmore in St. Charles County.

Additional sections on the major system include the grading and bridges for the relocation of 13.5 miles of U. S. Route 66 in Webster and Laclede Counties, between Marshfield and Conway, and the grading, bridging and paving for the Little Beaver Creek relocation in Phelps County.

Must Be Approved

All bids involving federal funds must be approved by the Bureau of Public Roads before contracts can be awarded. The bids do not include non-contractual costs of 10 per cent for engineering and contingencies.

No bids were received on the bridge reconstruction at the Mississippi River Slough Bridge on Route 99, in St. Charles County.

Howard Construction company of Sedalia was the successful bidder in the following counties: Knox county-route 3 for 3.3 miles of grading and surfacing and to extend present construction south to close gap to Route B. Also in Knox county-Route K of 4.4 miles of grading and surfacing and to extend present construction through Colony to the Lewis line. Total bid price, $36,935.

Callaway county—Route K for 3.7 miles of grading and surfacing and to extend present construction southeast to Montgomery county line. Bid, $16.905.

Montgomery county—Route K for 4.8 miles of grading and surfacing. Callaway county line east to Americus, thereby furnishing an all-weather road to Route 19. Bid, $17,489.

Take Up Plans On Cold War

Optimism as Big Three Session Opens In London to Form Strategy

By the Associated Press

The foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France met in London today to seek agreement on plans to win the cold war against Russia.

There was optimism in the air as U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain and Robert Schuman of France set down at the conference table.

The hopeful atmosphere was endangered by a French proposal that France and Germany, traditional enemies, pool their basic industries under a common central authority. This would be the beginning of the integration of German economy into the West, so long sought by the United States as a link-pin to peace and prosperity in Europe.

As a curtain raiser for the conference, Secretary Acheson last night in a speech appealed for sacrificing "some purely national interests" in order to prevent a World War III.

"The Germans themselves," he said, "must be prepared to accept their full measure of responsibilities and the full measure of what may appear to them as risks." He asked that the Germans be welcomed back into the European community.

Deems Pool Plan Good

Acheson said the generous French plan to pool coal and steel output with Germany, which has thrice invaded French soil in modern times, had his sympathy and support. It was a dramatic and sudden proposal on the part of the French and had "significant and far reaching intent" Acheson declared. He reserved final judgment on the plan until he had time to study it in detail.

Britain is making a cautious approach to the plan. The French have invited the British to bring their steel and coal resources into the pool. As one of the occupation powers in Germany, Britain's approval is necessary to the success of the scheme.

Schuman, principal architect of the plan, is expected to press for its formal endorsement by the Big Three conference.

Budapest dispatches said a Hungarian appeal court has refused to lessen the 15-year prison sentence of Robert A. Vogeler, American businessman convicted last September on spy charges. Two Hungarian codefendants sentenced to death at the same time have been executed, the government announced. The U.S. government unsuccessfully protested against Vogeler's imprisonment.

Junta Seized Power

A military junta has seized power in the West Indian island republic of Haiti and deposed President Dumarsais Estine, who has ruled Haiti's 3,000,000 Negro population for four turbulent years.

In Washington, military officials were reported considering a plan to arm the United States' North Atlantic pact allies with atomic bombs. Advocates of the plan contended some way must be found to arm Western Europe faster and cheaper than is possible with conventional arms.

A Washington official discussing the American plane lost in the Baltic April 8 said evidence indicated Russia made prompt efforts to salvage the plane and to pick up its 10 occupants, dead or alive. If any were found alive, this official said, the United States would not be surprised if Moscow eventually produces an alleged confession from a crew member. However, he added, the chance that anyone survived is "very remote."

Sixty Mile Drive To Cow Nearby

ELLINGTON, Mo., May 11—Mose McNail drove 60 miles yesterday to milk his one cow which was in a barn only 200 yards from his home.

A flash flood caused a creek which runs between his home and his barn to run wild, following heavy rains in this Ozarks area.

To respond to the cow's constant moos for food and to be milked, McNail had to drive to a bridge to cross the creek and back to the barn, a distance of 30 miles each way.

'Kid Day' For S-H Seniors

Today is a big day for Sacred Heart high school seniors, for it is "Kid Day," when they go back into the not too distant past to steal a day from their childhood.

All over town are boys in short pants with fancy shirts, many with embroidery and big windsor ties and girls in short dresses of every color, some with organdy pinafores and organdy bonnets. Nearly all have toys of some description and the cars they are riding in are decorated in the school colors of red and white with big signs on which are printed: "Kid Day." Some of the cars have balloons as an added decoration.

The day started out this morning with an assembly which consisted of a program of children's poems, songs and dances, a mock band tune and a mock tragedy entitled: "Grandmother Saves the Day." The assembly was attended by parents of the seniors and students from the other high school classes.

The group went to the home of Carolyn Riley, 725 West Fourth street, for dinner after which they attended a show during the afternoon.

The big annual event will end with a dance tonight.

Truman Dines Privately With GOP Critic

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—Some time before leaving on his whistle-stop trip, President Truman held a hush-hush dinner with one of his most vigorous political enemies — Senator Brewster of Maine.

The dinner was held not in the White House, but at the Carlton hotel. And it was the President who inspired the meeting. He and Brewster had worked together on the old Truman committee, once had been warm friends.

Chief result of the Carlton dinner was a challenge to test out the fair deal. Brewster is chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign committee, and has the job of electing as many GOP Senators as possible next November.

Knowing this, Truman challenged: "I'll lay my program out and you lay your program out, and we'll have a showdown."

Brewster agreed.

Though they didn't actualy plan it that way, part of the showdown is coming right now. Truman is now putting his policies before the public, while Brewster has been busy lining up speakers to refute him. He has already lined up Taft for a speech in Chicago, Wherry in Nebraska, Hickenlooper in Iowa, Morse in Oregon, and Congressman Keefe in Wisconsin.

Brewster says the battle, hatched over the dinner table at the Carlton hotel, will continue until November.

Acheson's Big Problem

Before Secretary of State Acheson left for the Big Three conference, he had a report from the Orient indicating that French Indo-China was the most vital area in preventing the spread of Communism.

The report came from Ed Dickinson, ace trouble-shooter for ECA Administrator Paul Hoffman. State department officials concur with Dickinson's views.

They believe that if Communism once takes over Indo-China, then Burma, the Malays, Siam, India and Indonesia will also fall, making all of the Orient a Russian sphere of influence.

Furthermore, it is believed that this is Moscow's chief goal. For the Red army today lacks oil, gasoline, tin and rubber. All these things are to be obtained in the wealthy area lying south of French Indo-China.

That is why Indo-China is one of the toughest jobs facing Acheson and why he met it head-on following his arrival in Paris. Here are some of the factors he still has to contend with:

1. THE U.S. SENATE IS HOT AND BOTHERED ABOUT CHINA, but not Indo-China. This may be because of the well-heeled Kuomintang lobby which has spent thousands in Washington influencing Congress. Whatever the cause, when Acheson publicly proposed aid to Indo-China, he was rebuked next day by Senator George of Georgia who wanted to know who was going to vote the money.

2. THE FRENCH ARE A HANDICAP. French administration of Indo-China in the past has been inefficient, corrupt, imperialistic. The natives don't like them, shoot down French troops at night if they stray a mile or so outside of towns.

3. INDO-CHINA IS SPLIT AMONG VARIOUS FACTIONS. There is no love for Emperor Bao Dai, onetime Paris playboy, whom the French have set up as ruler. There is also bitter hatred for guerrilla leader Ho Chi Minh and his scorched-earth policy.

Possibly the United States could handle the situation better without the French. But that would alienate one of our oldest allies. Thus Acheson has the Senate to buck on one hand, the French on the other and the Communists all around him.

John L. Lewis Purge

John L. Lewis, Republican, has been busy backstage trying to purge a Democrat, Rep. Anthony Cavalcante of Pennsylvania. Lewis is sore because Cavalcante demanded that district four of the United Mine Workers have local autonomy and the right to elect their own officers. Cavalcante used to be a member of this local, has an excellent record in Congress, and will be supported by many rank-and-file miners. However, Lewis' strong-arm men are doing their best to elect Edward Dumbault, Cavalcante's opponent.

New England Slump

The President's council of economic advisers, while pleased with the recent unemployment drop, are still deeply concerned over the situation in the New England area. Throughout the nation unemployment now averages 5-½ per cent, but in New England it averages around 12 per cent. As a result, the council will soon set up a task force of prominent businessmen and economists with instructions to make a thorough and intensive study of the causes and cures of New England's semi-depression. This will be the first step in the government's plan to help industrial New England get back on its feet.

Speech Backfired

A Minnesota farmer may lose out in becoming undersecretary of agriculture, because he tried too hard to drum up an audience for his boss. The eager beaver is Charles W. Stickney, Minnesota committee chairman for the Production and Marketing Administration.

Stickney wanted to be sure Secretary of Agriculture Charlie Brannan had a full house when he came to St. Paul on April 4, so he passed the word that 8,000 Minnesota farmer committeemen could collect $8 a day expenses for listening.

Word of this, however, leaked back to enemy No. 1 of the Brannan plan, Sen. George Aiken, the Vermont Republican. Aiken promptly raised such a howl that the general accounting office is now investigating to see if an improper use of government funds is involved.

However, here is another aftermath. Until recently, Stickney was all set to succeed Al Loveland as undersecretary of Agriculture. Now he isn't.

NOTE—When Secretary Brannan found that the St. Paul audience was getting $8 a day each for expenses, he changed his speech to a non-political farm discourse.

Coal Operators Union

Big coal operators are quietly planning to form a virtual union of their own, thereby giving Harry Moses, boss of the U.S. Steel-owned H. C. Frick Coal Company, the same dictatorial powers over northern operators that John L. Lewis wields over the miners.

Under the proposed new setup, scheduled to take effect early in July, Moses will be top man of an executive committee that can force all northern operators, big and little, to sign contracts with Lewis whether they like them or not.

In other words, U.S. Steel, which already has a monopolistic grip on the steel industry, also will control the coal industry.

NOTE—Southern operators and many independents are griping.

Real Good Neighborliness

While most of the world is worrying about the coming Berlin Red demonstration, trouble in China and the danger of a Yugoslav war, it looks like two countries in this hemisphere were on the way to working out an important new friendship.

This developed during a White House visit between the President of the United States and the President of Chile when Gonzalez Videla unfolded to Truman a proposal to give landlocked Bolivia a free port on the Pacific ocean near Arica.

To Latin Americans such a proposal is almost revolutionary. For the Chilean ports of Tacna and Arica have been a bone of contention for years between Chile, Bolivia and Peru.

They have already been the subject of two wars and were arbitrated by Gen. John J. Pershing and Gen. William Lassiter, neither of whom was able to bring about a solution.

All during these years of controversy, Bolivia has argued that she should be given one of these Chilean cities as a free port. And because she was not able to get access to the sea, Bolivia instigated the famed Chaco war with Paraguay in the 1920's.

What President Gonzalez Videla has now discussed with President Truman is to give Bolivia an area on the Pacific coast near Arica where she would build her own port. Bolivia would have complete sovereignty, with no restrictions by Chile.

In turn, the Chilean president hopes that Bolivia would give Chile irrigation water from Lake Titticacca, with which to irrigate the north Chilean desert of Atacama. Today northern Chile is much like southern California, but with water it could become as populated as California.

President Truman gave his enthusiastic blessing and promised President Gonzalez Videla any help that he could give.

Don't Count on Sudden Soviet Collapse---It May Take Time

By Bruce Biossat

Paul Hoffman, foreign aid chief, predicts the Russian Communist empire will collapse "quite suddenly" within our lifetime.

He sees two factors as decisive: the death of Premier Stalin, which he expects to touch off a wild scramble for power; and the breaking away of most Russian satellite countries from Moscow.

Hoffman believes these satellites are developing dangerous rigidity in their economic structures. All appears smooth on the surface, he says, because political brutality keeps it that way. But underneath, tensions are mounting.

The anticipated turbulence accompanying a change in the Russian dictatorship will probably allow these tensions to burst into the open, says Hoffman.

What he forecasts is certainly a marked possibility. Yet it wouldn't be wise for the free world to count on anything so joyful as a Russian empire collapse unless and until it happens.

The West has been trying to guess for a long time just what will occur when Stalin dies. The list of likely successors is constantly undergoing revision. Some experts predict a cut-throat struggle, others think a smooth, frictionless switch will be made.

If there does prove to be a ruthless fight for Stalin's job, the satellites may well realize the chance either to break loose or at least to take a more firmly nationalistic line on the Tito model.

We can't be so hopeful, however, about what might develop within Russia itself. No matter how bitter the competition for power, it almost certainly would not lead to the ouster of the oppressive totalitarian regime now entrenched.

Modern dictatorships have at their command far more powerful weapons of control than did the tyrants of old. An army equipped with great fire power, brutal secret police, concentration camps, these all make revolt a difficult matter to bring off. Worse still, Russia has crushed any sort of organization or segment of society which could possibly serve as a rallying point for rebellious citizens. The Communists brook no rivals anywhere within the Soviet Union.

The Russian tyranny must end some day. But probably its fall will come only after long, slow disintegration from within, and heavy, relentless pressures from the outside. Those pressures need not necessarily include war. A non-Communist world well organized for its defense, firm in its faith, progressive in its march toward human betterment will constrict Russia's orbit and hasten communism's demise.

Not so Crowded, After All

Preliminary figures indicate that New York City's 1950 population is going to total around 7,750,000. That's about 250,000 below estimates made by various agencies in the last year or two.

So, it isn't 8,000,000 after all. It only seems like 8,000,000 to the people who live there.

I Cor. 1:27—28; 6:9—11; Philem. 10—16

NOBODIES BECOME SOMEBODIES

(13) Remember it is never too late to be a creative personality. No matter what happens to you, or when it happens to you, it is never too late to become creative. I know a woman, wife of a professor, who did not touch a paintbrush until she was 50. Then she awakened, began to paint, and her paintings are being exhibited in this and other countries. She has gathered around her a group of women who before 50 had done nothing contributive, but after 50 began to be creative. One took up sculpturing, and though she had never tried that branch of art until she was 50, became a teacher of sculpture in a great college and exhibited her own products in America and Europe.

Some artists gathered on a farm to paint the landscape. The farmer, becoming interested, painted the landscape on his own. The teacher, seeing the painting, asked who had done it. The farmer was "discovered" and became a famous landscape artist. His awakening had come at 68.

Jesus is the great Awakener. Paul speaks of "all the stimulus of Christ." He stimulates the creative center in each one of us, making it first aware of God, and then aware of the infinite possibilities in God. I was at the bottom of my class until I met Christ, and then I said to myself, "This is no place for a Christian," and left it.

Someone said of a certain great city, "I never live a week in ——— when, bang, there goes another horizon!" That is the thing that happens when we are in company with Jesus—"bang, there goes another horizon!" In His company we begin to see farther, feel for people on a wide scale, and act more decisively. Jesus takes the nobodies and turns them into the somebodies. He was the maker of men and still is. No one can be in His company long without feeling an irresistible impulse to roll up his sleeves and say, "Where do I begin?" For the creative impulse comes from contact with the creative God.

O Christ, Thou creator of living thoughts in dead brains; Thou stimulator of living love in petrified hearts; Thou arouser of living action in decayed wills; Thou giver of life, I ask Thee to enter into me and to stimulate and quicken every fiber and and nerve cell that I too may become creative. Amen.

The Doctor Says—

Florence Nightingale Began 'Ministering Angel' Tradition

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Millions of people enter hospitals every year, either because of illness, or more happily, for childbirth. None of these millions ever enter a hospital which does not have nurses. Indeed, it would be unthinkable to have a hospital without nurses, and no hospital today could operate without them. It is only fair, therefore, that nurses should be given more attention and some tribute paid to their devoted services.

Modern nursing owes its origin to the great Florence Nightingale, the anniversary of whose birth occurs on May 12. Until her reforms began to take effect, hospitals were almost all filthy buildings. Patients with bad infections lay side by side with those who had no germ infections at all.

The results of this lack of cleanliness and elementary knowledge of prevention of disease can only be imagined. People who went to hospitals died like flies. Many who were sent to the "hospitals" of the pre-Nightingale era considered themselves practically condemned to death — and they were right!

Florence Nightingale's first big opportunity came when the Crimean War broke out in 1854. She offered her services as a nurse. She found on her arrival at the scene of hostilities that in the barrack hospital alone there were four miles of wounded soldiers lying less than 18 inches apart. This was years before the part played by germs in diseases was known or the principles of antiseptic surgery discovered, but Florence Nightingale realized nevertheless that efficient nursing demands cleanliness. She found that the hospital had no basin, towel, soap or broom in the whole place. She set to work with pail and scrub brush and cleanliness followed shortly. The kitchen and the storekeeping quarters received her attentions next and required an equal amount of clean-up and reform.

Of course, she revolutionized the profession of nursing. Before her day most nurses came in an entirely different model. They had had little training and their attitude toward patients was far from that of the "ministering angel" the ideal of which was ushered in by Florence Nightingale.

Labored Under Handicap

Miss Nightingale was an invalid most of her life which made her accomplishments all the more remarkable. She is considered the founder of modern nursing. Since Florence Nightingale's time, the nursing profession has gone through many trials and tribulations.

In come respects and at some periods, nurses have truly been the forgotten servants of medicine. They have been underpaid and overworked. Now their economic situation is gradually improving. But today as always, the ideals of the nursing profession reman service to suffering humanity rather than financial or economic gain. Girls do not go into nursing to get rich.

Make Club Work Worth While If You Want Men's Respect

Because the average man takes such an amused attitude toward women's organizations in general a lot of wives overlook an important fact.

That fact is that most husbands are touchingly proud of their wives if they take on a real and worthwhile project outside the home.

Husbands may not be much impressed when their wives talk about how hard they are working on club activities. They know that most of the "work" is telephoning lists of names, arranging for speakers, being sure that the presiding officer gets a corsage, with the end result usually not really mattering one way or another.

But the husband whose wife is working hard for the P. T. A. or has taken over a Brownie or Girl Scout troop or is Den Mother for her son's Cub Scout group is often so proud of her ability and initiative and the good she is doing that he can't resist the urge to brag about her to anyone who will listen.

Take on a Real Job And Get It Done

So for the wives who complain to me that their husbands think anything a "bunch of women" is trying to do is just so much wasted time and effort I'd like to say this:

Get interested in some really worthwhile project that demands more of you than getting dressed up in your best suit and fanciest hat. Work hard at it and accomplish something—and you'll see respect replace amused tolerance on your husband's face when you tell him what you are doing and what you are trying to do.

Women do squander a lot of time and effort on clubs and organizations that haven't much real purpose and are not much more than timekillers for their members.

But there are in every town plenty of hard jobs begging to be done by any woman who really wants to put her time and energy to work.

Take on just one of those jobs—and your whole family will be proud of you.

"Baba?"

"Nurse says she is still sleeping. She has had a wonderful night. Praise be to Allah, she will get well," said Louilie joyously. "The doctors both have gone."

"What time is it?" Clemency glanced at her clock. "Louilie! I should have been called before this!"

"No, Sitt. The Sidi Amberley's orders. And you are to eat your breakfast in bed."

Clemency sank back on her pillows, still drowsy from the effects of the sleeping tablet she had been given last night.

The sunlight flooded the room like a benediction—Baba was going to get well. And then she remembered why this heavy ache lay at her heart, why it would be worse before it ever eased.

Nothing of what had happened during this last 48 hours had changed her own problem. She still had to give Piers back his ring, and tell him she was going away. It was useless to think things could ever be the same between them again—loving him so desperately only made them worse. She might forgive what he had done to her—but nothing could undo what he had done to Jon. What Syrie had made him do!

She clenched her hands until the nails dug into the palms. Last night when she came to bed she had wept, but the tears were out of her utter weariness, and her relief over Baba. Her own tragedy was too deep for tears.

Luncheon was over when at last she emerged from her room to go in search of Piers, but he did not seem to be anywhere about, and it was Syrie she found.

This morning only the shadows around Syrie's eyes which her make-up did not quite succeed in hiding, betrayed anything of what she had gone through. When Clemency found her, standing looking out on to the veranda, she appeared as exquisitely groomed as ever, in one of the thick white silk dresses she was so fond of, her shining hair piled high, lipstick and nail varnish perfectly matched.

How much real feeling is there in her? Clemency wondered with a bitterness that would not be repressed.

WHEN Syrie glanced around, and, seeing her, came back into the room, there was an embarrassment that was quite new in her manner.

"I was waiting for Piers," she said. "I think—he is with Jon."

It's dreadful to hate anybody after what we have all just been through, thought Clemency. But the human heart has its passions, and there are limits to human endurance; it was perhaps a little unfair to blame herself.

She controlled her voice with an effort. "Then I will leave you. I was looking for him, but—what I have to say can wait."

But as she turned to go, Syrie spoke. "It's wonderful about Baba."

"Very wonderful."

"Jon and I are planning to take her to the sea as soon as she is well enough. Perhaps—over to Southern France. It's an ideal part of the world to live. And if I can get someone reliable to look after her—"

Though she tried to hide it, some of the surprise Clemency felt showed in her face. Then: "She will need a lot of love," she said. "She will be a long time getting better and convalescing, and—she is bound to get spoiled. I hope you will find someone who—loves her a lot."

"I shan't get anyone she loves as much as she loves you," said Syrie frankly. "Or who manages her as well." She paused and added after a moment: "You will think I am very impertinent if I ask you what you were waiting to say to Piers—"

Clemency felt herself freeze up. "If you don't mind, I would rather not discuss it."

"There is no need to," said Syrie. "Here is Piers, and—I think—I know he will have something to say to you." And then as Clemency moved swiftly towards the second exit from the room she exclaimed sharply: "Piers! Don't let Clemency go."

HE reached out, and taking Clemency's arm, drew her back. And so she stood, Syrie facing her, Piers on the other side, her heart beating furiously, but determined to save herself the indignity of a further attempt to escape.

"Piers," Syrie told him, "you have something to tell Clemency."

"He has nothing to tell me that I don't already know," said Clemency.

"Oh yes, he has—a lot," Syrie assured her, and with her eyes on Piers: "Has Jon spoken to you?"

"Yes."

"Then tell Clemency the truth. You shouldn't have trusted me at all." Syrie shrugged. "I'm a born liar when it suits. Go on, Piers. Tell her what I did to you and all the rest of it. She'll believe you now. Jon will have told you that I let her think what he said to her was true."

She turned her glance to Clemency's white, stricken face. "There's one truth I can tell. I loved Piers—I wouldn't have stopped at anything to make what I wanted you to believe come true. But he loathes me! I wanted to punish him for making me stay here. Months ago I made Jon believe what you believed. I suppose I wanted to punish Jon too.

"But something odd happened to me when Baba fell ill. I promised myself that if she got better, I'd tell the truth—make it all right between you and Piers."

As she spoke Clemency realized that Syrie Amberley was unchanged. She was not repentant, only keeping a bargain with Fate.

Dedication Of Parsonage

Rev. E. W. Bartley In Sermon at Event in Lincoln

The recently completed parsonage of the Methodist church of Lincoln, was dedicated at a special service held at the church last Sunday evening, with the district superintendent, the Rev. E. W. Bartley, of Sedalia, in charge.

Following the service the group went to the parsonage which is a short distance from the church located on a corner lot that had been donated by S. O. Brill, of Lincoln. Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . . .

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Ohio State U. Student Guilty Of Murder

James D. Heer Killed Jack T. McKeown A Fellow Student

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 11—(AP)—A jury, under instruction to convict James D. Heer, of slaying a fellow student at Ohio State university last night found him guilty of second degree murder.

His victim, 21-year-old Jack T. McKeown, was shot to death Nov. 12 following a fraternity homecoming party at which guests drank liquor, witnesses testified.

Penalty Is Life Imprisonment

The penalty for second degree murder is life imprisonment.

The jury of 10 women and two men, which heard Heer's attorney plead that the shooting was a "pur accident" which occurred while Heer was intoxicated, deliberated 5 hours 53 minutes.

Determination of the degree of guilt was the jury's only job. Under the law, Judge R. King advised the jurors, they could not give Heer his freedom.

McKeown, of Norwood, Ohio, was shot to death after a Delta Tau Delta fraternity party. Heer was a pledge of the fraternity; McKeown was a member.

Heer, who had joined other studednts in cocktails at a private dance hall, staggered out of his fraternity house with a .45 caliber automatic pistol.

McKeown attempted to disarm him and was shot in the abdomen

Jokes From Death Trap

(NEA Telephoto)

Although buried to the waist by a caved-in well in a New York garage, Dominick Atteo, 49-year-old well digger managed to jokingly direct workers during early rescue operations to free him from the shaft. Shortly after this picture was made, the imprisoned man suffered severe burns on the hands and face when a cigarette being passed down to him by a son exploded from the effects of oxygen being piped into the cavity. After twenty-seven hours of agony, Atteo died of shock and exhaustion shortly after rescuers had fought their way to his side.

Sobbing Wife Kept Vigil at Well

Mrs. Maria Atteo, young wife of Dominick Atteo, sobs as she looks down on her trapped well digger husband in his prison at the bottom of a 20-foot shaft is Dominick's son, Joseph (center), 27. Imprisoned by a rock slide, the 49-year-old digger expired just as rescuers were ready to bring him out. (AP Wirephoto)

Publisher Killed By Woman Companion

MACOMB, Ill., May 11—(AP)—A Prairie City, Ill., publisher and a woman employe were found shot to death in a parked automobile Wednesday, victims of what Fulton county authorities said was homicide and suicide.

Fulton county coroner Red Maguire said Miss Dorothy Decker, 29, apparently shot Ervin H. Tax, 39, and then turned the gun on herself. Tax's body was in the front seat of Miss Decker's car, and the woman's body was in the back seat with a .22 caliber rifle lying in her lap. She had been shot in the mouth.

Maguire said the two had been dead since last night. A farmer discovered the bodies. The car was on a lonely road three miles southeast of St. Augustine, in Fulton county.

Surviving Miss Decker are her mother, Mrs. Luah Decker, and a brother, James of 3754 Wabash ave., Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. Barkley in Visit to Father

KANSAS CITY, May 11—(AP)—Mrs. Alben W. Barkley, wife of the vice president, arrived today for a birthday visit with her father, Roy W. Rucker, who will be 66 years old tomorrow.

The trial attorney is convalescing at St. Luke's hospital here from a heart ailment which now has kept him hospitalized ofr two and one-half years.

In a press interview Mrs. Barkley, like many another son or daughter, was distressed to admit she wasn't positive how old her father was. She believed it was 65.

"That would be about right since I'm 38," she said frankly.

Her plans during a two-day visit here will depend on her father's health and what his physician will permit. She said she would like to have a birthday luncheon for her father tomorrow if his condition permitted.

Mrs. Barkley smiled at men tion of her 72-year old husband's strenuous political schedule.

"I don't even try to keep up with him," she said.

Her ready laughter was there at a reference to the veep's latest pronouncement that custom requires him who crowns a queen to bestow a kiss but that his wife now supervises the job for him.

"I agree with him entirely," she said.

Certainly she approved of his handling of last month's coronation of the Shenandoah Apple Blossom queen in Winchester, Va. On that occasion there was a stepfatherly kiss for Mrs. Barkley's attractive 18-year old daughter, Ann.

that business of America should get off the defensive and take the offensive. "Unfortunately, mis information, mis-understanding, and lack of information has produced a distorted conception of business and our economic system in the minds of many people. Business is not telling the story often enough to enough people." It was urged at the annual meetin, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States that business hold more employee meetings, that they ask employees what they think about their jobs, about their company and about our economic system. There should be much more closer relation between management and labor in much of America's business and industry.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States is sponsoring an "American Opportunity" program, which local Chambers of Commerce all over the nation are taking up, Mr. Zander reported. A program which it is planned will be undertaken by the National Affairs Committee of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, under the chairmanship of I. H. Reed. The local program will encourage Sedalia businessmen to tell the story often enough to enough people; tell the story of the free enterprise system which has built our nation into the greatest nation the world has ever known with the highest standard of living.

report, Rep. Vinson (D-Ga) announced that his armed services committee will open an investigation of its own.

The center, which handles famous allotment for army and air force personnel, employs 4,500 people. Since last May it has been under investigation by the subcommittee, the Civil Service Commission, the army inspector general, the FBI and the general, the FBI and the General Accounting office.

Karst said he welcomed investigation by the armed services committee. He said there were phases more rightly in the province of that committee than in that of the Civil Service Committee.

But he said his subcommittee would continue with its probing which has already resulted in top personnel shifts at the center, to see that there is no "white-washing."

Karst said evidence indicates "communist infiltration" of the center, the importance of which "cannot be overemphasized." The records of the center show the disposition of American troops and their numbers, grades and types.

The report relates that in the past three years 64 persons have been investigated as "security risks" and that 44 of them were fired or resigned while under investigation.

The recruiting station on the second floor of the post office building will probably be closed while Sgt. Stacy goes on the trip.

Poll Given on Health Insurance

In a recent poll of the membership of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce in regard to the compulsory health insurance there were 246 votes against it and 16 for it with one of no opinion.

The request for an opinion on compulsory health insurance came to the Chamber of Commerce and feeling that such an opinion should not be given by the members of the board they submitted the issue to the membership and asked for a vote on it.

Strike Brings Much Idleness

CHICAGO, May 11—(AP)—Unemployment mounted swiftly today as coal mining and other industry began feeling the effects of the strike of locomotive firemen on four key rail systems.

With no peace moves under way or announced, prospects for early peace were dim.

Fourteen major mines in western Pennsylvania, including the ones owned by the Bethlehem Steel Corp., closed down. There were no empty gondolas to carry coal away. The shutdowns forced 4,460 miners into idleness.

Several other mines were operating a half day. Some mines attempted to keep operating by rumping coal on the ground, but such space was limited.

Mine officials said all western Pennsylvania's 55,000 miners may be idle next week if the strike continues.

At Cleveland, C. F. Weigele, general manager of the New York Central's west division, said 25,000 rail workers now are on strike or have been laid off in the system. About 10 per cent of the idle are employes engaged in such non operating tasks as clerical work.

The Fisher Body plant at Cleveland issued temporary furloughs yesterday to 2,500 employes but called 1,500 of them back today. One thousand employes of the Midland Steel Products Co. in Cleveland were laid off yesterday, but nearly all were recalled today.

Plan of Strike Inquiry Dropped

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—A house labor committee plan to investigate last winter's soft coal strike collapsed today when Chairman Lesinski (D-Mich) revoked authority to subpoena John L. Lewis and other witnesses.

"Plain political cowardice," declared Rep. Jacobs (D-Ind), who had proposeed the hearing before his "Union Democracy" subcommittee.

Without subpoena power, Jacobs could not proceed with the inquiry into actions of the United Mine Workers in connection with the end of the coal shutdown last February.

At a showdown session of the full committee today, Lesinski rescinded a previous order abolishing Jacobs' subcommittee.

But he nipped the proposed inquiry in the bud by immediately revoking Jacobs' authority to issue subpoenas independently as a sub-committee chairman.

Jacobs did not challenge Lesinski's right to take this action. Under a house-approved resolution of February, 1949, sole subpoena power was lodged with the labor committee chairman.

Jacobs had wanted to question Lewis and others about the accusations of an illinois miner that the UMW chief had engaged in undemocratic union practices.

Committee on Court Rules

JEFFERSON CITY, May 11—(AP)—Forrest M. Hemker, St. Louis lawyer, was appointed chairman today of a special Supreme Court committee to put new rules of criminal procedure in final form.

Chief Justice Laurance M. Hyde announced the committee's appointment. The court assigned one of its commissioners, Frank P. Aschemeyer, to do the final research and drafting for the committee. When the rules are drafted, they will be submitted to the Supreme Court for final approval.

The 1945 state constitution also gives the Supreme Court the power to set the date when the new rules become affective in state courts. They are the result of several years of work by the Missouri bar.

Serving with Hemker on the drafting committee will be Supreme Court Commissioner Henry J. Westhues, Jefferson City; Circuit Judge Paul A. Buzard, Kansas City; Ben Ely, Hannibal, and Clarence A. Powell, Dexter.

Aid Planned to Southeast Asia

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—Undersecretary of state Webb said today the United States plans immediate military and economic aid to Southeast Asia.

Webb told a news conference:

1. The department "plans to implement at once" a recommendation by a special survey mission that about $60,000,000 be used for economic help to the area. This mission was headed by Allen Griffin, publisher of the Monterey, Calif., Peninsula Herald.

2. The military needs of the area will be met by drawing on President Truman's "emergency fund" of $75,000,000 approved by Congress for the general area of China.

Census Shows Columbia Gains in Unofficial Count

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 11—(AP)—Marvin W. Smith, district census supervisor, reported Columbia's unofficial census count is 31,094, an increase from 18,399 in the last decade.

Smith also noted Moberly's unofficial count of 12,967, a gain of 47 as compared with the 1940 figure.

Smith said that individual census cards are coming in slowly from persons enumerators missed, but that he doubts the final figures will be much larger.

Determined On Low Cost Public Power

ington and Orgeon, and in other sections of the country, where they have decided to distribute power through public bodies and co-operatives.

"The benefits of public investment must be passed on to the people whose tax money is being used. Those benefits must not be diverted for private profit.

"We will continue to fight—and win—for that principle."

The president stopped here at virtually the half-way point in his cross-country crusade for the "fair deal." He has been making what he calls a "report to the people" at whistle stops all over the west and middle west.

He outlined at Pendleton, Ore., last night a program of national development aimed at boosting the income of poorer working families to $4,000 annually in 10 years.

He said the income of those in the lower brackets can be doubled in "real money" and the nation's output of goods and services lifted to $350,000,000,000 by 1960.

In train platform speeches, he continued to insist he is "not running for anything," that this is a "non-political" trip, but that he might come back later to do some "politicking."

Body Is Found By Mushroom Hunter

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., May 11—(AP)—People came from three states today to look at the body of a red-haired woman who was strangled and left nude along a roadside—but none of them knew her.

Police turned to the FBI in Washington in the hope that fingerprints might help solve the mystery suddenly thrust on this northeastern West Virginia health resort.

The body of the woman, about 35 years old, was found yesterday by a mushroom hunter. Doctors said she had been dead three or four days.

Dogs In Chase of Boy On a Motor Bike

Two large dogs took out after Billy Miller, 424 East Howard street, Wednesday afternoon while he was riding his motor bike, in the 1800 block on South Prospect cousing him to wreck the bike and skinning his hands. The mishap was reported to the police.

Advance on The Stock Market

NEW YORK, May 11—(AP)—The stock market closed a little higher today in the face of considerable oppisition.

Gains ranged to around a point for favored issues. Most advances were fractional, though, and a liberal handful of shares coasted along in minus territory.

The market showed a tendency to slip early this morning. Demand for radio-television issues suddenly developed and helped give the entire list a boost. Around mid-session opposition developed and in most cases the day's best prices were shaved.

TV stocks gained as much as 2 points before falling back.

A fair amount of business was done, with turnover at the rate of around 1,700,000 shares for the full day.

Some rails—not affected by the strike—edged ahead, among them Illinois Central, Chesapeake and Ohio, and Northern Pacific.

Higher prices were paid most of the day for Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, Philco, Zenith, Motorola, American Telephone, international Telephone, Western Union, Du Pont, Philip Morris, Sinclair Oil, Gulf Oil and Loew's.

Marked down were General Motors, Distillers Corp., Kennecatt Copper, Allied Chemical, General Electric, and Johns-Manville.

Railway issues slipped in the bond market.

Quickly Settle Fender Crimping

A peaceful settlement was negotiated this morning, concerning an auto collision.

Police officer Cecil Smith, 324 North Summit avenue, driving a 1949 Chevrolet police car, and Theodore Klindworth, 518 North Stewart avenue, driving a 1937 Dodge coupe were in collision about 9:45 o'clock this morning between Fifth and Sixth streets on Lamine avenue. A front fender damage to each vehicle was the only damage.

Smith's statement was: "I was going north on Lamine avenue with the red light and siren on, when the car in front of me, made a left turn into the alley. I could not stop in time to keep from hitting him."

Klindworth's statement: "I was going north on Lamine, turned into alley. I did not hear the police car and did not see it until he hit me."

Auto Plates Unclaimed

There are 13 state auto and truck license plates unclaimed at the police station.

These license plates were lost by motorists during the past month and were picked up by police or brought to the station by the finder of the lost licenses.

To Try Fifteen In Fraud Case

WICHITA, May 11—(AP)—Fifteen men will go on trial in federal court here May 29 on charges of conspiracy and interstate commerce in stolen grain.

Trial dates for 19 other men on similar charges will be set later.

Federal Judge Arthur J. Mellott scheduled the first trial after the 34 men pleaded innocent at their arraignment yesterday.

The government charges that the men manipulated scales at country elevators and bought more grain than they paid for, then trucked the grain across state lines for resale.

Kansas attorney general Harold M. Fatzer has estimated that midwest country elevators have been defrauded of $100,000 in the last year by such operations.

Defendants in the first trial will be Fred A. Carlson, Oklahoma City; Charles C. Griffey of Maryville, Mo.; Smiley F. Griffey, Fremont, Neb.; Paul Pratt, Omaha; Jerry A. Spargur, Clarinda, Iowa; E. D. Ditto, Charles E. Dixon, Allen B. Greep, John Thomas Holt, Melvin L. McNutt, Earl Murray, Jr., Max Reimer, Wayne Sisco, John L. Owens and William L. Watts of St. Joseph, Missouri.

Baptist Opposed To Vatican Post

CHICAGO, May 11—(AP)—The Southern Baptist convention Wednesday asked Pres. Truman not to appoint a successor to Myron Taylor as the presidential representative to the Vatican.

The 10,000 messengers (delegates) unanimously passed the resolution offered by Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist church, Atlanta, Ga., and chairman of the Baptist committee on circulation campaigns.

Taylor's post has been vacant since his resignation in January.

The convention also officially set the date of the next assembly for June 20-24, 1951, at San Francisco.

The messengers' petition to President Truman asks him "to immediately terminate the office of representative of our government to the vatican and the embassy created by such appointment in 1939."

Dr. J. M. Dawson, Washington, D. C., in a report from the joint conference on public relations, said the "Roman Catholic-Church-State" exerted powerful control over strategic positions in nearly all the large periodicals and daily papers."

The report said the Roman Catholic church through such "suppresses, colors or uses to its personal advantage" the press.

Fire Destroys A Windsor Elevator

The Farmers Co-op Elevator in Windsor was completely destroyed by fire shortly before noon Wednesday. W. M. Acher, manager of the co-op estimated the loss at about twenty-five or thirty thousand dollars. The building and its contents was partly covered by insurance.

Acher said he believed the fire orginated due to defective wiring. The blaze started about fifty feet up on the elevator and was first discovered by Harold Sims, worker at the co-op, about 11:00 a. m.

The volunteer fire department was called out and they attempted to squelch the blaze, but were unable to do so because of the heighth involved. Late Wednesday evening the building was still burning and smoldering. The structure was built in 1922 and has been occupied by the Farmers Co-op since 1930.

The 10,000 bushel elevator was located at 500 West Jackson street.

Pettis County Cattle Win At The Royal

Seluhm Skyrocket Is Second Owned By E. M. Mosby

KANSAS CITY, May 11—(AP)—Seven Jersey cows and a bull owned by Missouri dairymen were selected Wednesday as the championship district herd at the American Royal Dairy Cattle Show.

A herd owned by Kansas breeders was second, and an Oklahoma herd was third.

Championship Herd

Owners of animals in the championship herd were Camfield Jersey farm, Neosho; H. B. McDaniel, Earl McDaniel and W. E. McDaniel, all of Carthage; Charley Weich, Neosho, and Percy R. Smith, Joplin.

In the Holstein judging, HRW Pontiac Ormsby, owned by G. W. Crosson & Son, Drexel, Mo., was named senior and grand champion bull. Rockwood Rag Apple Remus, owned by Otho Davidson, Sperry, Okla., won both reserve titles.

The Holstein calf champion was Dondell Harmony Homestead King, owned by Donald Hopkins, Clearwater, Kas. Second place went to Seluhm Skyrocket, owned by E. M. Mosby, Sedalia, Mo.

Junior Championship Bull

The junior champion bull event in the Holstein division was won by Tabur Cheftain Sunshine, owned by C. C. Bretches of Grandview. The reserve junior champion was Thamesview Monogram Pirate, owned by T. A. Burgeson, also of Grandview.

J. B. Fitch, head of the dairy department at the University of Minnesota, judged the Jersey division. The Holstein judge was A. C. Thomson manager of the Hickory Creek Farm, McHenry, Ill.

Owners of animals in the Kansas Jersey herd which placed second were J. Lawrence Byler, Wellington; L. D. Rigg and son, Leon Rigg; John Weir, Jr., Geuda Springs, and Frank L. Young, Cheney.

Flaming Wreckage Is Under Control

KREMLIN, Okla., May 10—(AP)—Fire experts from the Champlin refinery at Enid finally brought under control today the flaming wreckage of a Rock Island freight train which bolted from the tracks and caught fire near here last night.

Two trainmen perished in the fire. They were Tom Kelley, 40, head brakeman, and Darryl Burrows, 31, fireman, both of El Reno.

Burrow's body was removed from the wreckage an hour after the fire was controlled.

Railway officials said 27 or the 53 car train are destroyed and 9 others badly damaged.

District supervisor W. D. Pace said it will be two or three days before the line will be cleared and traffic resumed north.

Pace reported heavy rains hamper workmen and the rails must be repaired and a new bridge built over Wild Horse creek.

Cause of the wreck has not been determined. Trainmen believe heavy rains weakened the roadbed.

Engineer George Gholston, 59, of El Reno, leaped to safety but received minor injuries. A. J. McCallough, 55, rear brakeman, escaped injury.

Conductor William Propper was only slightly hurt.

"The whole train seemed just to rare up. Then the front part twisted and left the tracks."

Oklahoma Bus Strike Called Off

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 11—(AP)—Officials of the Mid-Continent Trailways Bus Company and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen have announced a strike by approximately 60 union bus drivers has been called off and that the dispute which resulted in their strike April 28 will be submitted to arbitration.

The bus line serves cities in Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas.

Announcement of the agreement to arbitrate the dispute was made in a joint statement by Kenneth T. Wilson, vice president and general manager of the company, and E. B. Welcome, deputy president of the union.

The bus drivers struck following a dispute over dismissal of driver Fay Evans.

The Mid-Continent officials said operation of bus line schedules would be resumed immediately with the first bus leaving the Oklahoma City terminal at 11:40 p. m. for Wichita Falls, Tex. The company hopes to have normal schedules operating within three or four days.

Under the agreement announced today an arbitration board of three members will be appointed, one by the Mid-Continent Company, one by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the third member to be appointed by the other two. If the two partisan arbitrators cannot agree on the third member within ten days, the governor and labor commissioner of the state of Oklahoma will appoint the third, neutral, member.

Counterfeit Ring Has Been Smashed

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder announced last night the Secret Service has smashed a million-dollar syndicate which passed counterfeit money in 28 of the 48 states and in Canada.

The arrest of two men in Buffalo, N. Y., appeared to wind up the case, Snyder said.

Secret service chief U. E. Baughman said the group had printed $500,000 in Canadian bill counterfeits and about $500,000 in U. S money counterfeits in the course of its operations.

Baughman said the syndicate was broken up by the secret service after four months of intensive work.

Baughman told a reporter, however, that about $45,000 in the counterfeit U. S. money—fake $10 and $20 federal reserve notes—was passed on victims in 28 states, before the ring was broken up.

Another $280,000 was seized before it was put into circulation, he added, and further counterfeit notes may now be in the hands of "passers," although members of the syndicate claim they were destroyed.

More than 10 men have been arrested as having principal roles in the counterfeit syndicate, Baughman said, and another 64 persons have been picked up in various cities on charges of acting as passers.

He described the case as probably the most important crackdown against counterfeiting in years.

The syndicate's counterfeit passing operations extended across the country from "Connecticut to California, and Maine to Texas," Baughman said.

Recommend More Missouri Airports

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Administration listed 191 places in Missouri and 159 in Kansas at which it believes airports should be built or improved.

They are part of a national total of 5,093. The listing, required annually under the federal airport act of 1946, is based on the CAA's estimates of demands for air service in the next three years.

California headed the list with projects costing $93,173,000 (M). Next was Missouri where the plan calls for the construction of 123 airports and improvements to 68 to cost $60,578,000 (M). Plans call for $25,251,000 in federal funds matched by $35,327,000 raised under local sponsorship.

The Kansas program calls for 59 new airports and improvements to 100 others at a total cost of $14,572,000. Of this amount $6,967,000 would be in federal funds and $7,605,000 in locally sponsored funds.

Included in the Kansas list are three seaplane bases at Ellsworth, Horton and Topeka.

Locations chosen for actual work will be selected, the CAA said, on the basis of greatest need and on the amount of money Congress will appropriate for such purposes.

The construction list for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1950, will not be announced until after Congress acts on the general appropriation bill now under consideration.

Home Opener For Cubs Friday Night

Sedalia Semi-Pro Club Host to the J. C. Dodgers

The home opener for the Sedalia Cubs, Sedalia's only semi-pro baseball team, will be this Friday night at 8:00 o'clock, under the lights of Liberty park against the hard hitting Jefferson City Dodgers, a Negro team.

Mayor Herb E. Studer will pitch the first ball and Sheriff John Taylor will be behind the plate in the opening ceremony. Jack Alpert, manager of the Cubs said a lot of advanced tickets have been sold for this game and he expects a large turnout.

Some new faces will be seen in the Cub's lineup. Jim Taylor, who played last year for the Sedalia team but has been playing with the Holden club, will be on third base for the Cubs. Cliff Barr will move from third base to the catcher's position. A new shortstop will play that night for the Cubs, Carl Cassing of Warrensburg, who played on the CMSC basketball team last season. He stands six eet, two inches and weighs 195 pounds.

Cubs' Star Hurler

The fans will have a chance to look over the Cubs' star pitcher Bob Rapp tomorrow night. The 20-year-old right hander, who has a good curve and knuckle ball will be on the mound, with Cliff Barr behind the plate. Rapp pitched a 3 to 2 victory at the start of the season against Mendon and hurled a near victory last Sunday, when the club lost to Armstrong 6 to 5.

The Dodgers' battery was not available at this writing but indications show that the team has a lot on the ball and is a hard hitting outfit. Last Sunday the Negro team defeated Boonville to the tune of 21 to 1. The team is made up mostly of last year's Eagles and Mohawks of Jefferson City.

Pro And Con Discussion On Balk Rule

Most Managers In Big Leagues Favor The Rule

By Joe Reichler

NEW YORK, May 11—(AP)—It may come as a surprise to many to learn that a majority of the major league managers look upon the new balk rule with whole hearted favor.

An Associated Press canvass of baseball's top strategists showed today that nine managers like the rule and four are opposed. Two declined to venture an opinion and one was neutral.

Managers who want a new balk deal are Ed Sawyer of the Phillies, Leo Durocher of the Giants, Frankie Frisch of the Cubs and Casey Stengel of the Yankees.

No Fault With Rule

Those who have found no fault with the rule, or rather the new interpretation of the rule, included Joe McCarthy, Red Sox; Jack Onslow, White Sox; Red Rolfe, Tigers; Connie Mack, Athletics; Zack Taylor, Browns; Bucky Harris, Senators; Burt Shotton, Dodgers; Billy Meyer, Pirates and Eddie Dyer, Cardinals.

With one or two exceptions, however, they insisted on more uniformity in the interpretation of the rule by the umpires.

"The umpires should get together and call it as of one mind," was the general reaction. "All it needs to work is for the umpires to agree on the timing. Right now one umpire waits only a half-second, another three-quarters of a second and third doesn't call it at all."

The most vehement of the managers was Sawyer.

"Ought to Junk it"

"They ought to junk it," he said "and return to the way it was last year. It's the silliest thing I ever heard of. What's the reason for the rule, anyway? I guess the races were too close last year, the fans had too much excitement, too much fun, so the guys with the pencils decided they would slow down the thrills."

There have been 48 balks called against pitchers thus far, 29 in the National league. Last year only 46 were called in both legaues all season.

Actually there are 13 ways a pitcher can balk. All were in the book last year except No. 13, which reads, " a balk shall be called if the pitcher delivers the ball from a set position without coming to a stop of one full second."

Other Views

Here's how the protesting managers other than Sawyer, view it:

Durocher — "It's a donkey rule —not workable. Every umpire has his own version of calling the thing. The result? All is confusion."

Frisch —"We're headed for real trouble with this one."

Stengel — "Some pretty good pitchers have been hurt by it. Already it has been instrumental in losing a couple of games for some clubs."

Indians Hold Top Spot in American Ass'n

K. C. Blues Are In Sixth Place In The Standings

By the Associated Press

Indianapolis' pace setting Indians gained more ground in the American Association race last night.

The Indians pounded out a 9-2 victory over Milwaukee while Toledo helped things for Indianapolis by beating second-place Minneapolis, 5-3.

St. Paul committed eight errors —five of them in the sixth inning —in losing to Columbus, 13-11. The number of bobbles in the sixth is believed to be a single inning record for the association.

Kansas City's tilt with Louisville was postponed because of wet grounds.

A Shelling for Reliefer

Rookie Fred Strobel in his first start for the Indians rationed the Brewers to six hits. His teammates gave him a good start—four runs in the first inning — on a single, an error, a triple by Al Grunwald and two more singles. Indianapolis collected four more runs in the seventh when reliefer Ray Martin underwent a shelling.

Toledo also had good results with a pitcher making a first appearance—Eddie Neville. He retired the last two batters to save the Mudhens after he came in to relieve Ken Fremming. The Millers had one run in and runners on second and third and only one out when Neville got the call. Fremming got credit for the win, however. He held the Millers to three hits until the trouble started in the ninth. Dave Barnhill was the victim.

In the error-laden game at Columbus, Louis Arroyo, third Red Bird pitcher, got credit for the victory although he got aid from Gene Major. Starter Phil Haugstad was charged with the defeat.

Tonight's schedule and probable pitchers:

Milwaukee (Elliott) at Indianapolis (Riddle).

Kansas City (unavailable) at Louisville (unavailable).

Minneapolis (Babala) at Toledo (Marlowe).

St. Paul (Taylor) at Columbus (Major).

Glaviano Has Fine Record With Cards

He Has Reached Base 37 Times In 15 Games

ST. LOUIS, May 11—(AP)—Little Tommy Glaviano has "learned to play" but it was inevitable as far as Tommy was concerned.

Glaviano, never a backward youth, always knew he could make good at baseball.

As a kid of 17 he played shortstop for the St. Louis Cardinal's Class C Fresno, Calif. farm club. One day in 1941 Branch Rickey, No. 2 man in the Redbird organization at the time, made his annual tour of inspection at Fresno.

Glaviano tells how he busted right into the office and charged up to Rickey:

"Say," Tommy shouted. "What is the big idea of keeping me here in this Class C joint? I'm a major league ball player."

Glaviano said Rickey came back with:

Rickey's Remark

"My boy, you are very small. But you are sturdy and you have strong legs. You may last long in this game — once you learn to play."

Branch Rickey isn't around to reap the benefits but owner Fred Saigh and Manager Eddie Dyer are well pleased with Glaviano's present .379 batting average.

While holding down the leadoff batting spot and playing third base like it hasn't been played around Sportsman's Park for some time, he has reached base 37 times in 15 games.

That's 15 walks and 22 hits. He has batted in 10 runs and has hit safely in the past eight games.

After a bad spring season he broke into the lineup in Chicago April 22.

Told to Hit Strikes

"He looked bad down south, mostly because he had a bad arm," Eddie remarked. "We told him when we put him on third at Chicago that he had a chance to be a fine hitter if he'd hit only strikes and lay off the bad pitches. He's studied it. He's had great eye."

Dyer hopes Tommy never forgets how to play.

Spotlight on Stan Musial In National

First Baseman Had A Big Night With 4 Hits And a Walk

By Jack Hand
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Best bet of 1950 is Stan Musial to become the National League's first .400 hitter in 20 years.

Not since Bill Terry smacked the ball for a .401 mark in 1930, has a National Leaguer ventured into the stratosphere. Now Musial, the St. Louis Cardinal slugger, is only one hit shy of .500 at .483.

First base seems to agree with Musial. Ever since Manager Eddie Dyer gave up on Steve Bilko and moved Stan from right field to first, he has drilled holes in the fences.

Big Splurge

The big splurge really started when Musial returned to the lineup after a six-day layoff due to a sprained knee. Since his return Stan has 18 hits in 30 at bats or .533. And he hasn't reached Ebbets field, his happy hunting ground. That comes next week.

Only two pitchers horse collared Musial so far. Cliff Chambers turned him back hitless the second night of the season.

Joe Hatten got him out May 1 as a pinch hitter.

Musial had his biggest night of the season yesterday with four singles and a walk in the Cards' 5-1 victory over the New York Giants behind Max Lanier's seven-hitter.

Brooklyn was knocked out of first place by the Cincinnati Reds, 4-0, on Ken Raffensberger's three-hit job. It was Raffy's first win, snapping the Reds seven-game losing streak.

Phillies on Top

As a result of the Dodgers' loss, the idle Phillies moved to the top of the heap for the first time since opening day. The Phils' day game at Pittsburgh was rained out.

Chicago took advantage of four Boston errors to trim the Braves, 6-3. Doyle Lade needed help from Paul Minner to earn his first win at the expense of Warren Spahn.

Rain washed out the big goings in the American League, postponing the Detroit-Boston game at Senway park and the New York Yankee-St. Louis Browns game. All concerned play doubleheaders today.

Nothing seems to stop that Washington club which clicked off its fourth straight, 7-6, over Chicago. The Senators broke loose for five runs in a big fifth inning rally sparked by Ed Stewart's pinch triple.

Cleveland snapped a four-game losing streak by scoring three unearned runs with two out in the ninth for a 6-4 win over Philadelphia.

Aggies Are Favorites to Retain Titles

Missouri Valley Sports Carnival Opens Friday

PEORIA, Ill., May 11—(AP)—The powerful Aggies of Oklahoma A and M are good bets to retain all four titles in the two-day Missouri Valley spring sports carnival tomorrow and Saturday.

The Aggies are considered a shoo-in for track and also are favored in baseball, golf and tennis.

Champions from 1949 are back in every event but one in track, where the brilliant cowboys are expected to take their tenth straight championship.

In past performances this season, the Aggies have beaten conference records in five events. They flashed below the 440 yard and mile relay marks despite a soggy track at the Drake relays. Harold Tarrant in the 880 and Dick Stolpe in the 440 are in a class alone. Behind them, the Oklahomans are expected to take three more places.

Broad Jump

John Voight has leaped 24 feet, 10 ½ inches in the broad jump. A trio of Aggie sprinters clocked between :09.5 and :09.8 may dethrone Drake's Don Pettie, the Canadian Olympic entry who took both dashes last year.

Bradley of Peoria is expected to be involved in a fight for second place with Detroit and Drake. Bradley has Roy Grieve, a double hurdles winner, and high jumper Jack Heintzman back. Heintzman has a peak jump of 6 feet, 7 3/8 inches and is given an excellent chance of breaking the four year old conference record of 6-5.

Paul Efaw of A and M, who has flirted with the regions below 9:30, is out of reach in the two mile run. The mile—only event without a defending titleholder—also is expected to go the Aggies.

Baseball Title

Oklahoma A and M and Bradley are involved in a rematch of last year's two out of three playoff for the baseball title. The Braves carry a 12-8 record in the Valley's north division, against the 15-3 mark of the Aggies in the southern bracket.

Baseball games Friday afternoon and Friday night will be followed by another Saturday night if necessary. The Aggies mopped up the series in two games last spring.

Bo Winninger of A and M is back in search of his fourth straight individual conference crown in golf after a nine under par mark for 54 holes last spring. Winninger was Oklahoma state amateur champion two years ago, and last week he went to the quarter finals of the Western Amateur.

In Tennis, the Aggies appear invincible. Their duo of Buddy McCune and Paul Hurley won the Valley doubles crown and finished one-two in the singles. McCune was the conference singles king in 1948, but last year was beaten by Hurley, then a sophomore.

Browns Aren't Doing Well in Court Either

ST. LOUIS, May 11—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns, sharing last place in the American League with the Chicago White Sox, aren't doing so well in court either.

The club's motion for a new trial in its effort to evict the St. Louis Cardinals from Sportsman's park was overruled yesterday by Circuit Judge Robert L. Aronson.

The Browns own the park, but both clubs use it for their home games. Judge Aronson ruled May 1 the Browns can't throw the Cardinals out of the park until a lease expires in 1961.

The Cardinals expect to have their own park before that time.

Little Rock Travelers Have Losing Record

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 11—(AP)—The Little Rock Travelers became the first team in Southern Association history to lose 21 straight games—even though they pulled a triple play—as they fell before the Nashville Vols, 7-1, here last night.

Modern Bowler of Detroit took over third place in the team standings with a total of 2,916 pins—good enough last year to land fourth place and $1000 in prize money.

Joe Paullus, the lead-off Kegler, led the team with a 646 series. The Detroiters collected 944-914-1058—2,916.

A pair of Californians, Art Lifquist and Weldon Ramey of Los Angeles, rolling in doubles, hit a 494, highest single game of doubles play this year. But, a poor first game kept them from the first ten.

State High School Track Meet May 13

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 11—(AP)—Twenty-six schools have entered teams in the class A state high school track and field meet which opens here tomorrow with preliminary events.

Kirkwood, the defending champion, will be back with 17 contestants, but without the services of three men who won titles a year ago.

University City, victor in the indoor meet, will have 13 entered. Springfield, second place winner, will have 23, and St. Louis Christian Brothers 15. Christian Brothers and Kansas City Central tied for third place in the indoor event.

The only 1949 individual champions to return are Bob Boyd of Columbia, high jumper, and Jack Hodges, Webster Groves, half miler.

Preliminaries will be run Friday afternoon and the finals Saturday.

American Won Mexican Car Race

EL OCOTAL, Mexico, May 11—(AP)—After driving 2,150 miles in six days, Hershel McGriff of Portland, Ore., today was $17,381 richer for winning Mexico's border-to-border stock car race.

The race which began last Friday in Ciudad Juarez on the U.S. border ended here yesterday on the Guatemalan frontier. McGriff, driving a 1950 Oldsmobile, had a winning time of 27 hours, 34 minutes and 25 seconds. His winning margin was one minute, 16 seconds.

Second money of $11,570 went to Tom Deal of El Paso, Tex., whose time was 27:39:41. He drove a cadillac. Ray Pat Connor of El Paso was third in a Nash, clocked in 27:50.35. His third prize was $5,785.

The race was contested over flat, straight desert highway, curving mountain roads and, in the last lap, over washed-out gravel. The event opened Mexico's stretch of the Pan American highway. McGriff averaged 89 miles per hour.

Of the first 10 in the race, six were Americans. Al Rogers, of Colorado Springs, driving a Cadillac, was fourth in 27:55:39.

The race brought three deaths. Enrique Hachmeister, a Guatemalan driver, was killed the first day. On the third day, two spectators died when a racer ran into the crowd.

Fifty-seven of the original 132 starting cars finished the race.

Mrs. Lee And Miss Riley Meet in Quarterfinals

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., May 11—(AP)— Mrs. Margaret Gunther Lee, of Memphis, Tenn., set out today to conquer an old jinx—little Polly Riley, of Fort Worth, Texas—in the quarterfinals of the Women's Southern Amateur golf championship.

At least four other times during their careers, Mrs. Lee faced Miss Riley in a golf match. And all four times Miss Riley came out the winner.

The Lee-Riley match was today's headliner in this test over the 6,065-yard layout at the Cavalier yacht and country club.

The other matches pair Mary Lena Faulk, of Thomasville, Ga., and Mary Ann Downey, of Baltimore, Md.; Dorothy Kirby, of Atlanta, and Ann Sparrow, of Tampa, Fla.; and Bee McWane, of Birmingham, Ala., and Betty Mackinnon, of Mt. Pleasant, Texas.

Miss McWane, Alabama women's titlist, disposed of Mrs. Carle Robbins, of Fort Smith, Ark., 8 and 7 yesterday.

Miss Sparrow advanced with a 3 and 1 triumph over Mrs. Dedow Sparks, of Nashville, Tenn. Miss Mackinnon routed Frances Rich, of Bainbridge, Ga., 8 and 7.

Mrs. Katt's quads: "Aren't they beauties?"

There's something about spring that brings out the beasts and when the beasts are out the photographers aren't far behind, as these photos prove. In Brooklyn, O., police chief Roger James got doggone tired of vagrant dogs roaming the streets. So he rounded 'em up. They are seen, at left, in the village cooler waiting for their owners to pay possible fines of $5 to $200 to liberate them. Students at Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, drafted Joy Boy, a horse, to play the role of a dean in a dramatic skit. All went well until they tried to get Joy Boy to walk down a flight of stairs — which he had walked up willingly — to get out of the building. All of Tech's men couldn't budge Joy Boy, until his owner came and coaxed him down the stairs backwards.

At the circus in Chicago, Maggy, the chimpanzee, a natural born performer, looks pleased with herself as she shows how easy it is to walk a tightrope — when you've got feet designed for the job.

In Cleveland, O., Mrs. Katt wandered expectantly into Glenville hospital, ignored a sign reading, "All Deliveries in Rear," and presented the hospital with its first set of quads.

IN THE DOGHOUSE—Cooling their paws in the village hoosegow are these young canine vagrants at Brooklyn, O., a Cleveland suburb. The town's police chief, Roger James, declared a crackdown on wandering pups and rounded all he could snare. Brooklyn has no dog pound so Chief James takes them to the local jail until their owners bail them out at fines ranging from $5 to $200.

RELUCTANT ACTOR—Joy Boy, the horse drafted by students at Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, to play the role of a dean in a dramatic sketch, presented a problem in staging. Joy Boy went upstairs to the second floor auditorium quite willingly, but after his act he refused to go back down. All the might of these students wasn't enough to budge him. Finally, his owner arrived and coaxed the horse down the steps backwards.

SHE'S A NATURAL — Maggy, one of a group of talented chimpanzees appearing at a circus in Chicago, looks well-pleased with herself as she shows how easy it is to walk a tightrope—when you've got feet that are built for the job.

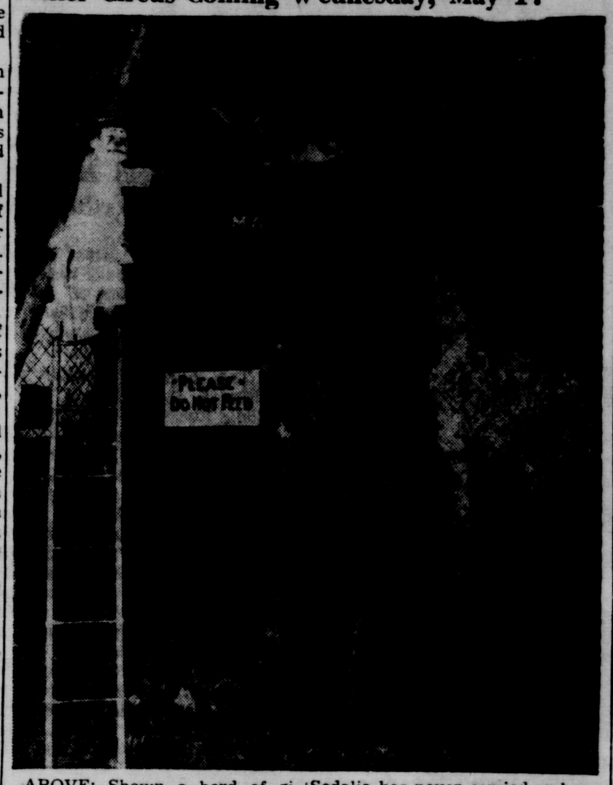
Herd of Giraffes Featured With Al G. Kelly-Miller Circus Coming Wednesday, May 17



ABOVE: Shown a herd of giraffes and a midget clown, comparing the height of the animals, which are said to be tallest of all animals. This herd of giraffes are a recent addition to the large collection of animals carried with the Al G. Kelly-Miller Bros. Circus scheduled to play an afternoon and night engagement at the West U. S. 50 Highway grounds in Sedalia on Wednesday, May 17.

Big Circus Brings First Giraffes to This City

The average circus that visits Sedalia has never carried or boasted of exhibiting a herd of giraffes. The Al G. Kelly-Miller Bros. and Ringling-Barnum Circus are the only two American Circuses now exhibiting Giraffes and only seven zoological institutions in the nation have them as an attraction.

Giraffes which are found only in the continent of Africa are the tallest of all living creatures. They belong to the ruminants, or cud-chewers and naturalists are inclined to place them somewhere between the deer family and the hollow-horned ruminants in which are to be found oxen, buffaloes and antelopes.

The towering height of the giraffe is entirely attributable to the great length of the neck and limbs. A full grown giraffe will measure approximately nineteen feet in height. Giraffes live mostly in forests or wooded country.

Undoubtedly this will be the first time any circus has ever brought giraffes to Sedalia.

The Al G. Kelly-Miller Bros. Circus boasts this year of having the second largest herd of performing elephants in America and the most varied selection of wild animals ever with any circus, the management of the circus cordially invites the public to visit the showgrounds upon arrival of the circus to see the many animals fed and watered, especially school students. This feeding and watering is usually done at nine a. m. show day.

K. C. Gamblers Thwart Police Raid Squads

Chief Johnson Tells Grand Jury Annual Take $34,500,000

KANSAS CITY, May 11—(AP)—Elaborate precautions taken by Kansas City gamblers to thwart police raiding squads were outlined by Chief of Police Henry W. Johnson.

His report on gambling raids for 1947, 1948 and 1949 was an answer to a federal grand jury report which told of a $34,500,000 a year gambling take in Kansas City.

One "Spot" Raided 54 Times

Fifty-four times, his report said, police raided a dice game at 3111 Holmes St., a place which the grand jury said netted $200,000 in eight months of operation in 1948.

But in none of the raids was any evidence of gambling found the report said because "admittance to the alleged gambling room was delayed until all the evidence was eliminated."

"The club was equipped with locked and barred doors leading to the room in which the gambling was reported carried on," Chief Johnson said. "A buzzer system warning of a police raid was sounded the moment officers entered the building.

"From time to time officers were forced to break down the first of the doors leading to the game room. The second door was heavy steel with three cross bars that dropped into steel holders embeded in cement. This door could not be forced with anything less than a battering ram."

Apparently that was not enough protection, the chief noted, for in subsequent raids the officers found a third door had been installed between the two.

List 15 In The Venture

The grand jury in its interim report of underworld activities in Kansas City listed 15 partners in the venture, among them an assistant county prosecutor and the county superintendent of buildings.

Another elaborate warning system was at the Fifteenth Street Merchants Association at 1510½ Charlotte, the chief reported.

Here, he said:

"An electric eye about one foot from the top step sounded a warning signal when anyone crossed it. Inside the first door was a lookout. The door was equipped with a panel of transparent mirror glass, which prevents anyone from seeing anything beyond the door, but permitting the lookout to view anyone trying to gain entrance. Two doors farther along the hall leading to the gaming room were similarly equipped. By the time admittance could be gained to the so-called club room all gambling evidence had disappeared."

Chief Johnson said police arrested 2,247 persons on gambling charges in 1949, as compared with 2,707 in 1948 and 2,953 in 1947.

PROPS CUT NEW SWATHS—At East Hartford, Conn., George Rosen, chief aerodynamicist for United Aircraft, looks over one of many radically-designed, high-speed propellers used to determine the most effective shape of blades. Research is now concentrated on refining the square-tipped, rectangular-shaped blades, similar to those on the airplane in the background.

that enables students in the classroom to hear the bedridden student; and a microphone unit located near the teacher's desk.

Hickey said the new unit, if it works out as well as expected, will give the student more school work in less time and help the student feel he is still part of the class although confined to bed.

At present 18 public school teachers are teaching 82 handicapped children in their homes. Because of the distance between homes the most instruction any child can receive is six hours a week.

A Pulitzer Prize Winner A Suicide

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 11—(AP)—John Gould Fletcher, noted Arkansas writer and first southern poet to win a Pulitzer prize, was found dead near his country home here today. Coroner Howard A. Dishongh said it was apparent suicide.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Sam Hallum reported that the body of the 64-year-old author was found in a pond west of Little Rock.

Hallum said he and two deputies were called to Fletcher's home by the poet's sister, Mrs. D. D. Terry, wife of a former Arkansas congressman, who reported her brother was ill and had wandered away.

The first search was fruitless and the officers gave up. Later, they received another call that a man's coat, hat and watch had been found near a pond. They went to the scene and found the body in ten feet of water.

Dishongh said he found no marks of violence on the body or evidence of foul play.

Fletcher won the Pulitzer prize for poetry in 1939 for his "Seleted Poems."

It is estimated that 2,326,000 big game animals now are living in the national forests of the United States.

Ripley Curios Are Exhibited

Curiosities, oddities and art objects acquired during the travels of Robert Ripley are being exhibited in front of the court house on Ohio avenue. The mobile exhibit, mounted in a special custom built trailer, is being exhibited throughout the United States, under the auspices of Disabled American Veterans.

Chapter Charies Irbin Tarr No. 7 of Sedalia is sponsoring the tour today and Thursday in this city. The exhibit is free, but voluntary donations will be accepted. In charge of the exhibition is Bill Vandoren of New York.

Some of the many sights shown in the trailer which has "Bob Ripley's Believe It or Not" painted on the side are: Gold plated monastery of Knasty, a wooden man which grew into form from the root of a cherry tree, a Rosary of human bones; a prayer wheel, and according to Tibet religion, one spin of the wheel means 3,000 prayers set for a person. A Chinese float made entirely of blue bird feathers and many other "Believe It Or Not" oddities.

Fred D. Morley is commander of the local chapter of Disabled American Veterans.

Picture on Wildlife at Lions Meeting

Brief Explanatory Talk is Given By Agent Stuesse

A motion picture on wildlife was presented at the Sedalia Lions club Wednesday by the Mo. Conservation Commission, through William H. Stuesse, agent, and Otis Thorburn, field section service agent. Agent Stuesse also gave a brief talk preceeding the showing of the picture on several changes in the rules of the Commission.

The Red Fox which has become a general nuisance was one portion of his talk. Steusse remarked on complaints the Commission has received on this animal. He explained the farmer has a right to protect his property and killing of the red fox under those circumstances is lawful.

He told of fishing for bass in private waters and also explained the fishing of ponds should be done to protect the fish themselves. By this he means, population of ponds can grow too large resulting in a shortage of foods and resulting in scrub fish and so on. The Commission urges the owners of such ponds to fish them.

Bass season opens on May 30 on state wide basis.

The motion picture was on the life of prairie chickens of several types.

It was announced the Lions will sponsor the annual Air Show at the Sedalia Municipal air field the dates are to be set later. The club is also sponsoring a model airplane contest.

Joe Elliott called attention to the annual "White Cane Week" starting on May 15.

Guests today were Jim Duane, member of the Kansas City South Side Lions club, and Clyde Damewood, Sedalia; S/Sgt. John Stacy, recruiting officer, guest of Joe Elliott; Bill Wright, guest of Mayor Herb Studer. Winston Grubbs, Town and Country, was introduced as a new member of E. B. Smith.

The program was in charge of Virgil Ragar.

A. W. Haller, president, presided.

"... extraordinary! It just keeps repeating: Creamo's the only margarine made with cream" (see column at right)

CREAMO ONLY MARGARINE WITH CREAM

5 to 1 choose Creamo in Taste-Test

A check of margarine brands confirms the report that only one margarine is made with cream. That margarine is Creamo. Margarine industry sales figures reveal Creamo Margarine's popularity has grown more rapidly than the average of all other brands combined since Creamo was made available for national distribution.

In tests against the most expensive type bread-spreads, school children chose Creamo Margarine 5 to 1. Tests like this prove Creamo's made-with-cream flavor is superior on bread and more delicious for frying, baking and seasoning other foods.

Users say Creamo's extra flavor goes farther, too.

It's here! Procter & Gamble's latest, great discovery!

NEW! PATENTED!

cheer

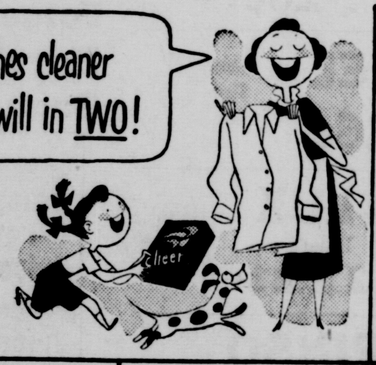
SO GOOD you get the cleanest possible wash with the least possible work!

Years of research and experimenting in Procter & Gamble's laboratories led to the discovery of the newest clothes-washing marvel—CHEER.

CHEER was tested and tested—under all kinds of washing conditions. And the job it did was SO GOOD it surpassed the highest expectations of its makers.

Now CHEER is ready for you! And Procter & Gamble promises that it will give you the cleanest possible wash with the least possible work.

SO GOOD it washes clothes cleaner in ONE wash than any soap will in TWO!



It's true! Laboratory tests prove that CHEER is so good it gets clothes cleaner in a single wash than any soap you ever used will in 2 washings!

SO GOOD you can get a bright, clean wash even WITHOUT RINSING!

It's true! CHEER can give you a sweet, clean wash even without rinsing. Because CHEER holds dirt. So, when you wring out the suds—away goes the dirt.

You get the cleanest possible wash any "no rinse" suds can offer!

But if you do rinse, CHEER's your best bet for a cleaner wash than you'll get with any soap—any other type of washing product.

SO GOOD you get a snowy-white wash with NO BLEACHING! NO BLUING!

Without bleaching, without bluing—without help from anything—CHEER washes your white things clean as fresh snow. Your colored things look bright as new paint. Yet for all its power, CHEER is kind to hands, safe for washable colors.

SO GOOD you get a film-free wash even IN HARDEST WATER!

CHEER suds come up thick and fast in water so hard the best soaps known give up the ghost. Leaves no sticky scum—in fact, CHEER removes the dulling film left on clothes by soap. You never need a water softener with CHEER!

SO GOOD you get a spanking-clean wash even WHEN HOT WATER RUNS LOW!

The hotter the water, the better the wash. But when the hot water runs low, CHEER won't let you down. Sturdy CHEER suds stand right up and go on fighting dirt and grease. Whatever the temperature, CHEER will give you a cleaner wash than any soap in the world will at the same temperature.

Try cheer once...and you'll cheer forever!

Automotive Hint

If leaking of water into the cylinders of an automobile motor is suspected, the spark plugs should be removed in quick succession after running the engine until it is hot. Steam escaping from any cylinder will indicate a leak.

Princess Fatemeh Has Been Forgiven

PARIS, May 10—(AP)—Princess Fatemeh of Iran and her American husband, Vincent Lee Hillyer, cemented their marriage in the graces of Iranian royalty today by being wed a second time at a glittering Moslem ceremony.

Hillyer, a 25-year-old writer from Los Banos, Calif., gave up his Roman Catholic religion for love of the pretty sister of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi and became a Moslem last Sunday.

An official Iranian source said the bride, 21, was restored automatically to her royal position by the marriage.

Angered at the first marriage, a town hall ceremony April 13 at Civitavecchia, Italy, the Shah had stripped his youngest sister of her royal preogratives, but promised forgiveness if she went through the Moslem religious rite.

Permit Granted To Remodel

A re-modeling permit was issued to Johns Auto Supply company, 120 South Osage avenue, naming Sievers Construction company as the contractor.

Dick Eckhoff, president of Johns Auto Supply, Inc., who took the business over last October, said the top floor of the large building would be torn down, and a new roof put on over the second floor story.

It was explained that the third story was built of frame work, whereas the other two stories were of brick construction. Eckhoff pointed out after completion around June 15, the building would look more up-to-date, especially when "old time decorations" are ripped off. The building is owned by Mrs. Flora E. Johns, whose husband before his death, six years ago, was engaged in the business.

Another building permit was issued to M.F.A. Central Missouri Co-Op, 212 West Pacific street, for the construction of two steel bins, with each one to hold a capacity of 2150 bushels of grain. The buildings will be used for grain storage.

Prices Again Move Upward

Foods Climb to Highest Level Since in August

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK, May -(AP)—Another series of price boosts here and there this week sharpens the debate over the prospects of inflation becoming a household word again.

Here is the packet of news:

Wool futures prices in New York at a new seasonal high; mills bidding on government orders for fabric now ask as much as 45 cents a yard more than they did last October; the Sydney (Australia) market strong, with the world supply of fine wools tightening.

Metals on the rise again; zinc up another half-cent to 12 cents a pound; copper price advances rumored, as the price of brass and copper products goes up; steel scrap firm after recent price advances; tin up again.

Tire prices expected to go up about five percent within a month; natural rubber prices, up 40 percent since last fall, holding fairly steady at the new highs; natural latex, the liquid rubber from which foam rubber products are made, now 35 cents a pound against 21 last summer; prospects for higher prices for latex products—auto cushions, mattresses and pillows.

Dressed pork prices up sharply this week; hogs inching up recently; spot prices for wheat, corn, beef, higher Tuesday; cocoa prices, up 20 percent in six weeks, still higher Tuesday, putting a squeeze on the candy maker.

Gasoline Is Firm

Gasoline prices holding firm after their recent climb to new highs in many parts of the country; eastern fuel oil dealers announcing that this summer they will not give any price discounts to lure householders into filling up their tanks early.

Whiskey drinkers being told once more that the price of Scotch is likely to hold where it is because of an unsatisfied world demand for limited supplies; but some brands of bourbon have come down in price recently.

And vacuum packed coffee continues to weaken in price under the determined resistance of the housewife; further cuts of two or three cents a pound this week by some roasters who have been unable to move their stocks.

But with several of the various wholesale commodity price indexes at their highest level since late 1948, the debate over the strength of the inflationary trend grows louder.

Observers point out that in most instances prices have not climbed back anywhere near their postwar highs. Even the rampant metals are still well below their peaks in spite of the recent steady recovery.

"BACCHANALIAN" BACK?—Kitty Kallen, radio and night club singer from Philadelphia, shows off the other side of her feminine charms to give support to the assertion of Monte Proser, New York night club operator and theatrical producer, that her back is "woman's greatest asset."

Divorce Is Petitioned

A petition for divorce was filed in circuit court this afternoon by Alice Emma Bush through her attorney, Frank T. Armstrong, against Lee Wyette Bush, alleging general indignities.

According to the petition, the couple was married on August 14, 1931 and separated on June 5, 1948. She is asking the custody of a minor child.

There are now only about 100 Chinese in Limehouse, London's Chinatown, and only one of these is a known opium smoker.

Approximately one-half of the world's 9,000,000 miles of highways is in the United States.

First Map to Show America at Auction

NEW YORK, May 9—(AP)—A world map—the first one that America ever got its name on—is to be sold at auction.

It's 443 years old, and its owner, Franz Joseph II, reigning prince of Liechtenstein, lays down one requirement for the sale:

Only bids exceeding $50,000 are acceptable.

The map, the only known copy of a world globular map printed in 1507, is believed the first to show the western hemisphere and to designate it "America."

The man who put America's name on the map was Martin Waldseemuller, a German mapmaker, who wrote that the new world should be called America because of the voyages into that area of Amerigo Vespucci.

The map, consisting of globular segments presumably designed to be cut out and shaped into a globe, was handed down to Prince Franz Joseph by his forbears.

Parke-Bernet Galleries announced the auction for May 24.

This Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Won A Case Against A&P

As almost everyone now knows, the anti-trust lawyers in Washington have brought a civil suit to destroy A&P. They ask the courts to order the dissolution of this company.

They say that this suit is based on the fact that they won a suit against us at Danville, Illinois, in 1946. They did. In that case, Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley made a decision against A&P.

Immediately thereafter, in a letter explaining his decision, Judge Lindley wrote:

"I have not condemned the A&P system. I have not made a finding which could be the basis for a suit of dissolution."

So, now we have the anti-trust lawyers saying that their suit to dissolve A&P is based on Judge Lindley's decision; while Judge Lindley himself says his decision could not be the basis for a suit of dissolution.

In previous ads we told you about the cases against A&P which the anti-trust lawyers lost. We promised to tell you about this case they won. Here is the story of the Danville case.

What Judge Lindley Objected To

At Danville, the anti-trust lawyers made all of the charges which they are again making against A&P today. They were substantially the same charges they had made and dropped at Dallas, Texas, after four federal judges had objected to some of them as "inflammatory."

In his decision, Judge Lindley was critical of some of our activities. He threw some of the charges out of court. He did not make any decision on others.

He even took occasion to praise A&P for the efficient job of food distribution it had done.

Judge Lindley said:

> "To buy, sell and distribute to a substantial portion of 130,000,000 people, one and three-quarter billion dollars worth of food annually at a profit of 1½ cents on each dollar, is an achievement one may well be proud of.
> "No place in the world I take it are people so well fed as in the United States. Nowhere else, I suppose, do food distributors accomplish efficient distribution at so low a margin of profit. In contrast, we are told in other nations the problem is not one of an adequate diet but one of no diet at all."

But Judge Lindley did find us in violation of the Sherman Act. He based his ruling on the dual role played by our fresh fruit and vegetable buying subsidiary, the Atlantic Commission Company, whereby that organization acted both as buying agent for A&P and as selling agent for growers.

Judge Lindley said:

> "If I assume for the purpose of disposition of this case that in general the policy of A&P was to operate within the law and attribute to defendants a desire to comply with the law, there still remains the conscious, knowing adoption by all defendants of a plan of action by the Atlantic Commission Company affecting every department of A&P and every retail store which cannot be squared with the intent and purpose of the act."

In his letter explaining the decision, Judge Lindley wrote: "I have condemned their practices through the Atlantic Commission Company."

Judge Lindley imposed fines totaling $175,000. When his decision was upheld by the Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago, we paid the fines. This ended the case—but we did not stop there.

What We Did To Correct This

In the light of the decision, we immediately set about reviewing our activities to be sure that there could never again be any criticism of our operations.

First, the Atlantic Commission Company abandoned the dual role to which Judge Lindley objected and which he said was the basis of his decision against us.

We did this even though the Atlantic Commission Company had been licensed for many years by the United States Department of Agriculture to act as both a buyer and seller of fresh fruits and vegetables.

The Atlantic Commission Company now only buys for A&P. In other words, we stopped doing the thing which Judge Lindley said put us in violation of the Sherman Act.

We made additional changes in other methods of operation which Judge Lindley had questioned at Danville, even though he did not base his decision on them.

We did even more than this!

We went down to Washington and asked the anti-trust lawyers what else they thought we should do to conform to their new interpretation of the vague anti-trust laws.

The only answer we ever got was that we should break up this company!

Despite their claim that they were not opposed to A&P's size, they insisted that we destroy this size.

Despite their claim that they were not opposed to our manufacturing operations, they insisted that we get rid of our factories which produce many of the fine foods you buy at A&P.

Despite their claim that they were not opposed to our low prices, they insisted that we destroy many of the efficiencies that make these low prices possible.

In other words, they insisted upon the dissolution of A&P.

We were still trying to find out from the anti-trust lawyers what else they thought we should do to conform to the law when they filed the current suit to destroy A&P.

Why, Then, Do They Want To Put A&P Out Of Business?

Ever since this suit was filed, the anti-trust lawyers have been making damaging statements that could seriously hurt our business if they were believed by the public.

They say that we were found guilty at Danville of all the charges they are making today.

This is not true. Judge Lindley did not sustain all of the charges of the anti-trust lawyers.

They say this suit is designed to enforce the law.

But A&P has clearly demonstrated its sincere desire to abide by the spirit, as well as the letter of the law.

They say they are seeking to "enjoin" A&P from engaging in certain "alleged" practices.

Actually, the whole purpose of this suit is not to "enjoin" us, but to put us out of business.

They say that this suit for dissolution is based on the decision handed down by Judge Lindley in Danville.

But Judge Lindley has said of his decision: "I have not made a finding which could be the basis for a suit of dissolution."

What, then, is the real reason why the anti-trust lawyers want to destroy this company, which for 90 years has pioneered the methods of distribution which have given the American people more good food for their money?

ARTISTS WITHOUT ARMS—Despite the handicap of no arms, these two painters in Deisenhofen, Germany, run a flourishing art publishing business and have become well-known painters. Bruno Schmitz-Hochburg, left, lost his arms in an accident 30 years ago. Arnulf Erich Stegmann, right, was paralyzed when he was two years old and never regained use of his arms. They employ several handicapped persons in their business.

CAUSES OF DEATH—The Newschart above shows how diseases of the heart, blood and kidneys have grown as major causes of death—from 39% in the Twenties to 61% in 1949—while deaths from infectious and other diseases have declined. The development of "miracle drugs" to curb infectious diseases, and the fact that people live longer now, accounts for the rise of diseases associated with old age.

Life with the Tax Gremlins: 10

Editor's Note: "Life With the Tax Gremlins" is a 12-part thumbnail story of the nation's complicated tax structure. The characters: Uncle Sam himself, his Gremlin, State and Local Tax Gremlins, and you—the taxpayers. It's from an "American Affairs" pamphlet published by the National Industrial Conference Board of New York, an independent, non-profit fact-finding institution supported by business, labor and other groups.

Tax Revision

The ancient maxim about taxation reads: "The most feathers for the least squawk."

That is the theme of the cartoon with this story.

Facing a deficit of $5,000,000,000 for the current fiscal year the President had to think of how to increase the take of the federal Gremlin. But both the sales tax goose and the income tax goose were already squawking murder, and to pluck them any deeper would be politically dangerous, with an election coming on.

The sales tax goose was the more noisy of the two. And with good reason, since the sales taxes imposed in wartime had never been reduced at all. In this dilemma, as a politician, what would you do?

The corporation tax goose is big and friendless, with no votes at all, and has a squawk absurdly weak for its size. Therefore, Uncle Sam is saying to his Gremlin: "Get more feathers there." And that is the thought that governs tax revision.

However, besides quieting the geese, what difference would it make in the end? A reduction in sales taxes and at the same time an increase of corporation taxes would grow no feathers if what the consumer had formerly paid as sales and excise taxes were added to the prices charged by the corporations. It would mean only more hidden taxes.

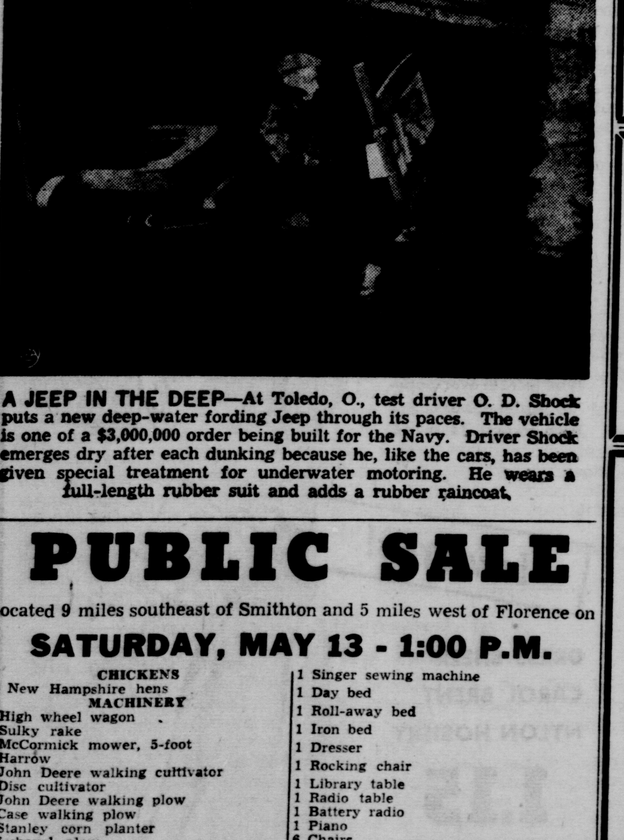
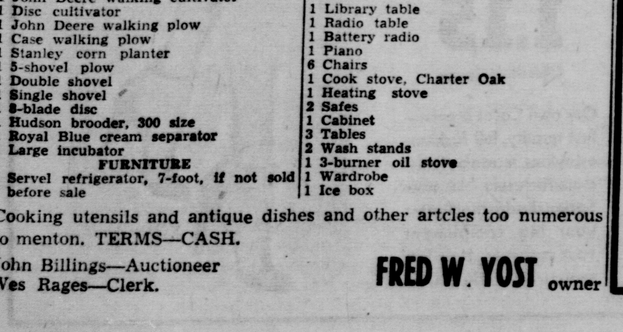
AIRBORNE ARTILLERY—At Fort Bragg, N. C., a formation of U. S. Air Force C-82 "Flying Boxcars" drops 105-mm. howitzers in a demonstration staged by men of the 82d Airborne Division. Seconds later the planes dropped the jeeps that pull the howitzers.



MORE PUNCH FOR AIR FORCE—Seen at Farmingdale, N. Y., is the YF-96A, new sweptback version of the F-84 Thunderjet. Designed to carry more fuel and more armament than its 600-plus-miles-per-hour predecessor, the new jet will be flight tested this month at Edwards Air Force Base, Muroc, Calif.



A JEEP IN THE DEEP—At Toledo, O., test driver O. D. Shock puts a new deep-water fording Jeep through its paces. The vehicle is one of a $3,000,000 order being built for the Navy. Driver Shock emerges dry after each dunking because he, like the cars, has been given special treatment for underwater motoring. He wears a full-length rubber suit and adds a rubber raincoat.

Deaths In Floods Increase

In Oklahoma Scores Driven From Homes by Swollen Streams

By the Associated Press

The flood death toll rose to 26 today.

One man and one woman drowned and scores of families were forced from their homes in Southern Oklahoma.

The count of the dead reached 22 in Southeastern Nebraska and stood at two in Manitoba, Canada.

Hazel Dalen, 29, and Jock King, 25, were swept to their deaths from an automobile on a flooded bridge near Shawnee, Okla.

Waters of two creeks hit Waurika, Okla., and 500 residents left their inundated homes. Two creeks spilled into Pauls Valley, an Oklahoma City of 7,000 population. The water reached into business houses and cut off all highways.

But the two day heavy rains in Oklahoma stopped at 5 a. m.

Search went on in Nebraska for the bodies of nine persons reported missing and presumed dead. Thirteen bodies have been recovered.

Most of the 25,000 persons flooded out of their homes in southern Manitoba were crowding into Winnipeg, although flood waters were rising in the greater Winnipeg area.

A Canadian National Railways train carrying 550 evacuees from the Red river valley was stalled by a track washout eight miles south of Winnipeg. A navy ferry service began carrying the refugees to safety.

One eighth of Winnipeg, a city of 350,000 population, was under water. Muddy water from the Red River and other streams poured over more than 500 square miles of southern Manitoba.

Two Thousand Depart

More than 2,000 persons left Winnipeg in response to an official appeal for the city's 200,000 women and children to voluntarily move to less crowded points of safety. Officials were making plans for compulsory mass evacuation, if necessary. There were no casualties.

The Red River rose only .23 feet in 24 hours at Grand Forks, N. D., and city engineer A. F. Hulteng said he "hopes this is the crest." Four National Guard planes flew over the flood area seeking isolated cases of disaster.

Mississippi Overflows

In northeastern Minnesota, the community of Floodwood was 75 per cent flooded by the St. Louis river. At Minneapolis city engineer Hugo Erickson said the Mississippi river was at its highest level since 1881. However, he said the only concern immediately was for Riverside utility installations.

After two days of torrential rains, creeks and streams in eastern and south central Oklahoma spilled into at least seven communities and forced residents to flee their homes The floodwaters blocked highways in 40 places. There were evacuations in the residential areas of Hayesville Duncan and Lexington. Other towns in the flood area included Okmulgee, Haskell, Wagoner and Muskogee.

There were more showers and thunderstorms in Oklahoma and western Texas and light rain from Eastern Kansas eastward across Missouri to southern Indiana. Heavy falls were reported in west central Texas.

The rest of the country had fair weather. It was warm in the southeastern and Gulf states and temperatures were mostly normal in other areas.

Forced to Flee

BRANSON, Mo., May 11—(AP)—Floodwaters of the White River watershed poured into Lake Taneycomo today forcing lowland dwellers to flee to higher ground

More than seven inches of rain in the past 48 hours put the lake on the rise. At damsite 12.75 feet of water was going over the dam. It was reported rising at the rate of two inches an hour.

The record high was 20.30 feet set in 1945.

At Rockaway Beach one resort hotel was forced to close its first floor accomodations. Boat lines ceased to operate.

Members of the Civil Air Patrol, Boy Scouts, Chamber of Commerce and Branson businessmen worked until 2 a.m. moving the possessions of residents on lowland farms and along the lake.

Crest of the flood is not expected here until tomorrow.

John F. Zander Tells Kiwanians How Service Can Attain It

John F. Zander, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce spoke today before the Kiwanis Club on the subject, "What Price Progress." He paid tribute to the Club, part of a world-wide organization devoted to public service, "all for the noble purpose of making Sedalia a better and happier place in which to live. By taking membership in the Kiwanis Club, its members have pledged themselves to unselfish service and have taken their place as leaders in community development."

Cooperation Essential

"No community can develop on a broad and wholesome basis through the personality of one man, or of two men, or of a dozen men, and a few fine women. It takes the wholesome cooperation of all of these who are interested in developing a healthy community," he said.

"If there ever was a time communities needed leadership, it is today. Men, unfortunately, are oftime criticized because they give leadership. For the progress of Sedalia and any community, we must have leadership of quality, of capacity, of faith, of vision. Leadership must be unselfish and willing to pay the price; and what a price that sometimes is."

Zander said that he did not believe any community could grow and prosper unless it thought in terms of its children. "We must provide proper and adequate educational facilities for the children of our community who will make Sedalia tomorrow. If we turn a deaf ear to the educators who give of themselves and with their vision can develop an enlarged and sound educational program, we shall turn a deaf ear on the children of our community, the leaders of tomorrow."

Comments on Capital Visit

Zander commented on the recent trip to Washington, D. C. by three Sedalians to attend the 38th Annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which had a theme throughout the whole session, "Perform Something Worthy to be Remembered", words spoken by Daniel Webster many years ago. The trend was

Jury Recessed to Milk Juror's Cows

POINT PLEASANT, W Va., May 11—(AP)—The judge recessed the trial and told the jurors they would have to remain together overnight. Up spoke juror Clifford Carter:

"If your honor, please, my cows have to be milked."

Judge Lewis H. Miller solved that one in a hurry.

He sent the whole jury out to Carter's farm, where the cows got milked under the supervision of Sheriff F. H. Morrison, a deputy and two state troopers.

Startled by Snake In Washing Machine

LOS ANGELES, May 11—(AP)—If you ever find a boa constrictor in your automatic washing machine you'll know the problem that Mrs. Alberta Lehman faced.

Her son John is 16. He collects snakes.

The latest addition to his collection arrived in a box from Texas on Tuesday. When the box was opened a 4-foot-long boa constrictor slithered out and proceeded into the washing machine on the back porch.

Boa wound itself up in the mechanism and refused to come out. Mrs. Lehman yesterday called some repairmen. They warily dismantled the machine and the snake came out. Johnny had a cage ready.

Kills Two And Then Ends Life

Marital Rift is Attributed Cause Of Triple Tragedy

CHARLESTON, Mo., May 11—(AP)—Eskell F. Banks, 36, unemployed St. Louisian, shot and killed his estranged wife, Virginia, aged 28, his brother-in-law, Dan Watson, 47, wounded Watson's wife, Zelma, 22, and then sent a bullet into his own heart at the Watson home here last night, Sheriff J. E. Scott said.

Mrs. Watson was taken to a hospital at Cairo, Ill., where doctors said her chances for recovery are fair. She suffered a bullet wound in the lower abdomen.

The shooting, the sheriff said, occurred in the presence of Bank's two children, Edward 8, and Estell 6, Mr. and Mrs. Watson's two children, Betty 17 and Kenneth 6, and Watson's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Watson.

The sheriff said he learned Banks, who resides at 2313 South Third, St. Louis, came here late yesterday and went to the Watson home after being served in St. Louis with notice that his wife had sued him for a divorce. She and the children came to Charleston about a week ago.

When he stepped up on the porch one of his children exclaimed "There's Daddy," and ran to him. He walked into the house and when his wife approached and demanded that he "Put away that gun and get out," he shot her.

The sheriff said Banks' son, Edward, told him that "Daddy shot Mommie, and she fell. I kissed her and she died."

Banks then went into another room where Mrs. Watson was trying to telephone relatives, and shot her. He then turned his gun on Watson, shooting him twice.

The sheriff said Banks then left and walked down the street toward the home of another relative but retraced his steps suddenly. When he reached the Watson home again, the sheriff and two other officers, who had been notified, drove up just as Banks turned his gun on himself.

Banks and Watson were married to sisters. Watson owned a saw mill in Charleston.

Mrs. Banks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Marney, reside at Delta, Kans., while Banks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Banks live in St. Louis.

Girl Hit by Bat While Playing Ball Dies

AKRON, O., May 11 — (AP) — Playing catcher in a neighborhood baseball game, Lynda Faye Brewer, 6, stepped too close to the plate.

Robert (Bucky) Boswell, 12, swung at a pitch. The bat struck Lynda at the base of the neck. She died.

Lynda's mother, Mrs. Elsie Brewer, 29, and two brothers, Maxin 9, and Leslie 5, saw it happen.

"It could have been me that swung the bat," said Mrs. Brewer.

Determined On Low Cost Public Power

Truman Asserts Opposition to Program be Met

By Ernest B. Vaccaro

GRAND COULEE DAM, Wash., May 11—(AP)—President Truman declared today his determination to develop low-cost public power on all the country's great rivers and fight against its use "for private profit."

"We have embarked, all over the country, on the task of fully developing our resources for all the people." he said.

"And we shall have to continue to overcome the opposition to those who do not understand the greatness of our goal, or who fear the impairment of their selfish interests.

"We will meet opposition from the private power groups. Many of them—there are honorable exceptions, of course—do not want the energy of our rivers put to use as power and sold to the people at cost."

The president spoke out sharply against the opposition of private power companies to rural electrification and other local public agencies constructing transmission lines for the delivery and sale of power purchased at dam sites at cost. He said their opposition "is wrong."

The president laid down his public power development program in an address for dedication ceremonies at the site of Grand Coulee dam, where the last turbine has been cut in.

He predicted ultimate congressional approval of the proposed Columbia Valley Administration to take over the operation of Grand Coulee and other power and reclamation projects in the valley.

CVA "Necessary Step"

"I believe the Columbia Valley Administration is a necessary next step in the sensible, Democratic development of the resources of the northwest," Mr. Truman said. "I believe the people of this area think, so, too.

"And when they make their voices heard, I am sure the Columbia Valley Administration will be established."

The president said the private power companies "would deny the people the benefits of low-cost power they themselves have brought about through public investment.

"We shall not be stopped by those who are timid, or short-sighted or selfish," he want on. "We shall not be stopped by discredited claims or by tattered slogans."

The president added:

"I am sure we will continue to overcome this opposition, just as we already have done in building Grand Coulee—just as the people already have done in Nebraska, in large parts of Wash-

Vigil by Dog to Be Near Master

ST. LOUIS, May 11—(AP)— A crippled dog, apparently the faithful friend of some patient in McMillan hospital, has been keeping a vigil in a park across from the hospital for ten days.

The reddish-brown pooch, which appears to be part dachsund, has resisted efforts by humane society officers and others to capture it.

Attendants at the hospital have been putting out food for the dog.

France And Germany in Exchange of Peace Gestures

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Only a great threat like the cold war could have brought about such amazing gestures of peace as are being exchanged between bitter enemies like France and Germany.

France has proposed the pooling of Europe's vital coal and steel industries under a common authority as a move toward peace and prosperity. This project—approved by the cabinet and announced by Foreign Minister Schuman—would include the joining of France's output in the rich Saar and Lorraine regions with that of Germany's industrially famous Ruhr valley.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of west Germany has greeted this astonishing proposition as "a magnanimous step of the greatest possible significance," adding:

"It appears to me that this creates the pre-conditions for making any future conflict between France and Germany impossible."

It is with surprise and near awe that one witnesses such an exchange of apparent amity. To realize what a change may be in the making you really must have a Frenchman spit out the characterization of "Boche" for the German. That expressive word sums up all the hatreds engendered by the Franco-German war of 1870 and the subsequent two-world conflicts which were launched across the peaceful countryside of France.

Well, there has been a lot of talk about another world war being whelped in Europe. What about the possibility of world peace coming out of the continent?

Now of course we mustn't rush to conclusions. A sweeping proposal has been made by Paris, and a quick and favorable reply has been received from Germany. That's the egg on which the dove of peace must sit, and we should be foolish to rush to conclusions before the hatching—if any.

However, it's obvious that the French proposal could have far reaching results if it develops favorably. The features of Franco-German amity are the most surprising element, but this is only one aspect of a general economic development involving the whole of western Europe.

Success of the project is calculated to mean great things for the economic rehabilitation of Europe. And the economic rehabilitation is essential to military preparedness for defense.

Layoff For Shopmen Result of Strike

KANSAS CITY, Kas., May 11—(AP)—About 3,200 workers in the Santa Fe shops here and at Topeka will be laid off Monday because of a strike called by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

About 700 workers will be affected here and 2,500 at Topeka. They are expected to be laid off until the strike is settled.

Overpayment To Dependents

Report $157,596,000 Sum From Finance Center

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—A sixth investigation of the army finance center at St. Louis was ordered today after a congressional sub-committee reported over payments there of $157,596,000 in allotments to military dependents.

Most of these overpayments in the confusion of wartime. The army claims the total of unrecovered or unadjusted payments has been reduced to $35,000,000.

The new inquiry will be made by a House armed services group. Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) named a seven-man sub-committee, headed by Rep. Kilday (D-Tex), to launch the investigation.

Vinson acted shortly after a House civil service sub-committee had filed a preliminary report with the full civil service group.

By Ruth Cowan

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—A congressional subcommittee reported today that the army finance center at St. Louis has overpaid $157,596,000 in allotments to military dependents.

Most of the payments were described as wartime allotments.

Furthermore, the preliminary report filed with the House Civil Service committee says that the general accounting office has 130,000 cases of overpayment yet to review. And it estimates that more than 125,000 cases have been lost in the "inactive files."

Reports of communist infiltration at the center also figure in the case.

Chairman Karst (D-Mo) of the subcommittee, one of five agencies checking into the center, said he has recommended that the up-to-now secret hearings be open to the public.

The report says that these hearings, during which more than 100 witnesses were questioned, turned up evidence of "bad security risks," erroneous expense accounts, shuffled files, army laxity and efforts to discredit FBI investigations.

Would Bar Company

In fact, one of 14 recommendations by the Karst subcommittee was that:

"The representatives of the International Business Machine Co., who participated in a conspiracy to discredit the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Counter Intelligence Corps investigations, be barred from further official contact with all government agencies."

Confession on Plane to Bring No Surprise

More Revealed on One Lost April 8 In Baltic Sea

By C. Yates McDaniel

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—The United States won't be surprised if Moscow eventually produces an alleged confession from a crew member of the American navy plane lost in the Baltic April 8.

A government official in a position to know said this today on the basis of what he asserted to be American "knowledge" that Russia made prompt efforts to salvage remnants of the plane and to pick up its 10 occupants, dead or alive.

He said also that the U. S. "knows" the following facts, entirely apart from diplomatic interpretations of Moscow's version of the incident:

(1) Four Russian fighters opened fire from the rear of the slower moving American patrol plane;

(2) Attack took place over the Baltic sea "more than 30 miles" from the coast of Russian occupied territory;

(3) The plane was on fire before it hit the water.

This official said the government would not reveal how it got this information because it would give vital information to Russia. He said he did not know whether the Russians had any success in finding the plane or its occupants.

He agreed with navy officers who said yesterday that the chance of survival for any of the crew members was "very remote."

He recalled, however, that Communist authorities customarily wring confessions from political prisoners and foreigners involved in incidents.

Freeing Two Flyers

Only this week, the Chinese Reds announced that they were freeing two American flyers, missing or nearly 19 months in North China, after they had "confessed" to "spying" on Red military installations.

American searchers, assisted by the Scandinavians, have found no trace of the navy crewmen in the Baltic and have picked up only secondary pieces of equipment of types the plane is known to have carried.

Although the official spokesmen have remained steadfastly silent about how the government got the information about the Russian incident, experienced professionals suggest the following summation:

(1) A second radar-equipped plane could have been in the air over the Baltic beyond the sight or easy pursuit range of the Russian fighters. Its radar could have picked up a reasonably accurate picture of what happened.

The U. S. protest to Russia said that the lost plane was the "only American military aircrat" over the Baltic on April 8. There has been no mention of any plane of some other country being in the area.

(2) The attack could have been plotted by radar on a surface vessel. No American ship is known to have been in the Baltic on the day of the incident. But this narrow sea is open to commercial ships, some of which carry radar, plying between Great Britain and ports of Sweden and

By the Associated Press

This was the situation in brief today in the strike of locomotive firemen on four key rail lines.

Peace Efforts: The National (railway) Mediation Board was standing by in Chicago, available for constultation by either side, but no peace steps were being taken or announced in the deadlocked dispute.

Unemployment: Nearly 200,000 rail workers may be out by this week end. The Pennsylvania railroad said it will furlough 85,000 workers by tomorrow morning. The New York Central said 25,000 now are idle and the number may jump to 50,000. The Southern railway system says the majority of its 38,000 workers will be idle by week-end. Santa Fe issued an order closing all its shops but gave no figures immediately.

In addition nearly 5,000 Pennsylvania miners are idle and a few auto parts workers in Cleveland have been laid off.

The Disputants: Spokesmen for the carriers in Chicago reiterated their determination to oppose the employment of extra firemen on big diesel engines. The striking Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen made no comment.

Road Contract To Sedalians

Bids Approved By Highway Body For 164.5 Miles

The Missouri State Highway Commission approved bids for highway improvements covering 164.5 miles in 49 counties and and 132.8 miles of bituminous mat resurfacing for maintenance purposes in 13 counties, according to an announcement by C. W. Brown, chief engineer, today.

The bid prices by contractors for all the work totaled approximately $3,765,000.

One hundred ten and nine-tenths miles of the improvements are a part of the supplementary (farm-to-market) system of state highways.

Projects on the major system include the relocation and replacement of 8.0 miles of the old 18 foot slab with a new modern 24 foot portland cement concrete pavement in Cooper County, from Route 41 west, except a short section at Lamine River, and a relocation and reconstruction of 4.9 miles, including an underpass with the Wabash Railroad and a grade separation with Route Z, of the present 18 foot pavement to a 24 foot portland cement concrete surface, from a point approximately one mile west of Wentzville, east to Gilmore in St. Charles County.

Additional sections on the major system include the grading and bridges for the relocation of 13.5 miles of U. S. Route 66 in Webster and Laclede Counties, between Marshfield and Conway, and the grading, bridging and paving for the Little Beaver Creek relocation in Phelps County.

Must Be Approved

All bids involving federal funds must be approved by the Bureau of Public Roads before contracts can be awarded. The bids do not include non-contractual costs of 10 per cent for engineering and contingencies.

No bids were received on the bridge reconstruction at the Mississippi River Slough Bridge on Route 99, in St. Charles County.

Howard Construction company of Sedalia was the successful bidder in the following counties: Knox county-route 3 for 3.3 miles of grading and surfacing and to extend present construction south to close gap to Route B. Also in Knox county-Route K of 4.4 miles of grading and surfocing and to extend present construction through Colony to the Lewis line. Total bid price, $36,935.

Callaway county—Route K for 3.7 miles of grading and surfacing and to extend present construction southeast to Montgomery county line. Bid, $16.905.

Montgomery county—Route K for 4.8 miles of grading and surfacing. Callaway county line east to Americus, thereby furnishing an all-weather road to Route 19. Bid, $17,489.

Take Up Plans On Cold War

Optimism as Big Three Session Opens In London to Form Strategy

By the Associated Press

The foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France met in London today to seek agreement on plans to win the cold war against Russia.

There was optimism in the air as U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain and Robert Schuman of France set down at the conference table.

The hopeful atmosphere was endangered by a French proposal that France and Germany, traditional enemies, pool their basic industries under a common central authority. This would be the beginning of the integration of German economy into the West, so long sought by the United States as a link-pin to peace and prosperity in Europe.

As a curtain raiser for the conference, Secretary Acheson last night in a speech appealed for sacrificing "some purely national interests" in order to prevent a World War III.

"The Germans themselves," he said, "must be prepared to accept their full measure of responsibilities and the full measure of what may appear to them as risks." He asked that the Germans be welcomed back into the European community.

Deems Pool Plan Good

Acheson said the generous French plan to pool coal and steel output with Germany, which has thrice invaded French soil in modern times, had his sympathy and support. It was a dramatic and sudden proposal on the part of the French and had "significant and far reaching intent" Acheson declared. He reserved final judgment on the plan until he had time to study it in detail.

Britain is making a cautious approach to the plan. The French have invited the British to bring their steel and coal resources into the pool. As one of the occupation powers in Germany, Britain's approval is necessary to the success of the scheme.

Schuman, principal architect of the plan, is expected to press for its formal endorsement by the Big Three conference.

Budapest dispatches said a Hungarian appeal court has refused to lessen the 15-year prison sentence of Robert A. Vogeler, American businessman convicted last September on spy charges. Two Hungarian codefendants sentenced to death at the same time have been executed, the government announced. The U.S. government unsuccessfully protested against Vogeler's imprisonment.

Junta Seized Power

A military junta has seized power in the West Indian island republic of Haiti and deposed President Dumarsais Estine, who has ruled Haiti's 3,000,000 Negro population for four turbulent years.

In Washington, military officials were reported considering a plan to arm the United States' North Atlantic pact allies with atomic bombs. Advocates of the plan contended some way must be found to arm Western Europe faster and cheaper than is possible with conventional arms.

A Washington official discussing the American plane lost in the Baltic April 8 said evidence indicated Russia made prompt efforts to salvage the plane and to pick up its 10 occupants, dead or alive. If any were found alive, this official said, the United States would not be surprised if Moscow eventually produces an alleged confession from a crew member. However, he added, the chance that anyone survived is "very remote."

Sixty Mile Drive To Cow Nearby

ELLINGTON, Mo., May 11—Mose McNail drove 60 miles yesterday to milk his one cow which was in a barn only 200 yards from his home.

A flash flood caused a creek which runs between his home and his barn to run wild, following heavy rains in this Ozarks area.

To respond to the cow's constant moos for food and to be milked, McNail had to drive to a bridge to cross the creek and back to the barn, a distance of 30 miles each way.

'Kid Day' For S-H Seniors

Today is a big day for Sacred Heart high school seniors, for it is "Kid Day," when they go back into the not too distant past to steal a day from their childhood.

All over town are boys in short pants with fancy shirts, many with embroidery and big windsor ties and girls in short dresses of every color, some with organdy pinafores and organdy bonnets. Nearly all have toys of some description and the cars they are riding in are decorated in the school colors of red and white with big signs on which are printed: "Kid Day." Some of the cars have balloons as an added decoration.

The day started out this morning with an assembly which consisted of a program of children's poems, songs and dances, a mock band tune and a mock tragedy entitled: "Grandmother Saves the Day." The assembly was attended by parents of the seniors and students from the other high school classes.

The group went to the home of Carolyn Riley, 725 West Fourth street, for dinner after which they attended a show during the afternoon.

The big annual event will end with a dance tonight.

Truman Dines Privately With GOP Critic

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—Some time before leaving on his whistle-stop trip, President Truman held a hush-hush dinner with one of his most vigorous political enemies — Senator Brewster of Maine.

The dinner was held not in the White House, but at the Carlton hotel. And it was the President who inspired the meeting. He and Brewster had worked together on the old Truman committee, once had been warm friends.

Chief result of the Carlton dinner was a challenge to test out the fair deal. Brewster is chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign committee, and has the job of electing as many GOP Senators as possible next November.

Knowing this, Truman challenged: "I'll lay my program out and you lay your program out, and we'll have a showdown."

Brewster agreed.

Though they didn't actualy plan it that way, part of the showdown is coming right now. Truman is now putting his policies before the public, while Brewster has been busy lining up speakers to refute him. He has already lined up Taft for a speech in Chicago, Wherry in Nebraska, Hickenlooper in Iowa, Morse in Oregon, and Congressman Keefe in Wisconsin.

Brewster says the battle, hatched over the dinner table at the Carlton hotel, will continue until November.

Acheson's Big Problem

Before Secretary of State Acheson left for the Big Three conference, he had a report from the Orient indicating that French Indo-China was the most vital area in preventing the spread of Communism.

The report came from Ed Dickinson, ace trouble-shooter for ECA Administrator Paul Hoffman. State department officials concur with Dickinson's views.

They believe that if Communism once takes over Indo-China, then Burma, the Malays, Siam, India and Indonesia will also fall, making all of the Orient a Russian sphere of influence.

Furthermore, it is believed that this is Moscow's chief goal. For the Red army today lacks oil, gasoline, tin and rubber. All these things are to be obtained in the wealthy area lying south of French Indo-China.

That is why Indo-China is one of the toughest jobs facing Acheson and why he met it head-on following his arrival in Paris. Here are some of the factors he still has to contend with:

1. THE U.S. SENATE IS HOT AND BOTHERED ABOUT CHINA, but not Indo-China. This may be because of the well-heeled Kuomintang lobby which has spent thousands in Washington influencing Congress. Whatever the cause, when Acheson publicly proposed aid to Indo-China, he was rebuked next day by Senator George of Georgia who wanted to know who was going to vote the money.

2. THE FRENCH ARE A HANDICAP. French administration of Indo-China in the past has been inefficient, corrupt, imperialistic. The natives don't like them, shoot down French troops at night if they stray a mile or so outside of towns.

3. INDO-CHINA IS SPLIT AMONG VARIOUS FACTIONS. There is no love for Emperor Bao Dai, onetime Paris playboy, whom the French have set up as ruler. There is also bitter hatred for guerrilla leader Ho Chi Minh and his scorched-earth policy.

Possibly the United States could handle the situation better without the French. But that would alienate one of our oldest allies. Thus Acheson has the Senate to buck on one hand, the French on the other and the Communists all around him.

John L. Lewis Purge

John L. Lewis, Republican, has been busy backstage trying to purge a Democrat, Rep. Anthony Cavalcante of Pennsylvania. Lewis is sore because Cavalcante demanded that district four of the United Mine Workers have local autonomy and the right to elect their own officers. Cavalcante used to be a member of this local, has an excellent record in Congress, and will be supported by many rank-and-file miners. However, Lewis' strong-arm men are doing their best to elect Edward Dumbault, Cavalcante's opponent.

New England Slump

The President's council of economic advisers, while pleased with the recent unemployment drop, are still deeply concerned over the situation in the New England area. Throughout the nation unemployment now averages 5-½ per cent, but in New England it averages around 12 per cent. As a result, the council will soon set up a task force of prominent businessmen and economists with instructions to make a thorough and intensive study of the causes and cures of New England's semi-depression. This will be the first step in the government's plan to help industrial New England get back on its feet.

Speech Backfired

A Minnesota farmer may lose out in becoming undersecretary of agriculture, because he tried too hard to drum up an audience for his boss. The eager beaver is Charles W. Stickney, Minnesota committee chairman for the Production and Marketing Administration.

Stickney wanted to be sure Secretary of Agriculture Charlie Brannan had a full house when he came to St. Paul on April 4, so he passed the word that 8,000 Minnesota farmer committeemen could collect $8 a day expenses for listening.

Word of this, however, leaked back to enemy No. 1 of the Brannan plan, Sen. George Aiken, the Vermont Republican. Aiken promptly raised such a howl that the general accounting office is now investigating to see if an improper use of government funds is involved.

However, here is another aftermath. Until recently, Stickney was all set to succeed Al Loveland as undersecretary of Agriculture. Now he isn't.

NOTE—When Secretary Brannan found that the St. Paul audience was getting $8 a day each for expenses, he changed his speech to a non-political farm discourse.

Coal Operators Union

Big coal operators are quietly planning to form a virtual union of their own, thereby giving Harry Moses, boss of the U.S. Steel-owned H. C. Frick Coal Company, the same dictatorial powers over northern operators that John L. Lewis wields over the miners.

Under the proposed new setup, scheduled to take effect early in July, Moses will be top man of an executive committee that can force all northern operators, big and little, to sign contracts with Lewis whether they like them or not.

In other words, U.S. Steel, which already has a monopolistic grip on the steel industry, also will control the coal industry.

NOTE—Southern operators and many independents are griping.

Real Good Neighborliness

While most of the world is worrying about the coming Berlin Red demonstration, trouble in China and the danger of a Yugoslav war, it looks like two countries in this hemisphere were on the way to working out an important new friendship.

This developed during a White House visit between the President of the United States and the President of Chile when Gonzalez Videla unfolded to Truman a proposal to give landlocked Bolivia a free port on the Pacific ocean near Arica.

To Latin Americans such a proposal is almost revolutionary. For the Chilean ports of Tacna and Arica have been a bone of contention for years between Chile, Bolivia and Peru.

They have already been the subject of two wars and were arbitrated by Gen. John J. Pershing and Gen. William Lassiter, neither of whom was able to bring about a solution.

All during these years of controversy, Bolivia has argued that she should be given one of these Chilean cities as a free port. And because she was not able to get access to the sea, Bolivia instigated the famed Chaco war with Paraguay in the 1920's.

What President Gonzalez Videla has now discussed with President Truman is to give Bolivia an area on the Pacific coast near Arica where she would build her own port. Bolivia would have complete sovereignty, with no restrictions by Chile.

In turn, the Chilean president hopes that Bolivia would give Chile irrigation water from Lake Titticacca, with which to irrigate the north Chilean desert of Atacama. Today northern Chile is much like southern California, but with water it could become as populated as California.

President Truman gave his enthusiastic blessing and promised President Gonzalez Videla any help that he could give.

Don't Count on Sudden Soviet Collapse---It May Take Time

By Bruce Biossat

Paul Hoffman, foreign aid chief, predicts the Russian Communist empire will collapse "quite suddenly" within our lifetime.

He sees two factors as decisive: the death of Premier Stalin, which he expects to touch off a wild scramble for power; and the breaking away of most Russian satellite countries from Moscow.

Hoffman believes these satellites are developing dangerous rigidity in their economic structures. All appears smooth on the surface, he says, because political brutality keeps it that way. But underneath, tensions are mounting.

The anticipated turbulence accompanying a change in the Russian dictatorship will probably allow these tensions to burst into the open, says Hoffman.

What he forecasts is certainly a marked possibility. Yet it wouldn't be wise for the free world to count on anything so joyful as a Russian empire collapse unless and until it happens.

The West has been trying to guess for a long time just what will occur when Stalin dies. The list of likely successors is constantly undergoing revision. Some experts predict a cut-throat struggle, others think a smooth, frictionless switch will be made.

If there does prove to be a ruthless fight for Stalin's job, the satellites may well realize the chance either to break loose or at least to take a more firmly nationalistic line on the Tito model.

We can't be so hopeful, however, about what might develop within Russia itself. No matter how bitter the competition for power, it almost certainly would not lead to the ouster of the oppressive totalitarian regime now entrenched.

Modern dictatorships have at their command far more powerful weapons of control than did the tyrants of old. An army equipped with great fire power, brutal secret police, concentration camps, these all make revolt a difficult matter to bring off. Worse still, Russia has crushed any sort of organization or segment of society which could possibly serve as a rallying point for rebellious citizens. The Communists brook no rivals anywhere within the Soviet Union.

The Russian tyranny must end some day. But probably its fall will come only after long, slow disintegration from within, and heavy, relentless pressures from the outside. Those pressures need not necessarily include war. A non-Communist world well organized for its defense, firm in its faith, progressive in its march toward human betterment will constrict Russia's orbit and hasten communism's demise.

Not so Crowded, After All

Preliminary figures indicate that New York City's 1950 population is going to total around 7,750,000. That's about 250,000 below estimates made by various agencies in the last year or two.

So, it isn't 8,000,000 after all. It only seems like 8,000,000 to the people who live there.

I Cor. 1:27—28; 6:9—11; Philem. 10—16

NOBODIES BECOME SOMEBODIES

(13) Remember it is never too late to be a creative personality. No matter what happens to you, or when it happens to you, it is never too late to become creative. I know a woman, wife of a professor, who did not touch a paintbrush until she was 50. Then she awakened, began to paint, and her paintings are being exhibited in this and other countries. She has gathered around her a group of women who before 50 had done nothing contributive, but after 50 began to be creative. One took up sculpturing, and though she had never tried that branch of art until she was 50, became a teacher of sculpture in a great college and exhibited her own products in America and Europe.

Some artists gathered on a farm to paint the landscape. The farmer, becoming interested, painted the landscape on his own. The teacher, seeing the painting, asked who had done it. The farmer was "discovered" and became a famous landscape artist. His awakening had come at 68.

Jesus is the great Awakener. Paul speaks of "all the stimulus of Christ." He stimulates the creative center in each one of us, making it first aware of God, and then aware of the infinite possibilities in God. I was at the bottom of my class until I met Christ, and then I said to myself, "This is no place for a Christian," and left it.

Someone said of a certain great city, "I never live a week in ——— when, bang, there goes another horizon!" That is the thing that happens when we are in company with Jesus—"bang, there goes another horizon!" In His company we begin to see farther, feel for people on a wide scale, and act more decisively. Jesus takes the nobodies and turns them into the somebodies. He was the maker of men and still is. No one can be in His company long without feeling an irresistible impulse to roll up his sleeves and say, "Where do I begin?" For the creative impulse comes from contact with the creative God.

O Christ, Thou creator of living thoughts in dead brains; Thou stimulator of living love in petrified hearts; Thou arouser of living action in decayed wills; Thou giver of life, I ask Thee to enter into me and to stimulate and quicken every fiber and and nerve cell that I too may become creative. Amen.

The Doctor Says—

Florence Nightingale Began 'Ministering Angel' Tradition

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Millions of people enter hospitals every year, either because of illness, or more happily, for childbirth. None of these millions ever enter a hospital which does not have nurses. Indeed, it would be unthinkable to have a hospital without nurses, and no hospital today could operate without them. It is only fair, therefore, that nurses should be given more attention and some tribute paid to their devoted services.

Modern nursing owes its origin to the great Florence Nightingale, the anniversary of whose birth occurs on May 12. Until her reforms began to take effect, hospitals were almost all filthy buildings. Patients with bad infections lay side by side with those who had no germ infections at all.

The results of this lack of cleanliness and elementary knowledge of prevention of disease can only be imagined. People who went to hospitals died like flies. Many who were sent to the "hospitals" of the pre-Nightingale era considered themselves practically condemned to death — and they were right!

Florence Nightingale's first big opportunity came when the Crimean War broke out in 1854. She offered her services as a nurse. She found on her arrival at the scene of hostilities that in the barrack hospital alone there were four miles of wounded soldiers lying less than 18 inches apart. This was years before the part played by germs in diseases was known or the principles of antiseptic surgery discovered, but Florence Nightingale realized nevertheless that efficient nursing demands cleanliness. She found that the hospital had no basin, towel, soap or broom in the whole place. She set to work with pail and scrub brush and cleanliness followed shortly. The kitchen and the storekeeping quarters received her attentions next and required an equal amount of cleanup and reform.

Of course, she revolutionized the profession of nursing. Before her day most nurses came in an entirely different model. They had had little training and their attitude toward patients was far from that of the "ministering angel" the ideal of which was ushered in by Florence Nightingale.

Labored Under Handicap

Miss Nightingale was an invalid most of her life which made her accomplishments all the more remarkable. She is considered the founder of modern nursing. Since Florence Nightingale's time, the nursing profession has gone through many trials and tribulations.

In come respects and at some periods, nurses have truly been the forgotten servants of medicine. They have been underpaid and overworked. Now their economic situation is gradually improving. But today as always, the ideals of the nursing profession reman service to suffering humanity rather than financial or economic gain. Girls do not go into nursing to get rich.

Make Club Work Worth While If You Want Men's Respect

Because the average man takes such an amused attitude toward women's organizations in general a lot of wives overlook an important fact.

That fact is that most husbands are touchingly proud of their wives if they take on a real and worthwhile project outside the home.

Husbands may not be much impressed when their wives talk about how hard they are working on club activities. They know that most of the "work" is telephoning lists of names, arranging for speakers, being sure that the presiding officer gets a corsage, with the end result usually not really mattering one way or another.

But the husband whose wife is working hard for the P. T. A. or has taken over a Brownie or Girl Scout troop or is Den Mother for her son's Cub Scout group is often so proud of her ability and initiative and the good she is doing that he can't resist the urge to brag about her to anyone who will listen.

Take on a Real Job And Get It Done

So for the wives who complain to me that their husbands think anything a "bunch of women" is trying to do is just so much wasted time and effort I'd like to say this:

Get interested in some really worthwhile project that demands more of you than getting dressed up in your best suit and fanciest hat. Work hard at it and accomplish something—and you'll see respect replace amused tolerance on your husband's face when you tell him what you are doing and what you are trying to do.

Women do squander a lot of time and effort on clubs and organizations that haven't much real purpose and are not much more than timekillers for their members.

But there are in every town plenty of hard jobs begging to be done by any woman who really wants to put her time and energy to work.

Take on just one of those jobs—and your whole family will be proud of you.

XXXIII

"Baba?"

"Nurse says she is still sleeping. She has had a wonderful night. Praise be to Allah, she will get well," said Louilie joyously. "The doctors both have gone."

"What time is it?" Clemency glanced at her clock. "Louilie! I should have been called before this!"

"No, Sitt. The Sidi Amberley's orders. And you are to eat your breakfast in bed."

Clemency sank back on her pillows, still drowsy from the effects of the sleeping tablet she had been given last night.

The sunlight flooded the room like a benediction—Baba was going to get well. And then she remembered why this heavy ache lay at her heart, why it would be worse before it ever eased.

Nothing of what had happened during this last 48 hours had changed her own problem. She still had to give Piers back his ring, and tell him she was going away. It was useless to think things could ever be the same between them again—loving him so desperately only made them worse. She might forgive what he had done to her—but nothing could undo what he had done to Jon. What Syrie had made him do!

She clenched her hands until the nails dug into the palms. Last night when she came to bed she had wept, but the tears were out of her utter weariness, and her relief over Baba. Her own tragedy was too deep for tears.

Luncheon was over when at last she emerged from her room to go in search of Piers, but he did not seem to be anywhere about, and it was Syrie she found.

This morning only the shadows around Syrie's eyes which her make-up did not quite succeed in hiding, betrayed anything of what she had gone through. When Clemency found her, standing looking out on to the veranda, she appeared as exquisitely groomed as ever, in one of the thick white silk dresses she was so fond of, her shining hair piled high, lipstick and nail varnish perfectly matched.

How much real feeling is there in her? Clemency wondered with a bitterness that would not be repressed.

WHEN Syrie glanced around, and, seeing her, came back into the room, there was an embarrassment that was quite new in her manner.

"I was waiting for Piers," she said. "I think—he is with Jon."

It's dreadful to hate anybody after what we have all just been through, thought Clemency. But the human heart has its passions, and there are limits to human endurance; it was perhaps a little unfair to blame herself.

She controlled her voice with an effort. "Then I will leave you. I was looking for him, but—what I have to say can wait."

But as she turned to go, Syrie spoke. "It's wonderful about Baba."

"Very wonderful."

"Jon and I are planning to take her to the sea as soon as she is well enough. Perhaps—over to Southern France. It's an ideal part of the world to live. And if I can get someone reliable to look after her—"

Though she tried to hide it, some of the surprise Clemency felt showed in her face. Then: "She will need a lot of love," she said. "She will be a long time getting better and convalescing, and—she is bound to get spoiled. I hope you will find someone who—loves her a lot."

"I shan't get anyone she loves as much as she loves you," said Syrie frankly. "Or who manages her as well." She paused and added after a moment: "You will think I am very impertinent if I ask you what you were waiting to say to Piers—"

Clemency felt herself freeze up. "If you don't mind, I would rather not discuss it."

"There is no need to," said Syrie. "Here is Piers, and—I think—I know he will have something to say to you." And then as Clemency moved swiftly towards the second exit from the room she exclaimed sharply: "Piers! Don't let Clemency go."

HE reached out, and taking Clemency's arm, drew her back. And so she stood, Syrie facing her, Piers on the other side, her heart beating furiously, but determined to save herself the indignity of a further attempt to escape.

"Piers," Syrie told him, "you have something to tell Clemency."

"He has nothing to tell me that I don't already know," said Clemency.

"Oh yes, he has—a lot," Syrie assured her, and with her eyes on Piers: "Has Jon spoken to you?"

"Yes."

"Then tell Clemency the truth. You shouldn't have trusted me at all." Syrie shrugged. "I'm a born liar when it suits. Go on, Piers. Tell her what I did to you and all the rest of it. She'll believe you now. Jon will have told you that I let her think what he said to her was true."

She turned her glance to Clemency's white, stricken face. "There's one truth I can tell. I loved Piers—I wouldn't have stopped at anything to make what I wanted you to believe come true. But he loathes me! I wanted to punish him for making me stay here. Months ago I made Jon believe what you believed. I suppose I wanted to punish Jon too.

"But something odd happened to me when Baba fell ill. I promised myself that if she got better, I'd tell the truth—make it all right between you and Piers."

As she spoke Clemency realized that Syrie Amberley was unchanged. She was not repentant, only keeping a bargain with Fate.

U. S. TO AID FRANCE'S "HOT WAR"—The U S. will chip in with military and economic aid in France's fight against Communist-led rebels in the Viet Nam area of Indo-China. That was Secretary Acheson's response to French Foreign Minister Schuman's S O.S. at the Big Three meeting in Paris. Map shows where France has been fighting an all-out shooting war since 1946. Communist-trained Ho Chi Minh's 70,000-man army, pitted against 150,000 French regulars plus 50,000 native militia troops, has already cost France some 10,000 soldiers. Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . . .

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Ohio State U. Student Guilty Of Murder

James D. Heer Killed Jack T. McKeown A Fellow Student

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 11—(AP)—A jury, under instruction to convict James D. Heer, of slaying a fellow student at Ohio State university last night found him guilty of second degree murder.

His victim, 21-year-old Jack T. McKeown, was shot to death Nov. 12 following a fraternity homecoming party at which guests drank liquor, witnesses testified.

Penalty Is Life Imprisonment

The penalty for second degree murder is life imprisonment.

The jury of 10 women and two men, which heard Heer's attorney plead that the shooting was a "pur accident" which occurred while Heer was intoxicated, deliberated 5 hours 53 minutes.

Determination of the degree of guilt was the jury's only job. Under the law, Judge R. King advised the jurors, they could not give Heer his freedom.

McKeown, of Norwood, Ohio, was shot to death after a Delta Tau Delta fraternity party. Heer was a pledge of the fraternity; McKeown was a member.

Heer, who had joined other studednts in cocktails at a private dance hall, staggered out of his fraternity house with a .45 caliber automatic pistol.

McKeown attempted to disarm him and was shot in the abdomen.

Jokes From Death Trap

(NEA Telephoto)

Although buried to the waist by a caved-in well in a New York garage, Dominick Atteo, 49-year-old well digger managed to jokingly direct workers during early rescue operations to free him from the shaft. Shortly after this picture was made, the imprisoned man suffered severe burns on the hands and face when a cigarette being passed down to him by a son exploded from the effects of oxygen being piped into the cavity. After twenty-seven hours of agony, Atteo died of shock and exhaustion shortly after rescuers had fought their way to his side.

Sobbing Wife Kept Vigil at Well

Mrs. Maria Atteo, young wife of Dominick Atteo, sobs as she looks down on her trapped well digger husband in his prison at the bottom of a 20-foot shaft is Dominick's son, Joseph (center), 27. Imprisoned by a rock slide, the 49-year-old digger expired just as rescuers were ready to bring him out. (AP Wirephoto)

Publisher Killed By Woman Companion

MACOMB, Ill., May 11—(AP)—A Prairie City, Ill., publisher and a woman employe were found shot to death in a parked automobile Wednesday, victims of what Fulton county authorities said was homicide and suicide.

Fulton county coroner Red Maguire said Miss Dorothy Decker, 29, apparently shot Ervin H. Tax, 39, and then turned the gun on herself. Tax's body was in the front seat of Miss Decker's car, and the woman's body was in the back seat with a .22 caliber rifle lying in her lap. She had been shot in the mouth.

Maguire said the two had been dead since last night. A farmer discovered the bodies. The car was on a lonely road three miles southeast of St. Augustine, in Fulton county.

Surviving Miss Decker are her mother, Mrs. Luah Decker, and a brother, James of 3754 Wabash ave., Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. Barkley in Visit to Father

KANSAS CITY, May 11—(AP)—Mrs. Alben W. Barkley, wife of the vice president, arrived today for a birthday visit with her father, Roy W. Rucker, who will be 66 years old tomorrow.

The trial attorney is convalescing at St. Luke's hospital here from a heart ailment which now has kept him hospitalized ofr two and one-half years.

In a press interview Mrs. Barkley, like many another son or daughter, was distressed to admit she wasn't positive how old her father was. She believed it was 65.

"That would be about right since I'm 38," she said frankly.

Her plans during a two-day visit here will depend on her father's health and what his physician will permit. She said she would like to have a birthday luncheon for her father tomorrow if his condition permitted.

Mrs. Barkley smiled at men tion of her 72-year old husband's strenuous political schedule.

"I don't even try to keep up with him," she said.

Her ready laughter was there at a reference to the veep's latest pronouncement that custom requires him who crowns a queen to bestow a kiss but that his wife now supervises the job for him.

"I agree with him entirely," she said.

Certainly she approved of his handling of last month's coronation of the Shenandoah Apple Blossom queen in Winchester, Va. On that occasion there was a stepfatherly kiss for Mrs. Barkley's attractive 18-year old daughter, Ann.

that business of America should get off the defensive and take the offensive. "Unfortunately, mis information, mis-understanding, and lack of information has produced a distorted conception of business and our economic system in the minds of many people. Business is not telling the story often enough to enough people." It was urged at the annual meetin, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States that business hold more employee meetings, that they ask employees what they think about their jobs, about their company and about our economic system. There should be much more closer relation between management and labor in much of America's business and industry.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States is sponsoring an "American Opportunity" program, which local Chambers of Commerce all over the nation are taking up, Mr. Zander reported. A program which it is planned will be undertaken by the National Affairs Committee of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, under the chairmanship of I. H. Reed. The local program will encourage Sedalia businessmen to tell the story often enough to enough people; tell the story of the free enterprise system which has built our nation into the greatest nation the world has ever known with the highest standard of living.

report, Rep. Vinson (D-Ga) announced that his armed services committee will open an investigation of its own.

The center, which handles famous allotment for army and air force personnel, employs 4,500 people. Since last May it has been under investigation by the subcommittee, the Civil Service Commission, the army inspector general, the FBI and the general, the FBI and the General Accounting office.

Karst said he welcomed investigation by the armed services committee. He said there were phases more rightly in the province of that committee than in that of the Civil Service Committee.

But he said his subcommittee would continue with its probing which has already resulted in top personnel shifts at the center, to see that there is no "white-washing."

Karst said evidence indicates "communist infiltration" of the center, the importance of which "cannot be overemphasized." The records of the center show the disposition of American troops and their numbers, grades and types.

The report relates that in the past three years 64 persons have been investigated as "security risks" and that 44 of them were fired or resigned while under investigation.

The recruiting station on the second floor of the post office building will probably be closed while Sgt. Stacy goes on the trip.

Strike Brings Much Idleness

CHICAGO, May 11—(AP)—Unemployment mounted swiftly today as coal mining and other industry began feeling the effects of the strike of locomotive firemen on four key rail systems.

With no peace moves under way or announced, prospects for early peace were dim.

Fourteen major mines in western Pennsylvania, including the ones owned by the Bethlehem Steel Corp., closed down. There were no empty gondolas to carry coal away. The shutdowns forced 4,460 miners into idleness.

Several other mines were operating a half day. Some mines attempted to keep operating by rumping coal on the ground, but such space was limited.

Mine officials said all western Pennsylvania's 55,000 miners may be idle next week if the strike continues.

At Cleveland, C. F. Weigele, general manager of the New York Central's west division, said 25,000 rail workers now are on strike or have been laid off in the system. About 10 per cent of the idle are employes engaged in such non operating tasks as clerical work.

The Fisher Body plant at Cleveland issued temporary furloughs yesterday to 2,500 employes but called 1,500 of them back today. One thousand employes of the Midland Steel Products Co. in Cleveland were laid off yesterday, but nearly all were recalled today.

Plan of Strike Inquiry Dropped

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—A house labor committee plan to investigate last winter's soft coal strike collapsed today when Chairman Lesinski (D-Mich) revoked authority to subpoena John L. Lewis and other witnesses.

"Plain political cowardice," declared Rep. Jacobs (D-Ind), who had proposeed the hearing before his "Union Democracy" subcommittee.

Without subpoena power, Jacobs could not proceed with the inquiry into actions of the United Mine Workers in connection with the end of the coal shutdown last February.

At a showdown session of the full committee today, Lesinski rescinded a previous order abolishing Jacobs' subcommittee.

But he nipped the proposed inquiry in the bud by immediately revoking Jacobs' authority to issue subpoenas independently as a sub-committee chairman.

Jacobs did not challenge Lesinski's right to take this action. Under a house-approved resolution of February, 1919, sole subpoena power was lodged with the labor committee chairman.

Jacobs had wanted to question Lewis and others about the accusations of an illinois miner that the UMW chief had engaged in undemocratic union practices.

Committee on Court Rules

JEFFERSON CITY, May 11—(AP)—Forrest M. Hemker, St. Louis lawyer, was appointed chairman today of a special Supreme Court committee to put new rules of criminal procedure in final form.

Chief Justice Laurance M. Hyde announced the committee's appointment. The court assigned one of its commissioners, Frank P. Aschemeyer, to do the final research and drafting for the committee. When the rules are drafted, they will be submitted to the Supreme Court for final approval.

The 1945 state constitution also gives the Supreme Court the power to set the date when the new rules become affective in state courts. They are the result of several years of work by the Missouri bar.

Serving with Hemker on the drafting committee will be Supreme Court Commissioner Henry J. Westhues, Jefferson City; Circuit Judge Paul A. Buzard, Kansas City; Ben Ely, Hannibal, and Clarence A. Powell, Dexter.

Aid Planned to Southeast Asia

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—Undersecretary of state Webb said today the United States plans immediate military and economic aid to Southeast Asia.

Webb told a news conference:

1. The department "plans to implement at once" a recommendation by a special survey mission that about $60,000,000 be used for economic help to the area. This mission was headed by Allen Griffin, publisher of the Monterey, Calif., Peninsula Herald.

2. The military needs of the area will be met by drawing on President Truman's "emergency fund" of $75,000,000 approved by Congress for the general area of China.

Census Shows Columbia Gains in Unofficial Count

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 11—(AP)—Marvin W. Smith, district census supervisor, reported Columbia's unofficial census count is 31,094, an increase from 18,399 in the last decade.

Smith also noted Moberly's unofficial count of 12,967, a gain of 47 as compared with the 1940 figure.

Smith said that individual census cards are coming in slowly from persons enumerators missed, but that he doubts the final figures will be much larger.

Determined On Low Cost Public Power

ington and Orgeon, and in other sections of the country, where they have decided to distribute power through public bodies and co-operatives.

"The benefits of public investment must be passed on to the people whose tax money is being used. Those benefits must not be diverted for private profit.

"We will continue to fight—and win—for that principle."

The president stopped here at virtually the half-way point in his cross-country crusade for the "fair deal." He has been making what he calls a "report to the people" at whistle stops all over the west and middle west.

He outlined at Pendleton, Ore., last night a program of national development aimed at boosting the income of poorer working families to $4,000 annually in 10 years.

He said the income of those in the lower brackets can be doubled in "real money" and the nation's output of goods and services lifted to $350,000,000,000 by 1960.

In train platform speeches, he continued to insist he is "not running for anything," that this is a "non-political" trip, but that he might come back later to do some "politicking."

Body Is Found By Mushroom Hunter

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., May 11—(AP)—People came from three states today to look at the body of a red-haired woman who was strangled and left nude along a roadside—but none of them knew her.

Police turned to the FBI in Washington in the hope that fingerprints might help solve the mystery suddenly thrust on this northeastern West Virginia health resort.

The body of the woman, about 35 years old, was found yesterday by a mushroom hunter. Doctors said she had been dead three or four days.

Dogs In Chase of Boy On a Motor Bike

Two large dogs took out after Billy Miller, 424 East Howard street, Wednesday afternoon while he was riding his motor bike, in the 1800 block on South Prospect cousing him to wreck the bike and skinning his hands. The mishap was reported to the police.

Advance on The Stock Market

NEW YORK, May 11—(AP)—The stock market closed a little higher today in the face of considerable oppisition.

Gains ranged to around a point for favored issues. Most advances were fractional, though, and a liberal handful of shares coasted along in minus territory.

The market showed a tendency to slip early this morning. Demand for radio-television issues suddenly developed and helped give the entire list a boost. Around mid-session opposition developed and in most cases the day's best prices were shaved.

TV stocks gained as much as 2 points before falling back.

A fair amount of business was done, with turnover at the rate of around 1,700,000 shares for the full day.

Some rails—not affected by the strike—edged ahead, among them Illinois Central, Chesapeake and Ohio, and Northern Pacific.

Higher prices were paid most of the day for Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, Philco, Zenith, Motorola, American Telephone, international Telephone, Western Union, Du Pont, Philip Morris, Sinclair Oil, Gulf Oil and Loew's.

Marked down were General Motors, Distillers Corp., Kennecatt Copper, Allied Chemical, General Electric, and Johns-Manville.

Quickly Settle Fender Crimping

A peaceful settlement was negotiated this morning, concerning an auto collision.

Police officer Cecil Smith, 324 North Summit avenue, driving a 1949 Chevrolet police car, and Theodore Klindworth, 518 North Stewart avenue, driving a 1937 Dodge coupe were in collision about 9:45 o'clock this morning between Fifth and Sixth streets on Lamine avenue. A front fender damage to each vehicle was the only damage.

Smith's statement was: "I was going north on Lamine avenue with the red light and siren on, when the car in front of me, made a left turn into the alley. I could not stop in time to keep from hitting him."

Klindworth's statement: "I was going north on Lamine, turned into alley. I did not hear the police car and did not see it until he hit me."

Auto Plates Unclaimed

There are 13 state auto and truck license plates unclaimed at the police station.

These license plates were lost by motorists during the past month and were picked up by police or brought to the station by the finder of the lost licenses.

Striking Firemen Picket

Four Pennsylvania railroad firemen picket the entrance to the Polk street freight yards in Chicago as a strike of railroad firemen crippled service on four rail systems stretching from coast to coast. Stewart Cantrell, a gateman at the Cleveland Union Terminal, chalks in a sign reading, "All New York Central trains cancelled on account of strike," on the bulletin board at the terminal as locomotive firemen went on strike against four major railroad systems. The work stoppage crippled the nation's transportation network from coast to coast.

To Try Fifteen In Fraud Case

WICHITA, May 11—(AP)—Fifteen men will go on trial in federal court here May 29 on charges of conspiracy and interstate commerce in stolen grain.

Trial dates for 19 other men on similar charges will be set later.

Federal Judge Arthur J. Mellott scheduled the first trial after the 34 men pleaded innocent at their arraignment yesterday.

The government charges that the men manipulated scales at country elevators and bought more grain than they paid for, then trucked the grain across state lines for resale.

Kansas attorney general Harold M. Fatzer has estimated that midwest country elevators have been defrauded of $100,000 in the last year by such operations.

Defendants in the first trial will be Fred A. Carlson, Oklahoma City; Charles C. Griffey of Maryville, Mo.; Smiley F. Griffey, Fremont, Neb.; Paul Pratt, Omaha; Jerry A. Spargur, Clarinda, Iowa; E. D. Ditto, Charles E. Dixon, Allen B. Greep, John Thomas Holt, Melvin L. McNutt, Earl Murray, Jr., Max Reimer, Wayne Sisco, John L. Owens and William L. Watts of St. Joseph, Missouri.

Baptist Opposed To Vatican Post

CHICAGO, May 11—(AP)—The Southern Baptist convention Wednesday asked Pres. Truman not to appoint a successor to Myron Taylor as the presidential representative to the Vatican.

The 10,000 messengers (delegates) unanimously passed the resolution offered by Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist church, Atlanta, Ga., and chairman of the Baptist committee on circulation campaigns.

Taylor's post has been vacant since his resignation in January.

The convention also officially set the date of the next assembly for June 20-24, 1951, at San Francisco.

The messengers' petition to President Truman asks him "to immediately terminate the office of representative of our government to the vatican and the embassy created by such appointment in 1939."

Dr. J. M. Dawson, Washington, D. C., in a report from the joint conference on public relations, said the "Roman Catholic-Church-State" exerted powerful control over strategic positions in nearly all the large periodicals and daily papers."

The report said the Roman Catholic church through such "suppresses, colors or uses to its personal advantage" the press.

Fire Destroys A Windsor Elevator

The Farmers Co-op Elevator in Windsor was completely destroyed by fire shortly before noon Wednesday. W. M. Acher, manager of the co-op estimated the loss at about twenty-five or thirty thousand dollars. The building and its contents was partly covered by insurance.

Acher said he believed the fire orginated due to defective wiring. The blaze started about fifty feet up on the elevator and was first discovered by Harold Sims, worker at the co-op, about 11:00 a. m.

The volunteer fire department was called out and they attempted to squelch the blaze, but were unable to do so because of the heigth involved. Late Wednesday evening the building was still burning and smoldering. The structure was built in 1922 and has been occupied by the Farmers Co-op since 1930.

The 10,000 bushel elevator was located at 500 West Jackson street.

Pettis County Cattle Win At The Royal

Seluhm Skyrocket Is Second Owned By E. M. Mosby

KANSAS CITY, May 11—(AP)—Seven Jersey cows and a bull owned by Missouri dairymen were selected Wednesday as the championship district herd at the American Royal Dairy Cattle Show.

A herd owned by Kansas breeders was second, and an Oklahoma herd was third.

Championship Herd

Owners of animals in the championship herd were Camfield Jersey farm, Neosho; H. B. McDaniel, Earl McDaniel and W. E. McDaniel, all of Carthage; Charley Welch, Neosho, and Percy R. Smith, Joplin.

In the Holstein judging, HRW Pontiac Ormsby, owned by G. W. Crosson & Son, Drexel, Mo., was named senior and grand champion bull. Rockwood Rag Apple Remus, owned by Otho Davidson, Sperry, Okla., won both reserve titles.

Junior Championship Bull

The junior champion bull event in the Holstein division was won by Tabur Cheftain Sunshine, owned by C. C. Bretches of Grandview. The reserve junior champion was Thamesview Monogram Pirate, owned by T. A. Burgeson, also of Grandview.

J. B. Fitch, head of the dairy department at the University of Minnesota, judged the Jersey division. The Holstein judge was A. C. Thomson manager of the Hickory Creek Farm, McHenry, Ill.

Flaming Wreckage Is Under Control

KREMLIN, Okla., May 10—(AP)—Fire experts from the Champlin refinery at Enid finally brought under control today the flaming wreckage of a Rock Island freight train which bolted from the tracks and caught fire near here last night.

Two trainmen perished in the fire. They were Tom Kelley, 40, head brakeman, and Darryl Burrows, 31, fireman, both of El Reno.

Burrow's body was removed from the wreckage an hour after the fire was controlled.

Railway officials said 27 or the 53 car train are destroyed and 9 others badly damaged.

District supervisor W. D. Pace said it will be two or three days before the line will be cleared and traffic resumed north.

Pace reported heavy rains hamper workmen and the rails must be repaired and a new bridge built over Wild Horse creek.

Cause of the wreck has not been determined. Trainmen believe heavy rains weakened the roadbed.

Engineer George Gholston, 59, of El Reno, leaped to safety but received minor injuries A. J. McCallough, 55, rear brakeman, escaped injury.

Conductor William Propper was only slightly hurt.

"The whole train seemed just to rare up. Then the front part twisted and left the tracks."

Oklahoma Bus Strike Called Off

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 11—(AP)—Officials of the Mid-Continent Trailways Bus Company and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen have announced a strike by approximately 60 union bus drivers has been called off and that the dispute which resulted in their strike April 28 will be submitted to arbitration.

The bus line serves cities in Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas.

Announcement of the agreement to arbitrate the dispute was made in a joint statement by Kenneth T. Wilson, vice president and general manager of the company, and E. B. Welcome, deputy president of the union.

The bus drivers struck following a dispute over dismissal of driver Fay Evans.

The Mid-Continent officials said operation of bus line schedules would be resumed immediately with the first bus leaving the Oklahoma City terminal at 11:40 p. m. for Wichita Falls, Tex. The company hopes to have normal schedules operating within three or four days.

Under the agreement announced today an arbitration board of three members will be appointed, one by the Mid-Continent Company, one by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the third member to be appointed by the other two. If the two partisan arbitrators cannot agree on the third member within ten days, the governor and labor commissioner of the state of Oklahoma will appoint the third, neutral, member.

Counterfeit Ring Has Been Smashed

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder announced last night the Secret Service has smashed a million-dollar syndicate which passed counterfeit money in 28 of the 48 states and in Canada.

The arrest of two men in Buffalo, N. Y., appeared to wind up the case, Snyder said.

Secret service chief U. E. Baughman said the group had printed $500,000 in Canadian bill counterfeits and about $500,000 in U. S money counterfeits in the course of its operations.

Baughman said the syndicate was broken up by the secret service after four months of intensive work.

Baughman told a reporter, however, that about $45,000 in the counterfeit U. S. money—fake $10 and $20 federal reserve notes—was passed on victims in 28 states, before the ring was broken up.

Another $280,000 was seized before it was put into circulation, he added, and further counterfeit notes may now be in the hands of "passers," although members of the syndicate claim they were destroyed.

More than 10 men have been arrested as having principal roles in the counterfeit syndicate, Baughman said, and another 64 persons have been picked up in various cities on charges of acting as passers.

He described the case as probably the most important crackdown against counterfeiting in years.

The syndicate's counterfeit passing operations extended across the country from "Connecticut to California, and Maine to Texas," Baughman said.

Recommend More Missouri Airports

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Administration listed 191 places in Missouri and 159 in Kansas at which it believes airports should be built or improved.

They are part of a national total of 5,093. The listing, required annually under the federal airport act of 1946, is based on the CAA's estimates of demands for air service in the next three years.

California headed the list with projects costing $93,173,000 (M). Next was Missouri where the plan calls for the construction of 123 airports and improvements to 68 to cost $60,578,000 (M). Plans call for $25,251,000 in federal funds matched by $35,327,000 raised under local sponsorship.

The Kansas program calls for 59 new airports and improvements to 100 others at a total cost of $14,572,000. Of this amount $6,967,000 would be in federal funds and $7,605,000 in locally sponsored funds.

Included in the Kansas list are three seaplane bases at Ellsworth, Horton and Topeka.

Locations chosen for actual work will be selected, the CAA said, on the basis of greatest need and on the amount of money Congress will appropriate for such purposes.

The construction list for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1950, will not be announced until after Congress acts on the general appropriation bill now under consideration.

Home Opener For Cubs Friday Night

Sedalia Semi-Pro Club Host to the J. C. Dodgers

The home opener for the Sedalia Cubs, Sedalia's only semi-pro baseball team, will be this Friday night at 8:00 o'clock, under the lights of Liberty park against the hard hitting Jefferson City Dodgers, a Negro team.

Mayor Herb E. Studer will pitch the first ball and Sheriff John Taylor will be behind the plate in the opening ceremony. Jack Alpert, manager of the Cubs said a lot of advanced tickets have been sold for this game and he expects a large turnout.

Some new faces will be seen in the Cub's lineup. Jim Taylor, who played last year for the Sedalia team but has been playing with the Holden club, will be on third base for the Cubs. Cliff Barr will move from third base to the catcher's position. A new shortstop will play that night for the Cubs, Carl Cassing of Warrensburg, who played on the CMSC basketball team last season. He stands six eet, two inches and weighs 195 pounds.

Cubs' Star Hurler

The fans will have a chance to look over the Cubs' star pitcher Bob Rapp tomorrow night. The 20-year-old right hander, who has a good curve and knuckle ball will be on the mound, with Cliff Barr behind the plate. Rapp pitched a 3 to 2 victory at the start of the season against Mendon and hurled a near victory last Sunday, when the club lost to Armstrong 6 to 5.

The Dodgers' battery was not available at this writing but indications show that the team has a lot on the ball and is a hard hitting outfit. Last Sunday the Negro team defeated Boonville to the tune of 21 to 1. The team is made up mostly of last year's Eagles and Mohawks of Jefferson City.

Pro And Con Discussion On Balk Rule

Most Managers In Big Leagues Favor The Rule

By Joe Reichler

NEW YORK, May 11—(AP)—It may come as a surprise to many to learn that a majority of the major league managers look upon the new balk rule with whole hearted favor.

An Associated Press canvass of baseball's top strategists showed today that nine managers like the rule and four are opposed. Two declined to venture an opinion and one was neutral.

Managers who want a new balk deal are Ed Sawyer of the Phillies, Leo Durocher of the Giants, Frankie Frisch of the Cubs and Casey Stengel of the Yankees.

No Fault With Rule

Those who have found no fault with the rule, or rather the new interpretation of the rule, included Joe McCarthy, Red Sox; Jack Onslow, White Sox; Red Rolfe, Tigers; Connie Mack, Athletics; Zack Taylor, Browns; Bucky Harris, Senators; Burt Shotton, Dodgers; Billy Meyer, Pirates and Eddie Dyer, Cardinals.

With one or two exceptions, however, they insisted on more uniformity in the interpretation of the rule by the umpires.

"The umpires should get together and call it as of one mind," was the general reaction. "All it needs to work is for the umpires to agree on the timing. Right now one umpire waits only a half-second, another three-quarters of a second and third doesn't call it at all."

The most vehement of the managers was Sawyer.

"Ought to Junk it"

"They ought to junk it," he said "and return to the way it was last year. It's the silliest thing I ever heard of. What's the reason for the rule, anyway? I guess the races were too close last year, the fans had too much excitement, too much fun, so the guys with the pencils decided they would slow down the thrills."

There have been 48 balks called against pitchers thus far, 29 in the National league. Last year only 46 were called in both legaues all season.

Actually there are 13 ways a pitcher can balk. All were in the book last year except No. 13, which reads. " a balk shall be called if the pitcher delivers the ball from a set position without coming to a stop of one full second."

Other Views

Here's how the protesting managers other than Sawyer, view it:

Durocher — "It's a donkey rule —not workable. Every umpire has his own version of calling the thing. The result? All is confusion."

Frisch —"We're headed for real trouble with this one."

Stengel — "Some pretty good pitchers have been hurt by it. Already it has been instrumental in losing a couple of games for some clubs."

Indians Hold Top Spot in American Ass'n

K. C. Blues Are In Sixth Place In The Standings

By the Associated Press

Indianapolis' pace setting Indians gained more ground in the American Association race last night.

The Indians pounded out a 9-2 victory over Milwaukee while Toledo helped things for Indianapolis by beating second-place Minneapolis, 5-3.

St. Paul committed eight errors —five of them in the sixth inning —in losing to Columbus, 13-11. The number of bobbles in the sixth is believed to be a single inning record for the association.

Kansas City's tilt with Louisville was postponed because of wet grounds.

A Shelling for Reliefer

Rookie Fred Strobel in his first start for the Indians rationed the Brewers to six hits. His teammates gave him a good start—four runs in the first inning — on a single, an error, a triple by Al Grunwald and two more singles. Indianapolis collected four more runs in the seventh when reliefer Ray Martin underwent a shelling.

Toledo also had good results with a pitcher making a first appearance—Eddie Neville. He retired the last two batters to save the Mudhens after he came in to relieve Ken Fremming. The Millers had one run in and runners on second and third and only one out when Neville got the call. Fremming got credit for the win, however. He held the Millers to three hits until the trouble started in the ninth. Dave Barnhill was the victim.

In the error-laden game at Columbus, Louis Arroyo, third Red Bird pitcher, got credit for the victory although he got aid from Gene Major. Starter Phil Haugstad was charged with the defeat.

Tonight's schedule and probable pitchers:

Milwaukee (Elliott) at Indianapolis (Riddle).

Kansas City (unavailable) at Louisville (unavailable).

Minneapolis (Babala) at Toledo (Marlowe).

St. Paul (Taylor) at Columbus (Major).

Glaviano Has Fine Record With Cards

He Has Reached Base 37 Times In 15 Games

ST. LOUIS, May 11—(AP)—Little Tommy Glaviano has "learned to play" but it was inevitable as far as Tommy was concerned.

Glaviano, never a backward youth, always knew he could make good at baseball.

As a kid of 17 he played shortstop for the St. Louis Cardinal's Class C Fresno, Calif. farm club. One day in 1941 Branch Rickey, No. 2 man in the Redbird organization at the time, made his annual tour of inspection at Fresno.

Glaviano tells how he busted right into the office and charged up to Rickey:

"Say," Tommy shouted. "What is the big idea of keeping me here in this Class C joint? I'm a major league ball player."

Glaviano said Rickey came back with:

Rickey's Remark

"My boy, you are very small. But you are sturdy and you have strong legs. You may last long in this game — once you learn to play."

Branch Rickey isn't around to reap the benefits but owner Fred Saigh and Manager Eddie Dyer are well pleased with Glaviano's present .379 batting average.

While holding down the lead-off batting spot and playing third base like it hasn't been played around Sportsman's Park for some time, he has reached base 37 times in 15 games.

That's 15 walks and 22 hits. He has batted in 10 runs and has hit safely in the past eight games.

After a bad spring season he broke into the lineup in Chicago April 22.

Told to Hit Strikes

"He looked bad down south, mostly because he had a bad arm," Eddie remarked. "We told him when we put him on third at Chicago that he had a chance to be a fine hitter if he'd hit only strikes and lay off the bad pitches. He's studied it. He's had great eye."

Dyer hopes Tommy never forgets how to play.

Spotlight on Stan Musial In National

First Baseman Had A Big Night With 4 Hits And a Walk

By Jack Hand
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Best bet of 1950 is Stan Musial to become the National League's first .400 hitter in 20 years.

Not since Bill Terry smacked the ball for a .401 mark in 1930, has a National Leaguer ventured into the stratosphere. Now Musial, the St. Louis Cardinal slugger, is only one hit shy of .500 at .483.

First base seems to agree with Musial. Ever since Manager Eddie Dyer gave up on Steve Bilko and moved Stan from right field to first, he has drilled holes in the fences.

Big Splurge

The big splurge really started when Musial returned to the lineup after a six-day layoff due to a sprained knee. Since his return Stan has 18 hits in 30 at bats or .533. And he hasn't reached Ebbets field, his happy hunting ground. That comes next week.

Only two pitchers horse collared Musial so far. Cliff Chambers turned him back hitless the second night of the season.

Joe Hatten got him out May 1 as a pinch hitter.

Musial had his biggest night of the season yesterday with four singles and a walk in the Cards' 5-1 victory over the New York Giants behind Max Lanier's seven-hitter.

Brooklyn was knocked out of first place by the Cincinnati Reds, 4-0, on Ken Raffensberger's three-hit job. It was Raffy's first win, snapping the Reds seven-game losing streak.

Phillies on Top

As a result of the Dodgers' loss, the idle Phillies moved to the top of the heap for the first time since opening day. The Phils' day game at Pittsburgh was rained out.

Chicago took advantage of four Boston errors to trim the Braves, 6-3. Doyle Lade needed help from Paul Minner to earn his first win at the expense of Warren Spahn.

Rain washed out the big goings in the American League, postponing the Detroit-Boston game at Senway park and the New York Yankee-St. Louis Browns game. All concerned play doubleheaders today.

Nothing seems to stop that Washington club which clicked off its fourth straight, 7-6. over Chicago. The Senators broke loose for five runs in a big fifth inning rally sparked by Ed Stewart's pinch triple.

Cleveland snapped a four-game losing streak by scoring three unearned runs with two out in the ninth for a 6-4 win over Philadelphia.

Aggies Are Favorites to Retain Titles

Missouri Valley Sports Carnival Opens Friday

PEORIA, Ill., May 11—(AP)—The powerful Aggies of Oklahoma A and M are good bets to retain all four titles in the two-day Missouri Valley spring sports carnival tomorrow and Saturday.

The Aggies are considered a shoo-in for track and also are favored in baseball, golf and tennis.

Champions from 1949 are back in every event but one in track, where the brilliant cowboys are expected to take their tenth straight championship.

In past performances this season, the Aggies have beaten conference records in five events. They flashed below the 440 yard and mile relay marks despite a soggy track at the Drake relays. Harold Tarrant in the 880 and Dick Stolpe in the 440 are in a class alone. Behind them, the Oklahomans are expected to take three more places.

Broad Jump

John Voight has leaped 24 feet, 10 ½ inches in the broad jump. A trio of Aggie sprinters clocked between :09.5 and :09.8 may dethrone Drake's Don Pettie, the Canadian Olympic entry who took both dashes last year.

Bradley of Peoria is expected to be involved in a fight for second place with Detroit and Drake. Bradley has Roy Grieve, a double hurdles winner, and high jumper Jack Heintzman back. Heintzman has a peak jump of 6 feet, 7 ⅜ inches and is given an excellent chance of breaking the four year old conference record of 6-5.

Paul Efaw of A and M, who has flirted with the regions below 9:30, is out of reach in the two mile run. The mile—only event without a defending titleholder—also is expected to go the Aggies.

Baseball Title

Oklahoma A and M and Bradley are involved in a rematch of last year's two out of three playoff for the baseball title. The Braves carry a 12-8 record in the Valley's north division, against the 15-3 mark of the Aggies in the southern bracket.

Baseball games Friday afternoon and Friday night will be followed by another Saturday night if necessary. The Aggies mopped up the series in two games last spring.

Bo Winninger of A and M is back in search of his fourth straight individual conference crown in golf after a nine under par mark for 54 holes last spring. Winninger was Oklahoma state amateur champion two years ago, and last week he went to the quarter finals of the Western Amateur.

In Tennis, the Aggies appear invincible. Their duo of Buddy McCune and Paul Hurley won the Valley doubles crown and finished one-two in the singles. McCune was the conference singles king in 1948, but last year was beaten by Hurley, then a sophomore.

Browns Aren't Doing Well in Court Either

ST. LOUIS, May 11—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns, sharing last place in the American League with the Chicago White Sox, aren't doing so well in court either.

The club's motion for a new trial in its effort to evict the St. Louis Cardinals from Sportsman's park was overruled yesterday by Circuit Judge Robert L. Aronson.

The Browns own the park, but both clubs use it for their home games. Judge Aronson ruled May 1 the Browns can't throw the Cardinals out of the park until a lease expires in 1961.

The Cardinals expect to have their own park before that time.

Little Rock Travelers Have Losing Record

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 11—(AP)—The Little Rock Travelers became the first team in Southern Association history to lose 21 straight games—even though they pulled a triple play—as they fell before the Nashville Vols, 7-1, here last night.

Modern Bowler of Detroit took over third place in the team standings with a total of 2,916 pins—good enough last year to land fourth place and $1000 in prize money.

Joe Paullus, the lead-off Kegler, led the team with a 646 series. The Detroiters collected 944-914-1058—2,916.

A pair of Californians, Art Lifquist and Weldon Ramey of Los Angeles, rolling in doubles, hit a 494, highest single game of doubles play this year. But, a poor first game kept them from the first ten.

Kirkwood, the defending champion, will be back with 17 contestants, but without the services of three men who won titles a year ago.

University City, victor in the indoor meet, will have 13 entered. Springfield, second place winner, will have 23, and St. Louis Christian Brothers 15. Christian Brothers and Kansas City Central tied for third place in the indoor event.

The only 1949 individual champions to return are Bob Boyd of Columbia, high jumper, and Jack Hodges, Webster Groves, half miler.

American Won Mexican Car Race

EL OCOTAL, Mexico, May 11—(AP)—After driving 2,150 miles in six days, Hershel McGriff of Portland, Ore., today was $17,381 richer for winning Mexico's border-to-border stock car race.

The race which began last Friday in Ciudad Juarez on the U.S. border ended here yesterday on the Guatemalan frontier. McGriff, driving a 1950 Oldsmobile, had a winning time of 27 hours, 34 minutes and 25 seconds. His winning margin was one minute, 16 seconds.

Second money of $11,570 went to Tom Deal of El Paso, Tex., whose time was 27:39:41. He drove a cadillac. Ray Pat Connor of El Paso was third in a Nash, clocked in 27:50.35. His third prize was $5,785.

The race was contested over flat, straight desert highway, curving mountain roads and, in the last lap, over washed-out gravel. The event opened Mexico's stretch of the Pan American highway. McGriff averaged 89 miles per hour.

Of the first 10 in the race, six were Americans. Al Rogers, of Colorado Springs, driving a Cadillac, was fourth in 27:55:39

The race brought three deaths. Enrique Hachmeister, a Guatemalan driver, was killed the first day. On the third day, two spectators died when a racer ran into the crowd.

Fifty-seven of the original 132 starting cars finished the race.

Mrs. Lee And Miss Riley Meet in Quarterfinals

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., May 11—(AP)— Mrs. Margaret Gunther Lee, of Memphis, Tenn., set out today to conquer an old jinx—little Polly Riley, of Fort Worth, Texas—in the quarterfinals of the Women's Southern Amateur golf championship.

At least four other times during their careers, Mrs. Lee faced Miss Riley in a golf match. And all four times Miss Riley came out the winner.

The other matches pair Mary Lena Faulk, of Thomasville, Ga., and Mary Ann Downey, of Baltimore, Md.; Dorothy Kirby, of Atlanta, and Ann Sparrow, of Tampa, Fla.; and Bee McWane, of Birmingham, Ala., and Betty Mackinnon, of Mt. Pleasant, Texas.

Miss McWane, Alabama women's titlist, disposed of Mrs. Carle Robbins, of Fort Smith, Ark., 8 and 7 yesterday.

Miss Sparrow advanced with a 3 and 1 triumph over Mrs. Dedow Sparks, of Nashville, Tenn. Miss Mackinnon routed Frances Rich, of Bainbridge, Ga., 8 and 7.

Mrs. Katt's quads: "Aren't they beauties?"

There's something about spring that brings out the beasts and when the beasts are out the photographers aren't far behind, as these photos prove. In Brooklyn, O., police chief Roger James got doggone tired of vagrant dogs roaming the streets. So he rounded 'em up. They are seen, at left, in the village cooler waiting for their owners to pay possible fines of $5 to $200 to liberate them. Students at Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, drafted Joy Boy, a horse, to play the role of a dean in a dramatic skit. All went well until they tried to get Joy Boy to walk down a flight of stairs — which he had walked up willingly — to get out of the building. All of Tech's men couldn't budge Joy Boy, until his owner came and coaxed him down the stairs backwards.

At the circus in Chicago, Maggy, the chimpanzee, a natural born performer, looks pleased with herself as she shows how easy it is to walk a tightrope — when you've got feet designed for the job.

In Cleveland, O., Mrs. Katt wandered expectantly into Glenville hospital, ignored a sign reading, "All Deliveries in Rear," and presented the hospital with its first set of quads.

IN THE DOGHOUSE—Cooling their paws in the village hoosegow are these young canine vagrants at Brooklyn, O., a Cleveland suburb. The town's police chief, Roger James, declared a crackdown on wandering pups and rounded all he could snare. Brooklyn has no dog pound so Chief James takes them to the local jail until their owners bail them out at fines ranging from $5 to $200.

RELUCTANT ACTOR—Joy Boy, the horse drafted by students at Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, to play the role of a dean in a dramatic sketch, presented a problem in staging. Joy Boy went upstairs to the second floor auditorium quite willingly, but after his act he refused to go back down. All the might of these students wasn't enough to budge him. Finally, his owner arrived and coaxed the horse down the steps backwards.

Herd of Giraffes Featured With Al G. Kelly-Miller Circus Coming Wednesday, May 17

ABOVE: Shown a herd of giraffes and a midget clown, comparing the height of the animals, which are said to be tallest of all animals. This herd of giraffes are a recent addition to the large collection of animals carried with the Al G. Kelly-Miller Bros. Circus scheduled to play an afternoon and night engagement at the West U. S. 50 Highway grounds in Sedalia on Wednesday, May 17.

Big Circus Brings First Giraffes to This City

The average circus that visits Sedalia has never carried or boasted of exhibiting a herd of giraffes. The Al G. Kelly-Miller Bros. and Ringling-Barnum Circus are the only two American Circuses now exhibiting Giraffes and only seven zoological institutions in the nation have them as an attraction.

Giraffes which are found only in the continent of Africa are the tallest of all living creatures. They belong to the ruminants, or cud-chewers and naturalists are inclined to place them somewhere between the deer family and the hollow-horned ruminants in which are to be found oxen, buffaloes and antelopes.

The towering height of the giraffe is entirely attributable to the great length of the neck and limbs. A full grown giraffe will measure approximately nineteen feet in height. Giraffes live mostly in forests or wooded country.

Undoubtedly this will be the first time any circus has ever brought giraffes to Sedalia.

The Al G. Kelly-Miller Bros. Circus boasts this year of having the second largest herd of performing elephants in America and the most varied selection of wild animals ever with any circus, the management of the circus cordially invites the public to visit the showgrounds upon arrival of the circus to see the many animals fed and watered, especially school students. This feeding and watering is usually done at nine a. m. show day.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mertgen and family, Mrs. Harry Mertgen and children, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Oehrke and family and Lloyd Bremer, attended the Pegg'ee Hewitt Dance Carvinal in Sedalia.

K. C. Gamblers Thwart Police Raid Squads

Chief Johnson Tells Grand Jury Annual Take $34,500,000

KANSAS CITY, May 11—(AP)—Elaborate precautions taken by Kansas City gamblers to thwart police raiding squads were outlined by Chief of Police Henry W. Johnson.

His report on gambling raids for 1947, 1948 and 1949 was an answer to a federal grand jury report which told of a $34,500,000 a year gambling take in Kansas City.

One "Spot" Raided 54 Times

Fifty-four times, his report said, police raided a dice game at 3111 Holmes St., a place which the grand jury said netted $200,000 in eight months of operation in 1948.

But in none of the raids was any evidence of gambling found the report said because "admittance to the alleged gambling room was delayed until all the evidence was eliminated."

"The club was equipped with locked and barred doors leading to the room in which the gambling was reported carried on," Chief Johnson said. "A buzzer system warning of a police raid was sounded the moment officers entered the building.

"From time to time officers were forced to break down the first of the doors leading to the game room. The second door was heavy steel with three cross bars that dropped into steel holders embeded in cement. This door could not be forced with anything less than a battering ram."

Apparently that was not enough protection, the chief noted, for in subsequent raids the officers found a third door had been installed between the two.

List 15 In The Venture

The grand jury in its interim report of underworld activities in Kansas City listed 15 partners in the venture, among them an assistant county prosecutor and the county superintendent of buildings.

Another elaborate warning system was at the Fifteenth Street Merchants Association at 1510½ Charlotte, the chief reported.

Here, he said:

"An electric eye about one foot from the top step sounded a warning signal when anyone crossed it. Inside the first door was a lookout. The door was equipped with a panel of transparent mirror glass, which prevents anyone from seeing anything beyond the door, but permitting the lookout to view anyone trying to gain entrance. Two doors farther along the hall leading to the gaming room were similarly equipped. By the time admittance could be gained to the so-called club room all gambling evidence had disappeared."

Chief Johnson said police arrested 2,247 persons on gambling charges in 1949, as compared with 2,707 in 1948 and 2,953 in 1947.

Plan School For Shut-In Students

ST. LOUIS, May 11—(AP)—A plan by which shut-in students can go to school by telephone was disclosed by the board of education Wednesday.

The plan has been submitted to the state board of education and will go into operation when the state group gives approval, Philip J. Hickey, superintendent of instruction, said.

Three pieces of equipment are used in the special telephonic hookup: A speaker-microphone and amplifier equipped with a "listen-talk" switch at the student's bedside; a school amplifier that enables students in the classroom to hear the bedridden student; and a microphone unit located near the teacher's desk.

Hickey said the new unit, if it works out as well as expected, will give the student more school work in less time and help the student feel he is still part of the class although confined to bed.

At present 18 public school teachers are teaching 82 handicapped children in their homes. Because of the distance between homes the most instruction any child can receive is six hours a week.

A Pulitzer Prize Winner A Suicide

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 11—(AP)—John Gould Fletcher, noted Arkansas writer and first southern poet to win a Pulitzer prize, was found dead near his country home here today. Coroner Howard A. Dishongh said it was apparent suicide.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Sam Hallum reported that the body of the 64-year-old author was found in a pond west of Little Rock.

Hallum said he and two deputies were called to Fletcher's home by the poet's sister, Mrs. D. D. Terry, wife of a former Arkansas congressman, who reported her brother was ill and had wandered away.

The first search was fruitless and the officers gave up. Later, they received another call that a man's coat, hat and watch had been found near a pond. They went to the scene and found the body in ten feet of water.

Dishongh said he found no marks of violence on the body or evidence of foul play.

Fletcher won the Pulitzer prize for poetry in 1939 for his "Seleted Poems."

It is estimated that 2,326,000 big game animals now are living in the national forests of the United States.

Ripley Curios Are Exhibited

Curiosities, oddities and art objects acquired during the travels of Robert Ripley are being exhibited in front of the court house on Ohio avenue. The mobile exhibit, mounted in a special custom built trailer, is being exhibited throughout the United States, under the auspices of Disabled American Veterans.

Chapter Charles Irbin Tarr No. 7 of Sedalia is sponsoring the tour today and Thursday in this city. The exhibit is free, but voluntary donations will be accepted. In charge of the exhibition is Bill Vandoren of New York.

Some of the many sights shown in the trailer which has "Bob Ripley's Believe It or Not" painted on the side are: Gold plated monastery of Knasty, a wooden man which grew into form from the root of a cherry tree, a Rosary of human bones; a prayer wheel, and according to Tibet religion, one spin of the wheel means 3,000 prayers set for a person. A Chinese float made entirely of blue bird feathers and many other "Believe It Or Not" oddities.

Fred D. Morley is commander of the local chapter of Disabled American Veterans.

NOW FOR A BRIDEGROOM—Wellesley College Senior Ardis Voeglim, 21, of Philadelphia, smiles prettily after winning the college's annual hoop-rolling contest at Wellesley, Mass. Her prize is a bride's bouquet, which, according to tradition, she will be the first in her class to use. She isn't engaged yet.

Touches of snowy white pique give crispness to these tailored summer fashions designed by Dorothy Cox. The beige chambray suit (above) has a demure Peter-Pan collar with matching cuffs on the elbow-length sleeves.

Picture on Wildlife at Lions Meeting

Brief Explanatory Talk is Given By Agent Stuesse

A motion picture on wildlife was presented at the Sedalia Lions club Wednesday by the Mo. Conservation Commission, through William H. Stuesse, agent, and Otis Thorburn, field section service agent. Agent Stuesse also gave a brief talk preceeding the showing of the picture on several changes in the rules of the Commission.

The Red Fox which has become a general nuisance was one portion of his talk. Steusse remarked on complaints the Commission has received on this animal. He explained the farmer has a right to protect his property and killing of the red fox under those circumstances is lawful.

He told of fishing for bass in private waters and also explained the fishing of ponds should be done to protect the fish themselves. By this he means, population of ponds can grow too large resulting in a shortage of foods and resulting in scrub fish and so on. The Commission urges the owners of such ponds to fish them.

Bass season opens on May 30 on state wide basis.

The motion picture was on the life of prairie chickens of several types.

It was announced the Lions will sponsor the annual Air Show at the Sedalia Municipal air field the dates are to be set later. The club is also sponsoring a model airplane contest.

Joe Elliott called attention to the annual "White Cane Week" starting on May 15.

Guests today were Jim Duane, member of the Kansas City South Side Lions club, and Clyde Damewood, Sedalia; S/Sgt. John Stacy, recruiting officer, guest of Joe Elliott; Bill Wright, guest of Mayor Herb Studer. Winston Grubbs, Town and Country, was introduced as a new member of E. B. Smith.

The program was in charge of Virgil Ragar.

A. W. Haller, president, presided.

Sixty different bird families have been counted in Louisiana by the state department of conservation.

"... extraordinary! It just keeps repeating: Creamo's the only margarine made with cream" (see column at right)

CREAMO ONLY MARGARINE WITH CREAM

5 to 1 choose Creamo in Taste-Test

A check of margarine brands confirms the report that only one margarine is made with cream. That margarine is Creamo. Margarine industry sales figures reveal Creamo Margarine's popularity has grown more rapidly than the average of all other brands combined since Creamo was made available for national distribution.

In tests against the most expensive type bread-spreads, school children chose Creamo Margarine 5 to 1. Tests like this prove Creamo's made-with-cream flavor is superior on bread and more delicious for frying, baking and seasoning other foods.

Users say Creamo's extra flavor goes farther, too.

It's here! Procter & Gamble's latest, great discovery!

NEW! PATENTED!

cheer®

SO GOOD you get the cleanest possible wash with the least possible work!

Years of research and experimenting in Procter & Gamble's laboratories led to the discovery of the newest clothes-washing marvel—CHEER.

CHEER was tested and tested—under all kinds of washing conditions. And the job it did was SO GOOD it surpassed the highest expectations of its makers.

Now CHEER is ready for you! And Procter & Gamble promises that it will give you the cleanest possible wash with the least possible work.

SO GOOD it washes clothes cleaner in ONE wash than any soap will in TWO!

It's true! Laboratory tests prove that CHEER is so good it gets clothes cleaner in a single wash than any soap you ever used will in 2 washings!

SO GOOD you can get a bright, clean wash even WITHOUT RINSING!

It's true! CHEER can give you a sweet, clean wash even without rinsing. Because CHEER holds dirt. So, when you wring out the suds—away goes the dirt.

You get the cleanest possible wash any "no rinse" suds can offer!

But if you do rinse, CHEER's your best bet for a cleaner wash than you'll get with any soap—any other type of washing product.

SO GOOD you get a snowy-white wash with NO BLEACHING! NO BLUING!

Without bleaching, without bluing—without help from anything—CHEER washes your white things clean as fresh snow. Your colored things look bright as new paint. Yet for all its power, CHEER is kind to hands, safe for washable colors.

SO GOOD you get a film-free wash even IN HARDEST WATER!

CHEER suds come up thick and fast in water so hard the best soaps known give up the ghost. Leaves no sticky scum—in fact, CHEER removes the dulling film left on clothes by soap. You never need a water softener with CHEER!

SO GOOD you get a spanking-clean wash even WHEN HOT WATER RUNS LOW!

The hotter the water, the better the wash. But when the hot water runs low, CHEER won't let you down. Sturdy CHEER suds stand right up and go on fighting dirt and grease. Whatever the temperature, CHEER will give you a cleaner wash than any soap in the world will at the same temperature.

Try cheer once...and you'll cheer forever!

Mother's day poems were read by Mrs. J. L. Knight, Mrs. Maude Davis, Mrs. James E. Parkhurst and Mrs. Rhine.

The June meeting will be with Mrs. E. E. Rhine.

If leaking of water into the cylinders of an automobile motor is suspected, the spark plugs should be removed in quick succession after running the engine until it is hot. Steam escaping from any cylinder will indicate a leak.

KANSAS CITY, May 11—(AP)—Dr. A. F. Schopper, Kansas City, was named president-elect of the Missouri Dental Association yesterday.

Mrs. Dorothy Jennings was chosen president-elect of the Missouri Dental Assistants. Schopper and Mrs. Jennings will take office next year.

Other Missouri dental officers: Dr. E. E. Haverstick, St. Louis, president; Dr. B. O. Haun of St. Louis, Dr. R. J. Hampton of Kansas City and Dr. Jack Grant of Joplin, vice presidents; Dr. Ruben R. Rhoades, Jefferson City, secretary-treasurer.

Other officers of the Missouri assistants: Mrs. Audrey Stoecker, St. Louis, president; Mrs. Kathryn Goller of St. Louis and Mrs. Berna Jane Prindiville, Kansas City, vice presidents; Mrs. Grace Roath, St. Louis, recording secretary; Mrs. Zerah Mann of Kansas City, Mrs. Zeda Shern of Columbia and Mrs. Rose Barby of St. Louis, directors.

Princess Fatemeh Has Been Forgiven

PARIS, May 10—(AP)—Princess Fatemeh of Iran and her American husband, Vincent Lee Hillyer, cemented their marriage in the graces of Iranian royalty today by being wed a second time at a glittering Moslem ceremony.

Hillyer, a 25-year-old writer from Los Banos, Calif., gave up his Roman Catholic religion for love of the pretty sister of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi and became a Moslem last Sunday.

An official Iranian source said the bride, 21, was restored automatically to her royal position by the marriage.

Permit Granted To Remodel

A re-modeling permit was issued to Johns Auto Supply company, 120 South Osage avenue, naming Sievers Construction company as the contractor.

Dick Eckhoff, president of Johns Auto Supply, Inc., who took the business over last October, said the top floor of the large building would be torn down, and a new roof put on over the second floor story.

It was explained that the third story was built of frame work, whereas the other two stories were of brick construction. Eckhoff pointed out after completion around June 15, the building would look more up-to-date, especially when "old time decorations" are ripped off. The building is owned by Mrs. Flora E. Johns, whose husband before his death, six years ago, was engaged in the business.

Another building permit was issued to M.F.A. Central Missouri Co-Op, 212 West Pacific street, for the construction of two steel bins, with each one to hold a capacity of 2150 bushels of grain. The buildings will be used for grain storage.

Prices Again Move Upward

Foods Climb to Highest Level Since in August

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK, May -(AP)—Another series of price boosts here and there this week sharpens the debate over the prospects of inflation becoming a household word again.

Here is the packet of news:

Wool futures prices in New York at a new seasonal high; mills bidding on government orders for fabric now ask as much as 45 cents a yard more than they did last October; the Sydney (Australia) market strong, with the world supply of fine wools tightening.

Metals on the rise again; zinc up another half-cent to 12 cents a pound; copper price advances rumored, as the price of brass and copper products goes up; steel scrap firm after recent price advances; tin up again.

Tire prices expected to go up about five percent within a month; natural rubber prices, up 40 percent since last fall, holding fairly steady at the new highs; natural latex, the liquid rubber from which foam rubber products are made, now 35 cents a pound against 21 last summer; prospects for higher prices for latex products—auto cushions, mattresses and pillows.

Dressed pork prices up sharply this week; hogs inching up recently; spot prices for wheat, corn, beef, higher Tuesday; cocoa prices, up 20 percent in six weeks, still higher Tuesday, putting a squeeze on the candy maker.

Gasoline Is Firm

Gasoline prices holding firm after their recent climb to new highs in many parts of the country; eastern fuel oil dealers announcing that this summer they will not give any price discounts to lure householders into filling up their tanks early.

Whiskey drinkers being told once more that the price of Scotch is likely to hold where it is because of an unsatisfied world demand for limited supplies; but some brands of bourbon have come down in price recently.

And vacuum packed coffee continues to weaken in price under the determined resistance of the housewife; further cuts of two or three cents a pound this week by some roasters who have been unable to move their stocks.

But with several of the various wholesale commodity price indexes at their highest level since late 1948, the debate over the strength of the inflationary trend grows louder.

Observers point out that in most instances prices have not climbed back anywhere near their post-war highs. Even the rampant metals are still well below their peaks in spite of the recent steady recovery.

"BACCHANALIAN" BACK?—Kitty Kallen, radio and night club singer from Philadelphia, shows off the other side of her feminine charms to give support to the assertion of Monte Proser, New York night club operator and theatrical producer, that her back is "woman's greatest asset."

Divorce Is Petitioned

A petition for divorce was filed in circuit court this afternoon by Alice Emma Bush through her attorney, Frank T. Armstrong, against Lee Wyette Bush, alleging general indignities.

According to the petition, the couple was married on August 14, 1931 and separated on June 5, 1948. She is asking the custody of a minor child.

There are now only about 100 Chinese in Limehouse, London's Chinatown, and only one of these is a known opium smoker.

Approximately one-half of the world's 9,000,000 miles of highways is in the United States.

Since Liberia is governed by American immigrants, the official language of the country is English.

Major Allcorn To Turkey Soon

Mrs. Ford E. Allcorn and son, Seth and daughter, Rebecca and Major Allcorn's mother, Mrs. H. E. Fiscus, of Fort Leavenworth, Kas., are visiting Mrs. Allcorn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rynard, 904 South Stewart avenue, for a few days while Major Allcorn is attending an amphibious demonstration being staged for the regular class of the Command and General Staff college at Ft. Leavenworth, off the California coast.

Major and Mrs. Allcorn, accompanied by their children and Mrs. Fiscus will sail from New York about July 15 for Ankara, Turkey, where Major Allcorn will be stationed the next two years as a member of the military mission to Turkey.

First Map to Show America at Auction

NEW YORK, May 9—(AP)—A world map—the first one that America ever got its name on—is to be sold at auction.

It's 443 years old, and its owner, Franz Joseph II, reigning prince of Liechtenstein, lays down one requirement for the sale:

Only bids exceeding $50,000 are acceptable.

The map, the only known copy of a world globular map printed in 1507, is believed the first to show the western hemisphere and to designate it "America."

The man who put America's name on the map was Martin Waldseemuller, a German mapmaker, who wrote that the new world should be called America because of the voyages into that area of Amerigo Vespucci.

The map, consisting of globular segments presumably designed to be cut out and shaped into a globe, was handed down to Prince Franz Joseph by his forbears.

Parke-Bernet Galleries announced the auction for May 24.

This Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Won A Case Against A&P

As almost everyone now knows, the anti-trust lawyers in Washington have brought a civil suit to destroy A&P. They ask the courts to order the dissolution of this company.

They say that this suit is based on the fact that they won a suit against us at Danville, Illinois, in 1946. They did. In that case, Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley made a decision against A&P.

Immediately thereafter, in a letter explaining his decision, Judge Lindley wrote:

"I have not condemned the A&P system. I have not made a finding which could be the basis for a suit of dissolution."

So, now we have the anti-trust lawyers saying that their suit to dissolve A&P is based on Judge Lindley's decision; while Judge Lindley himself says his decision could not be the basis for a suit of dissolution.

In previous ads we told you about the cases against A&P which the anti-trust lawyers lost. We promised to tell you about this case they won. Here is the story of the Danville case.

What Judge Lindley Objected To

At Danville, the anti-trust lawyers made all of the charges which they are again making against A&P today. They were substantially the same charges they had made and dropped at Dallas, Texas, after four federal judges had objected to some of them as "inflammatory."

In his decision, Judge Lindley was critical of some of our activities. He threw some of the charges out of court. He did not make any decision on others.

He even took occasion to praise A&P for the efficient job of food distribution it had done.

Judge Lindley said:

> "To buy, sell and distribute to a substantial portion of 130,000,000 people, one and three-quarter billion dollars worth of food annually at a profit of 1½ cents on each dollar, is an achievement one may well be proud of.
> "No place in the world I take it are people so well fed as in the United States. Nowhere else, I suppose, do food distributors accomplish efficient distribution at so low a margin of profit. In contrast, we are told in other nations the problem is not one of an adequate diet but one of no diet at all."

But Judge Lindley did find us in violation of the Sherman Act. He based his ruling on the dual role played by our fresh fruit and vegetable buying subsidiary, the Atlantic Commission Company, whereby that organization acted both as buying agent for A&P and as selling agent for growers.

Judge Lindley said:

> "If I assume for the purpose of disposition of this case that in general the policy of A&P was to operate within the law and attribute to defendants a desire to comply with the law, there still remains the conscious, knowing adoption by all defendants of a plan of action by the Atlantic Commission Company affecting every department of A&P and every retail store which cannot be squared with the intent and purpose of the act."

In his letter explaining the decision, Judge Lindley wrote: "I have condemned their practices through the Atlantic Commission Company."

Judge Lindley imposed fines totaling $175,000. When his decision was upheld by the Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago, we paid the fines. This ended the case—but we did not stop there.

What We Did To Correct This

In the light of the decision, we immediately set about reviewing our activities to be sure that there could never again be any criticism of our operations.

First, the Atlantic Commission Company abandoned the dual role to which Judge Lindley objected and which he said was the basis of his decision against us.

We did this even though the Atlantic Commission Company had been licensed for many years by the United States Department of Agriculture to act as both a buyer and seller of fresh fruits and vegetables.

The Atlantic Commission Company now only buys for A&P. In other words, we stopped doing the thing which Judge Lindley said put us in violation of the Sherman Act.

We made additional changes in other methods of operation which Judge Lindley had questioned at Danville, even though he did not base his decision on them.

We did even more than this!

We went down to Washington and asked the anti-trust lawyers what else they thought we should do to conform to their new interpretation of the vague anti-trust laws.

The only answer we ever got was that we should break up this company!

Despite their claim that they were not opposed to A&P's size, they insisted that we destroy this size.

Despite their claim that they were not opposed to our manufacturing operations, they insisted that we get rid of our factories which produce many of the fine foods you buy at A&P.

Despite their claim that they were not opposed to our low prices, they insisted that we destroy many of the efficiencies that make these low prices possible.

In other words, they insisted upon the dissolution of A&P.

We were still trying to find out from the anti-trust lawyers what else they thought we should do to conform to the law when they filed the current suit to destroy A&P.

Why, Then, Do They Want To Put A&P Out Of Business?

Ever since this suit was filed, the anti-trust lawyers have been making damaging statements that could seriously hurt our business if they were believed by the public.

They say that we were found guilty at Danville of all the charges they are making today.

This is not true. Judge Lindley did not sustain all of the charges of the anti-trust lawyers.

They say this suit is designed to enforce the law.

But A&P has clearly demonstrated its sincere desire to abide by the spirit, as well as the letter of the law.

They say they are seeking to "enjoin" A&P from engaging in certain "alleged" practices.

Actually, the whole purpose of this suit is not to "enjoin" us, but to put us out of business.

They say that this suit for dissolution is based on the decision handed down by Judge Lindley in Danville.

But Judge Lindley has said of his decision: "I have not made a finding which could be the basis for a suit of dissolution."

What, then, is the real reason why the anti-trust lawyers want to destroy this company, which for 90 years has pioneered the methods of distribution which have given the American people more good food for their money?

ARTISTS WITHOUT ARMS—Despite the handicap of no arms, these two painters in Deisenhofen, Germany, run a flourishing art publishing business and have become well-known painters. Bruno Schmitz-Hochburg, left, lost his arms in an accident 30 years ago. Arnulf Erich Stegmann, right, was paralyzed when he was two years old and never regained use of his arms. They employ several handicapped persons in their business.

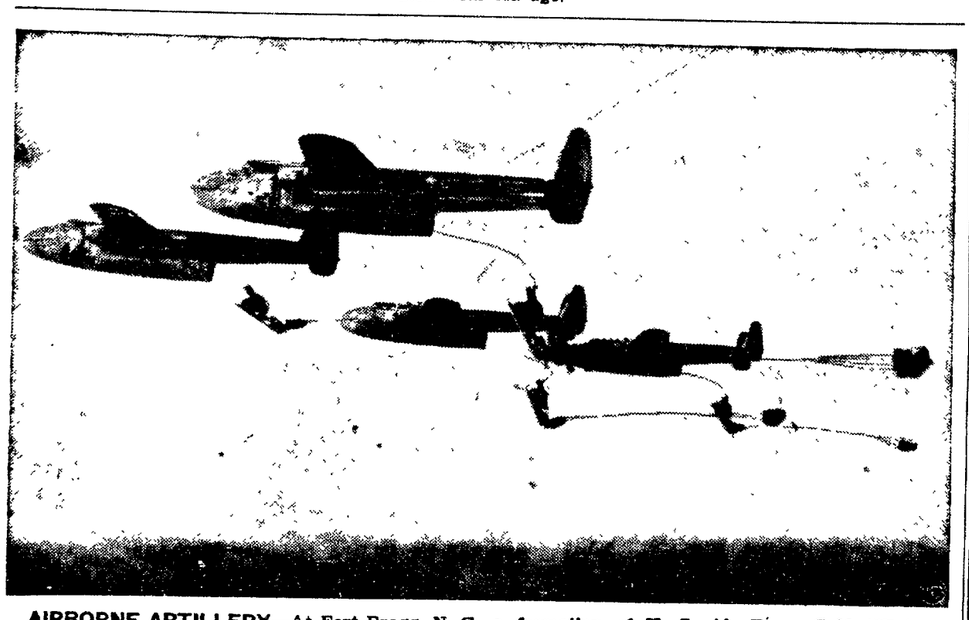
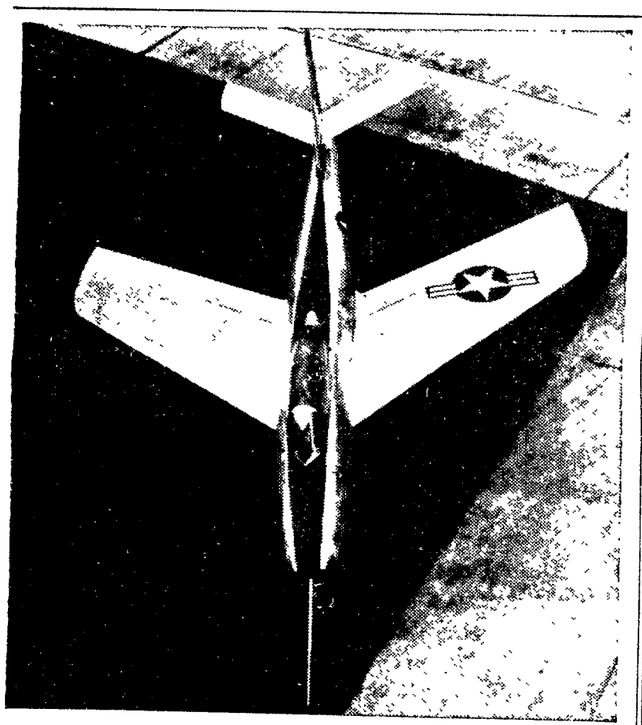
CAUSES OF DEATH—The Newschart above shows how diseases of the heart, blood and kidneys have grown as major causes of death—from 39% in the Twenties to 61% in 1949—while deaths from infectious and other diseases have declined. The development of "miracle drugs" to curb infectious diseases, and the fact that people live longer now, accounts for the rise of diseases associated with old age.



AIRBORNE ARTILLERY—At Fort Bragg, N. C., a formation of U. S. Air Force C-82 "Flying Boxcars" drops 105-mm. howitzers in a demonstration staged by men of the 82d Airborne Division. Seconds later the planes dropped the jeeps that pull the howitzers.



MORE PUNCH FOR AIR FORCE—Seen at Farmingdale, N. Y., is the YF-96A, new sweptback version of the F-84 Thunderjet. Designed to carry more fuel and more armament than its 600-plus-miles-per-hour predecessor, the new jet will be flight tested this month at Edwards Air Force Base, Muroc, Calif.

A JEEP IN THE DEEP—At Toledo, O., test driver O. D. Shock puts a new deep-water fording Jeep through its paces. The vehicle is one of a $3,000,000 order being built for the Navy. Driver Shock emerges dry after each dunking because he, like the cars, has been given special treatment for underwater motoring. He wears a full-length rubber suit and adds a rubber raincoat.

TRADE SALUTE—Dr. Emil Landolt, Mayor of Zurich, Switzerland, and master of one of city's trade guilds, raises his goblet in salute during a Spring festival guild parade.

Longer and faster passenger trains may be possible through use of new equipment designed to relieve some of the load on locomotives. This is accomplished by a Diesel-driven, under-car generating plant, which supplies auxiliary power to individual passenger cars.

Luminous ceilings, made of plastic through which glareless light comes, may be the lighting system of the future. Mounting many lamps behind a translucent plastic is the most completely adequate way of lighting a room.

A greatly improved process for welding aluminum utlizes a new pistol-shaped welding tool through which filler metal in wire form is fed at controllable rates of speed, while the welding electric current is carried through the filler wire, forming an arc between its end and the work.

Life with the Tax Gremlins: 10

Editor's Note: "Life With the Tax Gremlins" is a 12-part thumbnail story of the nation's complicated tax structure. The characters: Uncle Sam himself, his Gremlin, State and Local Tax Gremlins, and you—the taxpayers. It's from an "American Affairs" pamphlet published by the National Industrial Conference Board of New York, an independent, non-profit fact-finding institution supported by business, labor and other groups.

Tax Revision

That is the theme of the cartoon with this story.

Facing a deficit of $5,000,000,000 for the current fiscal year the President had to think of how to increase the take of the federal Gremlin. But both the sales tax goose and the income tax goose were already squawking murder, and to pluck them any deeper would be politically dangerous, with an election coming on.

The sales tax goose was the more noisy of the two. And with good reason, since the sales taxes imposed in wartime had never been reduced at all. In this dilemma, as a politician, what would you do?

The corporation tax goose is big and friendless, with no votes at all, and has a squawk absurdly weak for its size. Therefore, Uncle Sam is saying to his Gremlin: "Get more feathers there." And that is the thought that governs tax revision.

However, besides quieting the geese, what difference would it make in the end? A reduction in sales taxes and at the same time an increase of corporation taxes would grow no feathers if what the consumer had formerly paid as sales and excise taxes were added to the prices charged by the corporations. It would mean only more hidden taxes.
